

ENCHANTED ISLAND. 1934

Attractions operated by A Century of Progress:

1. Children's Theatre
2. Magic Mountain
3. Giant Umbrella
4. Restricted Playground
5. Hedge Maze
6. Playhouses
7. Offices and administrative quarters
8. Merry-go-round
9. Unrestricted playground
10. Picnic Terraces & Lounge
11. Drive-Yourself-Autos
12. Pony Cart Ride
13. Auto Ride
14. Motor Boat Ride
15. Ferris Wheel
16. Fountain Cascades & Garden
17. Art Gallery

A ttractions operated by individual concessionaires:

20. Adventure Land
21. Toy Town Tavern
22. Buck Rogers Theatre
23. Refreshments
24. Pony Ring
25. A uto Race
26. Lindy Loop
27. Donkey Pack Train
28. Hey Dey Ride
29. Punch & Judy Show
30. Refreshments
31. Round The World Flyers
32. Giant coaster
33. Marble House
34. Miniature Railroad
35. Drive-Yourself-Boats
36. Stuffed Animal Exhibit
37. Clothing Stand
38. Doll Stand
39. Book Stand
40. Artists
41. Auto Skooter

The Oasis--A Mediterranean Village of Relaxation for Visitors to Chicago's New World's Fair. Sightseers may relax in the cool shade of a date palm, fill up on mint-flavored tea and "cous-cous", while watching native dances or the drills of the French foreign legion in this representation of North Africa, to be built on the Fair's street of foreign villages.

(1-2000)
(2-2000)

Streets of Shanghai Newest of 1934 Fair Villages. This is an artists conception of the reproduction of a section of the famed Chinese port, which is to be built on the New Century of Progress Midway on Northerly Island. Buildings will be gay and colorful and inhabitants will carry out the Far East atmosphere in their costume and activities.

(4-3750)

