

ST PAUL'S SCHOOL,
WEST KENSINGTON,
W.

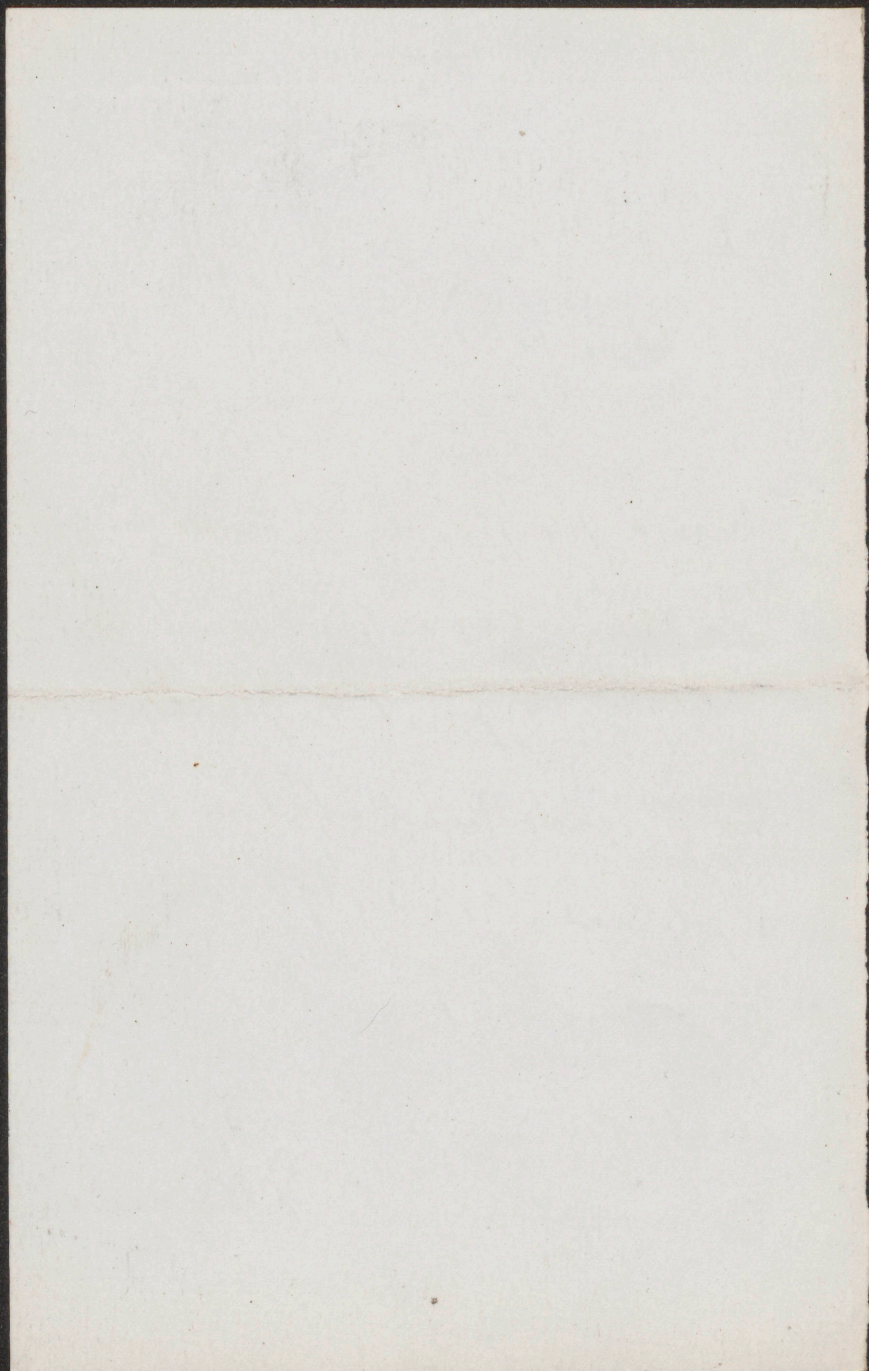

Dec. 27th 1890

Dear Mr. Bannister

I cannot accept your Kind proposal. I have not the time & energy even to complete a philological paper tho' I have had all the materials ready for the last 6 months.

