PREFACE

The Exhibit Committee of the Czechoslovak Group (Czechs and Slovaks) International Exposition, Chicago, 1933, takes pleasure in dedicating the following compilations to those Americans of Czechoslovak birth or descent, whose foresight and ability to create healthy nuclei of the numerous lodges, clubs and associations were the principal reasons for the universal recognition of the efficiency with which the Czechoslovak immigration organized its cultural interests. May the reasons for this concentration have been religion, charity, professional endeavor, finance or unspoiled fun — it required work and persuasive dealings to lay the foundations to even limited organizations. Nevertheless, this usually forgotten amount of work must be construed as an unmistakable index of definite psychological needs of the individual. As such, it must be rated as a desirable factor in the cultural progress of humanity . . . .

The strongest appeal for acknowledgment, which the present Index of Czechoslovak Societies in the United States can make, arises from the fact, that it reflects the specific tendencies of Czechoslovak immigration on the fertile soil of American life. However, since this representation was intended to approach the very actual conditions, every effort was made to gather the most exhaustive data on the subject. With this in mind, some 6000 questionnaires were addressed by the Committee to the known or surmised organizations. In addition, requests for similar information were published in most of Czechoslovak periodicals in the United States. The valuable cooperation of the press by printing this request free of charge is herewith gratefully acknowledged.

From the above it will readily be realized that all possible channels of securing information pertaining to Czechoslovak societies, lodges and associations have been utilized. The Committee must agree, however, that — irrespective of the attempt to cover this field as thoroughly as possible—there may be numerous omissions. This seemed to be unavoidable especially in view of the limited time set for the accumulation of the required data.

Even in spite of these anticipated inadequacies, the members of the Committee feel, that this little volume will b of some assistance to the many officers or members of the various organizations as well as to all those, who are interested in the organized trends of Czechoslovaks in the United States.

INTRODUCTION

The compilation of the index is based on secured information or direct replies to the following questions:

- a) Name of association, lodge or club?
- b) Number of lodge (if any)?
- c) Address?
- d) Name of president or chairman?
- e) Name of secretary?
- f) Purpose of organization?
- g) Number of members (not for publication)?
- h) Signature of one executive officer?

Many societies, lodges and clubs contributed financially towards the cost of compilation and printing, which support alone made it possible to issue this modest edition. As a public acknowledgment of their co-operation with the Committee their names have been recorded in heavier type and the two leading officers included.

It will also be noted, that names of the various organizations are given in English, Slovak or Czech, i. e., according to the statutory language of the respective body. All names are grouped alphabetically and by official names of the organization.

All addresses given in the index refer generally to those of the secretaries or equivalent officers. In some instances, however, the address of permanent headquarters, office or similar meeting places were substituted for those of elective officers.

With these few remarks in mind, it is assumed, that the bibliographical arrangement of the index is self-explanatory.
