THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO LIBRARY

Good morning I have your friends to salute I sent by this my, all written letter, that you, my friend is amongst, my works worth, and my journey from worst of all. It seems it was not my good grace to meet of and Sir Robert at Redgrave, where so many years might I have I must interest of to enjoy of all faults that I shall find and only think I will to you at my good as an old friend, and God in his mercy and I and my friend with, for your sake. We sit best, ~~and~~ before I desire all good men to follow ~~the~~ I hope in your way of it I root in to forward or else know, my friend and I desire to be most greatly recommended to Sir Robert, where, and I shall see and I must end my letter for I am called always to bed, farewell read early, from Redgrave this present. Your friend,

Your ever loving and George Harvey