Wishing you & your family the compliments of the season I am, Truly yours
Walter

Frederic W. Walker

W

7/1883

Fenton's Hotel

St James' St

London W. 21 Dec

Dear Sir,

I am sorry I cannot undertake the article you suggest partly because I have not been in Russia for the last five years and partly because I have not time at present for work of the kind.
Mr. Lumsden has I believe devoted considerable attention to the history of Russian literature and has published a series of studies on the subject in Fraser's magazine but I am not competent to speak of his capabilities for the task because I have never seen him and have never read anything he has written.

Later in the autumn I intend returning to Constantinople and perhaps in the course of the winter I may have one or two articles on Turkish subjects. If you desire anything of the sort it might be well that we should hear a tooth in the subject - In all probability I shall be in London till the end of Aug.

Truly yrs

Bunting Dr Mackenzie Wallace

19 The Hayne, Worthing

26 March 1891.

Dear Mr Ranting,

I am much obliged by your letter informing me that you have decided to publish, Dromedaries!

article. On the whole, I am not sorry, and I am glad to know the opinion you are kind enough to express respecting the position of Kings College in the matter.

Believe me

Yours truly

Henry Wace.

Race Point Bunting, N.Y.

Charlottenburg near Berlin
Sept. the 12th 1880.

My Dear Sir!

I write a very long time you did not hear from the author of the: 'English military power' and the 'Franco-German frontier' (Contemporary Review April 1883 and July 1887).

Today I ask you if you will publish in your Journal: 'The strategic route from England to India via Suez' and 'the strategic route from England to India via Canada.'

These two articles each of them not filling one sheet of the Contemporary are accepted from the "Druckers-Mündhorn". The first article will be published in this Journal December next. Dr. Julius Rodenberg, the well known editor of it has consented, that the Contemporary Reviews of January 1891, can publish the article which is of highest actual interest for the English. if you will have it I shall send you the corrected sheet in the last days of November. The other article comes out in the first semester 1891. The first article brings the military aspect and worth of Gibraltar, Malta, Cyprus, Suez, Persia, Aden Bombay, In the other article you find Halifax, Quebec, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Victoria, Esquimaux, Hong-Kong, Singapore, Ceylon etc.

I beg you to answer me very soon and to make me your offer for the article. I remain faithfully yours O. Wachs
Major

Deutschland. — Allemagne.

Postkarte. — Carte postale.

Westpostverein. — Union postale universelle.

Nur für die Adresse.
Côté réservé à l'adresse.

Percy William Brantlin
Editor of the Contemporary Review
11. Old Square
Lincoln's Inn B.C.
London

Charlottenburg near Berlin.

My Dear Sir!

I have just finished an article for the Universum (great journal in Dresden) "The importance of Egypt, especially in military consideration". The article can be published the first of September 87. Please answer immediately if you will have it. The article does not fill one sheet, perhaps 14 or 15 pages.

I expect the July Contemporary Review and 25 separate prints of my article (the Frankfurter etc.) for sending to my friends. Believe me very truly

Yours &

Wm. E.

Charlottenburg near Berlin
3. XI, 41

Dear Liz!

As soon as I got your last lines I have thought you the matter that interests you and conferred with friends of great influence here and by correspondence with Mr. Riem. too. Although Mr. Ciespi has given his opinion in the press on the political constellation sometimes - there is not to draw any parallel between him and Mr. R. The last will most likely at the present moment not give his opinion on the political situation and the peace of Europe. He has to do other things now, for he studies earnestly the Seriff - unwar that Germany is going to settle with Austria and I need not tell you that as patriot he must be an enemy of all things that shall help only the industry and destroy the agriculture. It will interest ^{it to learn of you} you that the prince has not told (as one said) he would not go to the German Reichstag.

I am glad to learn by your lines that you have interest in the opinion of Mr. R. about state affairs. I will keep that in mind in the future for I have high connections every where in Germany and near him.

Would you like to get for the Contemporary Review one or some of the following articles:

- 1, Bizerta, 2, The importance of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles, 3, the maritime-strategical base of the Russians on the Black Sea, 4, The military importance of Egypt and the Red Sea, 5, The strategical importance of Crete, Rhodes,

- 6, The strategical importance of Morocco (strait of Gibraltar), 7, The strategical importance of the Japanese Sea. Or would you prefer to get sometimes a political sketch (as before by Mr. Leffker)?

If you wish that I become correspondent of the 'Contemporary Review' ~~please~~ let me know, what honors you can give me.

I write now for the great American papers too.

