My dear Sir

I should be very happy to attempt the article on the Soc. (67) Comm. - for the Nov. No. of Contemporary Review.

Write for yourself let me know by what date you will require it

My dear Sir

I have your letter of the 11th inst.

and am glad to hear that you are so well.

I am, Sir, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

Dear Mrs Sheldon Amos.

I am very much obliged to you for your kind thought of me; but I should not like to write anything about Her Majesty, for what she has told me, I think we must assume, was not intended for publication.

Many thanks to you, I am

Yours sincerely

Dear Mr. Hunting

I am very much obliged for the copy of the Contemporary Review: I shall read the article you refer to with very great interest.

I cannot whilst holding my present position write for publication, but if you want a really able article

HORSE GUARDS

WAR OFFICE S.W.

upon any Military subject I would recommend your asking Colonel Henry Brockembury C. B. to do it. He has been my military Secretary & held other posts about me and I can vouch for his great ability.
He has written much for the press at various times.

If he could not do it, there is another officer, Lt Colonel

J. Maurice, R. Artillery, now employed in the Intelligence Dept. of the War Office whom I could strongly recommend to you as a scientific soldier and who writes well.

^{Henry} Colonel Brockembury's address is "The Junior Kent Service Club, Charles St. St James Square" He belongs also to the R. Artillery.
Thanking you very much for your letter I remain faithfully Yours

Dear Mr. Bunting

Your kind letter contains a very tempting offer, which perhaps is all the more tempting because I cannot at present avail myself of your invitation. I am imposed at present to be enjoying some leave, but I leave my official work to do all the same, except that I do most of it here instead of in Pall Mall. I had looked forward to a month at my column upon Marlborough, but I find I can more than can do. I can sometimes scribble off an article as I sit at our lounge for the fortnight in a railway carriage, but if I leave anything requiring thoughtful study to do, I must leave quiet and rest from interruptions.

However I shall not forget your flattering request whenever I have any real leisure at my disposal.

Believe me to be with many thanks

very truly yours

Wm. H. H. H.

Dear Mr. Hunting

I thought the best man who could from his position write such an anonymous article as you require was Colonel C. B. Broadbent Royal Artillery - I therefore waited to answer your note until I had seen him, and talked the matter over with him.

He is a good powerful writer, thoroughly imbued with modern views on all Army matters, and a hater of the present extricated system that kills the spirit of professional soldiers and prevents our Army being worthy of the nation by which it is paid. He will write you an article which I am sure will be worthy of your magazine.

Perhaps you would write to him on the subject: his address is:
Colonel C. B. Brackenbury
1st Artillery
Dover.

Very truly yours
W. H. H. H.

Dear Mr. Bunting

Very many thanks for your kind letter of the 5th instant which has followed me here - I should under ordinary circumstances have liked very much to have written the article you refer to, but I want rest & quiet - I came here to seek it, but although only here for the last week, I had intended to go to London twice on official business - Thanks evening, Parliament will be up next Thursday, so I hope all the Ministers will fly off for a holiday, leaving men like myself to enjoy mine. I remain here until the beginning of October, when I return to work as Adj. General again.

Very truly yours
H. Stanley

Dear Mr. Bunting

The Gentleman whose card I enclose would be the very best man I know to write on the Indian frontier question.

During Lord Northbrook's Viceroyalty he was a frontier agent for some years & since then he has filled various high political positions in India -

I have not seen him since he returned from India but he left his card on me a few days ago and I now send it on to you. He writes well & clearly, and his name on the frontier question would carry weight.

Royal Artillery
Colonel Henry Brasenbury C.B.
(now at home) having been a military attache I know followed European politics very closely; he writes forcibly, quite as well as his brother and is in my opinion the cleverer of the two - His address is "Junior United Service Club. Piccadilly St. James"

St Colonel F. Maurice, R. Artillery whose address is, Intelligence Department, War Office, Pall Mall could do the Volunteer subject well, but I doubt his being able to put his name to any article - However you could ask him, for I don't see why he should not be allowed to do so.

I wish I could leave you a longer list of names, but I hope those I have noted may answer your purpose.

Sincerely yours
W. H. W.

Dear Sir

I beg to thank you for your kind reply to my letter. The day after I wrote, Professor Knight, who had read ^{my lecture} ~~it~~, suggested to our Students that they sh^d. request me to deliver it as an "Address" to them.
This they did; the lecture was delivered to day, The Principal of our United College (S. Donaldson) in the Chair. It was remarkably well received both by Students Professors, & by the miscellaneous audience of gentlemen & ladies present.

The pencilled brackets in the MS. (which I am sending by Parcel Post at the same time as this letter) ^{indicate} ~~represent~~ the portions omitted in delivery in order to bring the address as nearly as I could within the hour. If the article is accepted, you will judge whether or no it may ^{be} necessary to exercise something of the same kind of curtailment for your 'Review'. But I should be glad, if you do not object, to have the whole set up in steps in order to form a better opinion respecting the omitted portion there are to be.

Be so good as to acknowledge The receipt of the M^t. I have no other complete copy.

Yours faithfully

Feb. 5 183

My Dear Sir

When I tell you that I am now in my 77th year, and that, in addition to my ordinary official duties, I have recently taken in hand to publish a new (revised) edition of Shakespeare, of which only the first two Volumes are yet printed, you will not wonders that I shrink from acceding to the proposal, which you have been so good as to make to me.

Indeed, under any circumstances, I doubt whether I am quite the proper person to do what you require.

It is true that, for many years, I have thought & written much upon the higher matters which underlie the question of Disestablishment; but recently I have not much cared to follow the arguments & tactics of the disputants; & from that point of view, the subject, I confess, is extremely distasteful to me.

I conclude that you would wish the article to appear before Mr. Dick Peddie's motion comes on for discussion; but could it not be better to wait till after the meetings of the next general Assemblies?

I am
Yours faithfully
C. Woodward
Wm. off. Andrews.
