

Noble E^r.

According to your worth. direction: I have bought a drama: and have sent it by the bearer thence: this work: it is in a boxell case: and locked: with a padlock: I bought it of one of the drummers of our Artillery garrison: it shall be with it drama for mine & dear to my knowledge: and is often used to be so good a drama as any is in all England: there is a small Oration in the same: next to the main: but I do not warrant: that it shall never goe any further: for it shall live so: over time it was made: I desired him to take out one of the leaves: that I might look in to the same: and I found: it to be very good: if I had not seen some great in trust in him: I would not have bought it of him for my money: I have sent the key of the locke to your worth: if you want any: other service: to command me at any other time: or now: I shall be ready to do as you command: I go with my service to your worth: remb.
I am to the protection: of the most joyful: and best

London: this
14. August:
1628
Your worth. to Command to Sir Thomas: Graham Vell

It is sextinly thought: (and also reported) that we shall have good will from: and I think will be good for us in the time:

for a drama and plinckes	2 10 0 for a case & padlock	0 08 0 for a paper	0 00 6
	2 18 6