Believe me Truly

Yours
O. Reiss

Deutschland

Postkarte — Weltpostverein

Carte postale — Union postale universelle

Nur für die Adresse

Prof. Wm. Bunting, Esq.
Editor of Contemporaries Review

11. Old Square
Lincoln's Inn
London W.C.

Charlottenburg near Berlin 30. XI. 91

Dear Sir!

You will get the wished for article, The strategical importance of Egypt and the Red Sea early enough to bring it in the Contemporary Review February 1892.

Believe me yours very truly

O. Weizsäcker.

Charlottenburg near Berlin
Jan. 4th 1842.

Dear Sir:

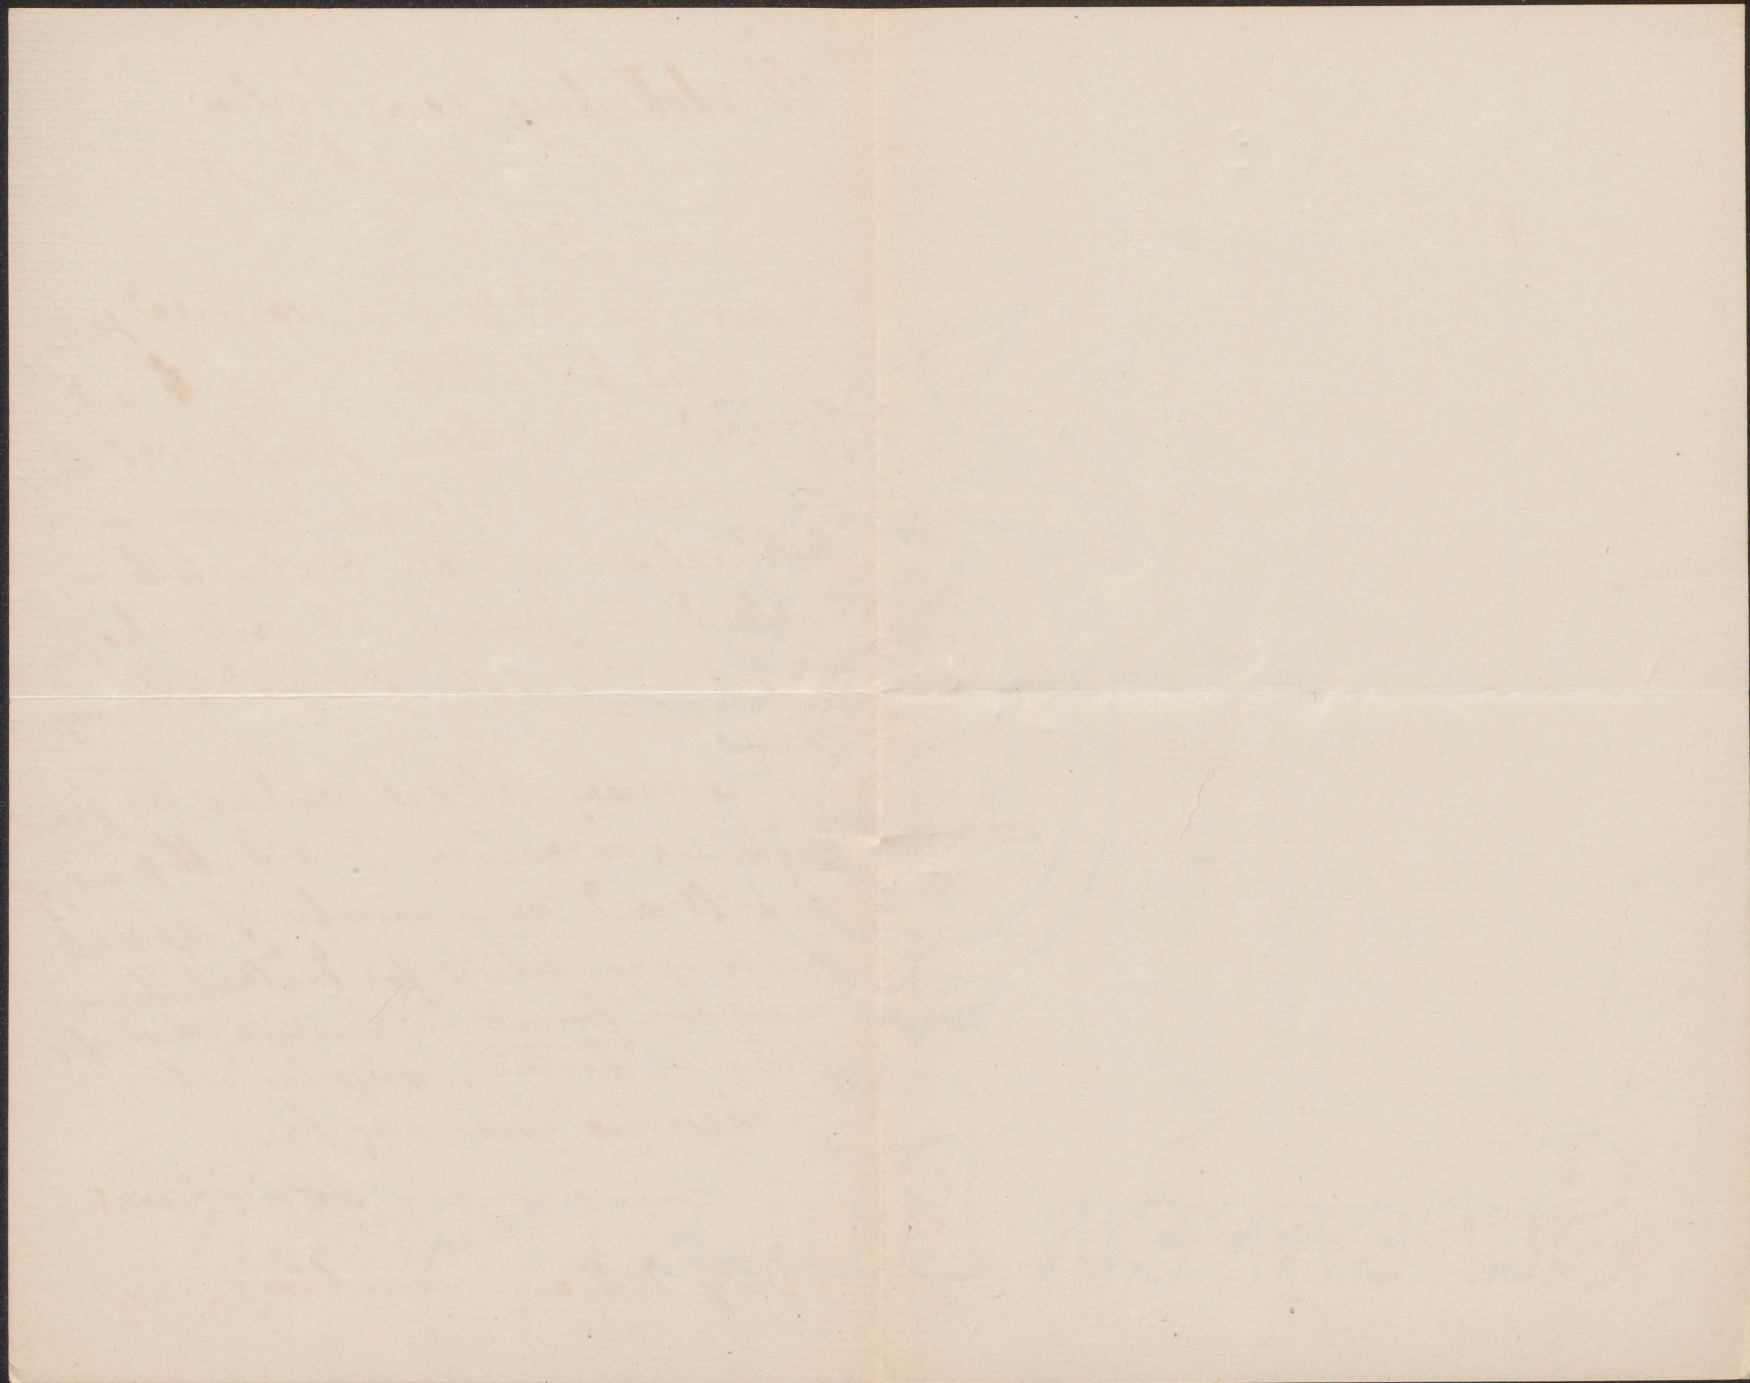

I sent Dec. 26th 41 in a registered package the wished for article: "Egypt and the Red Sea in their strategical and political relations". As I am known in political and military circles both in England and Germany (I write also for American journals) I signed with my name.

If necessary please send me the proof sheets for correction. You will oblige me, if you will send me a number of separate prints of my article for distribution among my friends in America, Australia, Germany, Russia, Switzerland etc.

