CROSS-WORD PUZZLE CONTEST

CASH PRIZES

INFORMATION AND RULES

1. $750 in cash is to be given to those who solve the puzzle and write the best statement of not exceeding 100 words about Modern Woodmen of America. These prizes, seventy-five in all, are as follows:

First prize of $250; 2 prizes of $100 each; 2 prizes of $50 each; 10 prizes of $10 each; 10 prizes of $5 each; 50 prizes of $1 each.

2. The puzzle, which has purposely been made easy of solution, may be filled out by men, women, or children, whether members of the Society or not, and sent in to the Head Office at Rock Island without the statement concerning the Society. No cash prizes will be given for the puzzle alone, but an interesting illustrated booklet will be sent to all who solve the puzzle, provided the name and other information called for at the bottom of fourth page have been supplied.

3. The deleted words in the narrative must be filled in and the same words filled in in proper spaces in the design.

4. The statement about Modern Woodmen of America should not contain verbatim excerpts of phrases and sentences. Original language should be used.

5. Every shaded space in the design containing the words "Modern Woodmen of America" and the beetle, axe, and wedge is to be considered a break the same as the black spaces of the design.

6. An outstanding national committee of judges will be appointed. Their decision will be final. They will judge every effort by its correctness, neatness, originality, and worth. The contest closes November 10, 1934, for receipt of puzzle solutions, which must be received at the Head Office, Rock Island, Illinois, on or before that date.

7. Everybody, whether a member or not, may compete for the cash prizes, except those who are officially connected with the Society.

8. Every contestant for the cash prizes must accompany his statement with a completed solution of the puzzle and the narrative.
