43 A Late Medieval Maintenance Agreement

1972 Bacon exhibit

Even when it was no longer customary for a family to retain a particular land-holding over a long period of time, complex maintenance agreements for elderly people were worked out in the courts. Although their
A ings were sold outside the family, these elderly people were still ided for. In this example, John and Agnes Rede sold their mesuage half an acre of land to Roger of Braham who subsequently had to ill certain specific obligations: every Easter throughout their s, Roger was to provide the couple with 4 yards of woolen cloth h 8 d. per yard, or a money equivalent, also 2 pairs of shoes and a pair of linen clothes sufficient for their status. John and Agnes were also to have a room with a window in the back wall of the mesuage and a small outhouse in the garden with free entry and exit wherever and whenever it pleased them.

A Johannes Rede sursum reddit in manu domini dimidiam acram terre cum messuagio ad opus Rogeri de Braham tenendi sibi et heredibus suis per virgam ad voluntatem domini per servicium et opera etc. saluo jure etc. et dat domino de fine pro ingressu Et predicta sursumredditio liberata est sub hac conditione quod predictus Rogerus sustentabit predictos Johannem et Agnes uxorem eium in cibis et potibus sufficienter sicut seipm' ad totam vitam eorundem Johannis et Agnetis Et predictus Johannes habebit annuatim de predicto Rogero iiij virgas pannorum laneorum pretium virge viij d. ul pretium inde ad electionem predicti Johannis habebit etiam de eo ij pares calligarum et j par pannorum linearum sufficientes ad statuum suum annuatim ad totam vitam suam ad Festum Pascham et predicti Johannes et Agnes uxor eius habuerunt ad totam vitam suam unam cameram cum solario a retro bancum messuagio predicto et j parva camera in orto cum libero ingressu et egressu quotiens et quandocumque illis placier runt Et predictus Rogerus manutenabit et sustenabit predictam messuagium sufficienter in omnibus sumptibus propriis Et ulterius predictus Rogerus concedit pro se et heredibus suis quod si contingat ipsum aliquam convent' supradictarum infringere quod tunc bene liceat predictis Johannis et Agnetis uxori eius in predicto messuagio cum omnibus suis pertinenciis reintrare et in primo statu suo retinere present' sursumredditione non obstante Et predictus Rogerus fecit domino fidelitatem