Believe me yours very truly

Otto Waiker

Perry William Printing. Esq.

AMBASSADE DE FRANCE, A LONDRES.

March 11. 1893

Dear Sir,

I fear I cannot comply with your request for an article in the Contemporary Review. It is quite contrary to the rules of our service to write, while serving as ambassador, in a foreign or indeed in a French review. For obvious reasons, it would be quite impossible for me at present to express publicly opinions on French or English Affairs. In future years, when I shall no longer be in active politics, it may be otherwise. Believe me, with many thanks for your proposal,

Yours truly
Haddonington

Library

INDIA OFFICE,

WHITEHALL, S.W.

Nov 24 1890

Sir I have taken the liberty of forwarding for your consideration a MS article by Professor Neuter of Helmsingborg on the Romanising of Finland, Dr Neuter forwarded it to us that it might be published if possible after one correction where needed. It is one of our leading Magazine; and after careful consideration it has been decided to submit it to you. The method of treatment is indeed somewhat hazy and after the manner of a legal treatise.

The nature of the subject put at present is however obvious.
and the learned Fialander can not deny that

The readers and thinkers of England should hear their kind. If you approve it. I am quite ready to give any needed alterations or triches to it & correct the proofs. I am fully empowered to deal with it only as will be apparent to yourself the name of the author must not appear as it comes compromise his position in the eyes of the Russian authorities. Had apologies for 'standing up'. I am

Yours sincerely
Wm. pro Wade
Asst Librarian

W
Private

5, SALISBURY VILLAS,
CAMBRIDGE.

4th Feb. 7 1889

Dear Sir,

I am aware that, except as by special indulgence, an appeal such as I am about to make to you is rarely entertained by the Editor of a Review. I shall ask you to peruse the inclosed slips of copy, and if it be not altogether against against your rules, to add the matter, as a postscript, to the next number you issue.

Although the imputation of unfairness to Lord Elgin which my letter to you is designed to combat, is not directly ascribed to me, I cannot avoid feeling uncomfortable at the thought that unfairness will hardly fail to be imputed to his Lordship, - who has chargeable with only with no unfairness but no harshness in the case, - and that the Charge ^{with} ~~should~~ be based upon a story told by me.

After many apologies for the trouble I am giving you I am
Dear Sir,

Faithfully yours
The Editor of the Contemporary Review.
W. Adk.

5, SALISBURY VILLAS,
CAMBRIDGE.

14th Feb 1888

My dear Sir,

I am greatly obliged by your attention to my appeal to you. The note which you suggest, with one or two trifling changes, which do not swell its volume, will suffice, I cannot doubt, to remove the chance of misapprehension against which which I was anxious to guard.

I trust that I shall not appear to you unreasonably sensitive, but, the whole of the circumstances antecedent considered, it does seem to me fairer to the person disappointed, - who that was I leave you to judge, - to say that he "might have had reason to think that he had" a claim to the position assigned to Lawrence Oliphant, and I have taken the liberty of altering your text accordingly. Mr D. Bruce did not get his D.C.B. till 1862.

I return your M.S. and am with renewed
acknowledgments,

Very truly yours
J. Wade.

Cambridge
24th Oct 1894

Dear Mr Bunting,
I have just telegraphed to you "Certainly accept editor's correction never intended reflection on compiler" I hasten to accentuate the latter clause of my message. As I observed to you, to your sub-editor, and to Mr Spender himself, I had been truly amazed to see that he had extracted from such a discursive out.

outpouring as I had inflicted on him, - on a subject ^{too}, with which he was avowedly unfamiliar.
It is assuredly not with his share of the work that I am dissatisfied; but my own, as I remarked to the Sub-Editor, does appear to be, the more I look at it, a most deceivable performance, and I should have been much relieved had you seen some way to its entire suppression. The skirmish with the Question, for it is thus that I regard the note of our interview, - has beyond doubt fitted me for a closer engagement with it, and in the course of November I could have prepared an article of which I hope I should have had a better opinion than of the paper now about to appear. However, the public may may endorse some more favorable estimate of its merits, and except a chosen few whom circumstances commit to a more continuous consideration of the struggle, will as likely as not have forgotten all cumulats of the daily or monthly reviewer alike.

Many apologies for so long a letter. Believe me

Truly yours

Wade

P. Brunting Esq

4. RUTLAND SQUARE, E.

DUBLIN.

