

Some of your writing of George Monro you shall do well to send to him, and to cause him as forth as he can, to come hither and if he bring any money with him besides that which he hath already delivered to the Clerk, you shall do well to receive it well accompanied with some of sundry witnesses committed by the Court. And so fare you well from my house this 28th day of September 1574

Yours father
J. Bates