21st July 1888

Dear Sir

If you could find space for it, I should wish to send you for the September number of the Contemporary Review an article of 12 or 14 pages on the Statistics of the Irish Land Commission.

The main object of the article would be twofold: (a) to state fully, as I consider it has never yet been stated, the result of the working of the Land Act of 1881 as shown by the decisions of the tribunals constituted under that Act; and (b) to suggest the outline of a simple measure that might be passed in the autumn session, with a view of bringing Ireland through the coming winter as tranquilly as may be.

As regards the statement of the results of the decisions in the Courts, I should be slightly, but I hope not unpleasantly, controversial.

The article in the June number, written in reply to Mr Davitt, contains several very bad blunders.

If the project is feasible I could write the article within the next week or ten days, and let you have it, at latest, on Monday the 6th of August.

I am, Dear Sir,

Faithfully yours,
+ William J Walsh
Archbishop of Dublin.

w

4, RUTLAND SQUARE, E

DUBLIN.

15th May, 1889

Dear Mr Bunting.

I am afraid I may have embarrassed you in what I have done.

The work has grown under my hands, so that I am afraid the article will be not far short of 20 pages.

The line I have taken is to mention my recent advocacy of the principle of arbitration, then to refer to the mischief done by so many newspapers in parading this as an indication that the tenants are beaten and that I am simply trying to help them out of a difficulty.

The answer to this is to set forth, step by step, the various proposals made for the adoption of conciliatory and amicable methods, time after time for the last two years

This, you will see, makes a strong case, not only as bearing upon the particular point, but also as showing up the general incapacity and unreasonableness of the attitude persistently maintained by the landlord party here.

I have strong testimony from their own leading organ denouncing them two years ago for not responding to my pacific overtures.

Then comes the history of the movement on one particular case, that of the "Coolgreany" estate which is in this diocese, and which, as it happens, is the next on the list for the "Plantation" scheme of the new landlord organisation.

I am confident that the statement of the reasonable proposals made last year by me to the landlord, and summarily rejected by him, will have a powerful effect in checking this most mischievous scheme.

Fortunately too, my proposals (which were rejected) went altogether on the line of following the decisions of the Land

May 19, 1889

4, RUTLAND SQUARE

DUBLIN.

Commission Courts. This will direct very special attention to the case, as Mr T. W. Russell's main contention is that the tendency of the arbitration proposals is to discredit the Courts.

I feel so strongly the importance of the case now that I have written it out, that I will ask

3. BRADY SQUARE

DUBLIN

you to make shift by any possible means to publish it.

If there be no other way of arranging it, and that the publishers would object on the score of expense to the printing of the extra ten pages, I shall take it as a great favour if you allow me personally to bear the cost of that.

But I dare say you can arrange it somehow.

As I have an unfortunate habit of using the proof as a sort of rough copy, I have sent all to my printers here. I shall revise the proof carefully to-morrow (Monday) so that you will have a clean printed copy on ~~Mon~~ Tuesday morning.

I shall send it to Endsleigh gardens if I do not hear to the contrary. If I am to send it to 56 Ludgate Hill, kindly let me know by wire to-morrow. I think the address is "Mr Nicol, (Messrs Asbeston),

56 Ludgate Hill, London."

I remain,
Dear Mr Bunting -
most faithfully yours
+ William J Walsh
Archbishop of Dublin

P.S. The title will be — Arbitration or the Battering-Ram?
By the Most Rev. W. Walsh, Archbishop of Dublin.

25 Grosvenor Place, S.W.
July 3rd, 1908

Dear Sir Percy Bunting,

I would gladly write you something about the Vacation School and Play Centre movement in America in respect of which I have a good deal of interesting information. But at present I am so hard-worked that I see no chance of it. By the end of next week, however, I shall know better whether I can allow myself to do it, and will then let you know.

In England the movement has been making rapid progress, and the extension of it over London is simply a question of funds. In the first ¹⁴~~twelve~~ weeks of 1907 the attendances at 10 Centres were 134,522, and at the same Centres during the corresponding weeks of this year they were 192,171.

Of course we want funds, and at present we cannot get the County Council to help us at all ! They have promised free care-taking and cleaning, which means about £20 per Centre per annum, but it is now hung up in Finance Committee, and at present we are still liable for this charge. Yet Boston, Massachusetts, has just determined by a strong vote to spend £10,000 a year on its organised i.e. supervised playgrounds, and I now hear from New York that in addition to the fine Evening Play Centres for boys and girls who have left school, which go on from 8p.m. to 10 p.m., they are determined next winter to have them for school children from 5.30 to 7.30, and when they have once be-

22 October 1952
JFK 321, 1952

Dear Sir:

I would like to see you sometime in the office and let you know how the office is getting on. I have a lot of information to give you and I hope you will be able to help me. I will let you know when I can come in.

I am sure you will be able to help me. I will let you know when I can come in. I am sure you will be able to help me. I will let you know when I can come in.

I am sure you will be able to help me. I will let you know when I can come in. I am sure you will be able to help me. I will let you know when I can come in.

I am sure you will be able to help me. I will let you know when I can come in. I am sure you will be able to help me. I will let you know when I can come in.

I am sure you will be able to help me. I will let you know when I can come in. I am sure you will be able to help me. I will let you know when I can come in.

gun, they will do it properly.

In writing for the Contemporary I should have to consider how it might interfere with my periodical appeals through the Times for funds. The Times has always been very kind to me in these ways, and its appeals are indispensable to us. But there is of course material enough for the two things, if one were to sort it out.

With many congratulations to you and Lady Bunting on your knighthood,

Believe me,

yours sincerely

Mary A. Ward.

Feb 23/93.

Dear Mr. Bunting

I return the article with many thanks for your kindness in reconsidering it. — My father's style is a plain & simple one, but I venture to think that in this case the simplicity of the treatment makes the story tell the more. Look at the curious account of the abbot's final Confirmation on the field of Running made after the struggle with the Knigs, & of the analysis of John's motives with which the paper ends.

My father has been a devoted and most unworldly student all his life, with little public recognition of any kind. It would be a real pleasure both to him & me were this little bit of work in a public place.

Why don't you get D. Martineau to write you a few pages on Harnack's pamphlet on The Apostles Creed?

Yours sincerely

Mary A. Ward

25, GROSVENOR PLACE, S.W.

Feb 19. 1893.

Dear Mr. Bunting

The material of my father's article is quite new. The track in question was only printed last month for the first time, & Mr.
Maxwell Lyte would not let my father print anything about it till the appearance of the Rolls volume, as he thought it must be so interesting to his cousin & did not want to have it pre-arranged.

It is indeed quite original work.

Will you not reconsider the matter?

There are one or two things I should like to write for you when I am free.
But the new book which is now ready must be finished first I am afraid.

I have only arm - and hand - power for one thing at once.

Yours very truly
Mary B. Ward

March 22/95.

STOCKS,
TRING.

Dear Mr Bunting

I really cannot for the present make up my huddled mind about the Copyright bill at all, & I think it will be best not to write about it ^{bill I have}. I am beginning to be shaky about its possible effects upon the American Act, & that ~~it~~ is our strongest point.
The rest is a grievance no doubt, but not I think a very senous one.

However, as I said. I am puzzled, & will wait a bit. May thank however for giving me the opportunity of speech.

Yours very truly

Wm. A. Ward

March 11. /95.

STOCKS,
TRING.

Dear Mr. Bunting

I really do not think I could fill two or three pages about the Canadian Copyright question, though I feel strongly! The arguments really lie in a nutshell.

I have been doing what I can behind the scenes, & must I think leave it alone for the present. And if I write again anything it must I think be in the form of a letter to the Times.

But many thanks to you for your kind proposal at the same.

Yours very truly
Mary A. Ward

June 4 1893

Stocks
Tring.

Dear Mr. Bunting

Your cheque for the "King John" paper has just reached me here, and I have sent it on to my father. Meanwhile many thanks — I am so glad you have liked the ^{article} ~~review~~.

Next year, if I live and thrive, will you have a review from me of Weizsäcker's Apostolische Zeitschriften? It is put being translated - in consequence I think of a very strong memorial presented to the Hibbert Trustees, by various Oxford & Scotch professors - & should be ready next year.

I think I could make you an interesting paper on it some day, all very well.

Yours very truly

Wm A. Ward

HAMPDEN HOUSE,
GREAT MISSENDEN,
BUCKS.

Apr 28.

1889

My dear Sir

Mrs Ward

asks me to answer your kind note to her.

She is very sorry that she cannot do what you ask, but she has absolutely given up writing for periodicals for the present, as she is engaged upon a new work. Which takes all her time & power.

Believe me

Yours truly

Humphrey Ward

P. Bunting by