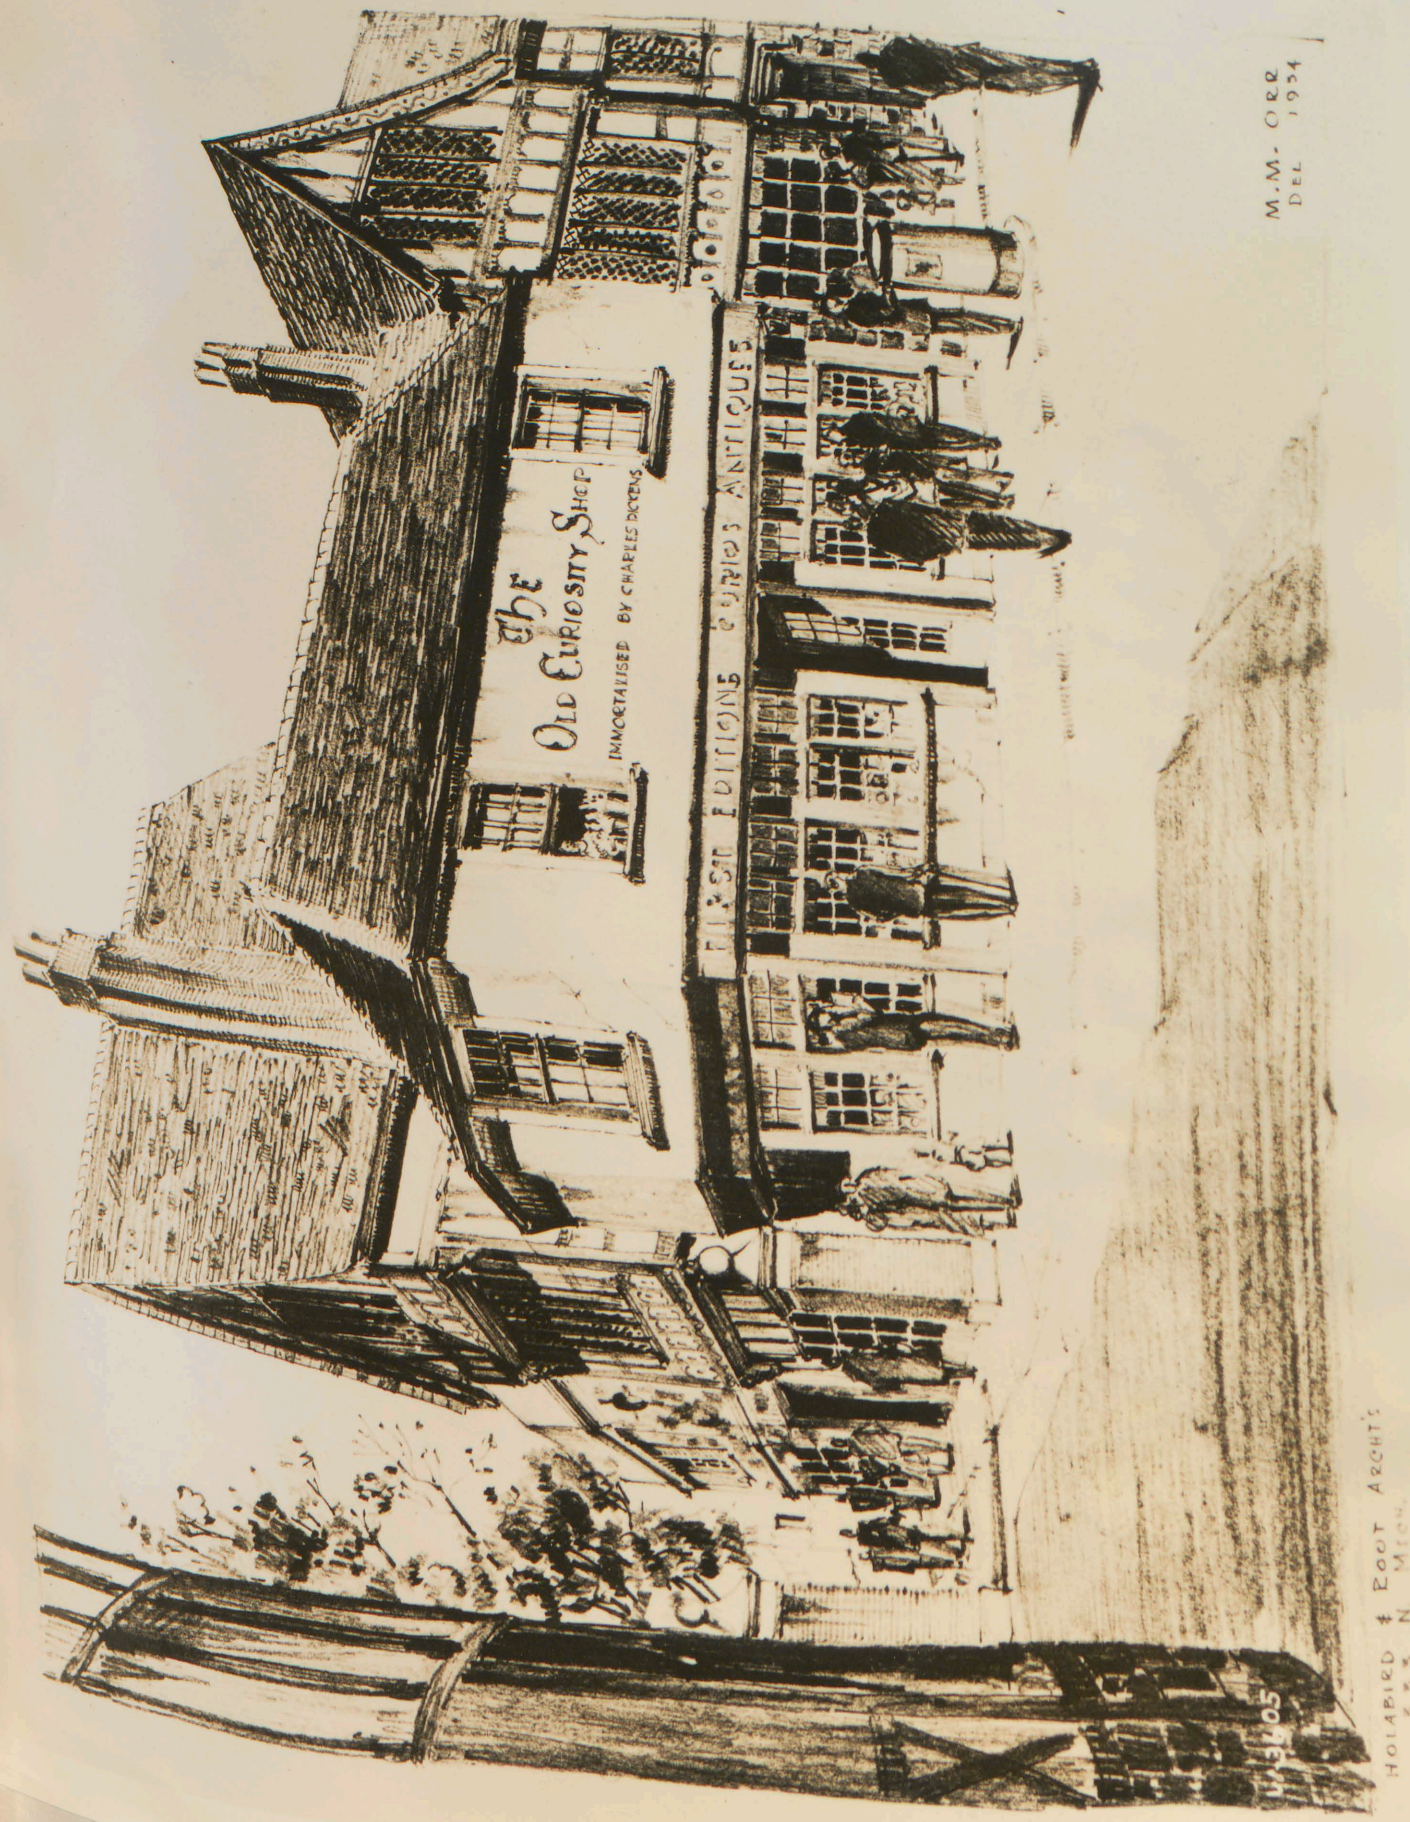

KAUFMANN - FABRY
OFFICIAL PHOTOGRAPHERS

A CENTURY OF PROGRESS
1933 CHICAGO 1934

Left to right: Mr. Otto K. Eitel, General Manager of Stevens Hotel Company turning over to Martin Tveter Comptroller of the World's Fair, his check for 70,000 souvenir 1934 World's Fair tickets.
Mr. Tveter delivering the tickets to Mr. Eitel.

.....

Charles Dickens' immortal Old Curiosity Shop is one of scores of quaint buildings famed in English literature and history which are being built again in the Old English village at the new World's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26. There will also be faithful reproductions of the Cheshire Cheese Inn, the Tower of London, Ann Hathaway's cottage and others. Fifteen "foreign villages" in all will offer the visitor the unique opportunity of making a "tour of the world" in a single day.

Visitors to the new World's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26 will be able to float, in a boat pushed by a neanderthal man, down the "Lost River" through the world of a million years ago in this exposition feature to be located on the new Midway. Ferocious prehistoric animals, snarling, moving, fighting, will send shivers down many a spine. There will even be an 80 foot brontosaurus who will snatch a visitor's hat off and refuse to give it back until the visitor apologizes for the intrusion into the reptile's domain.

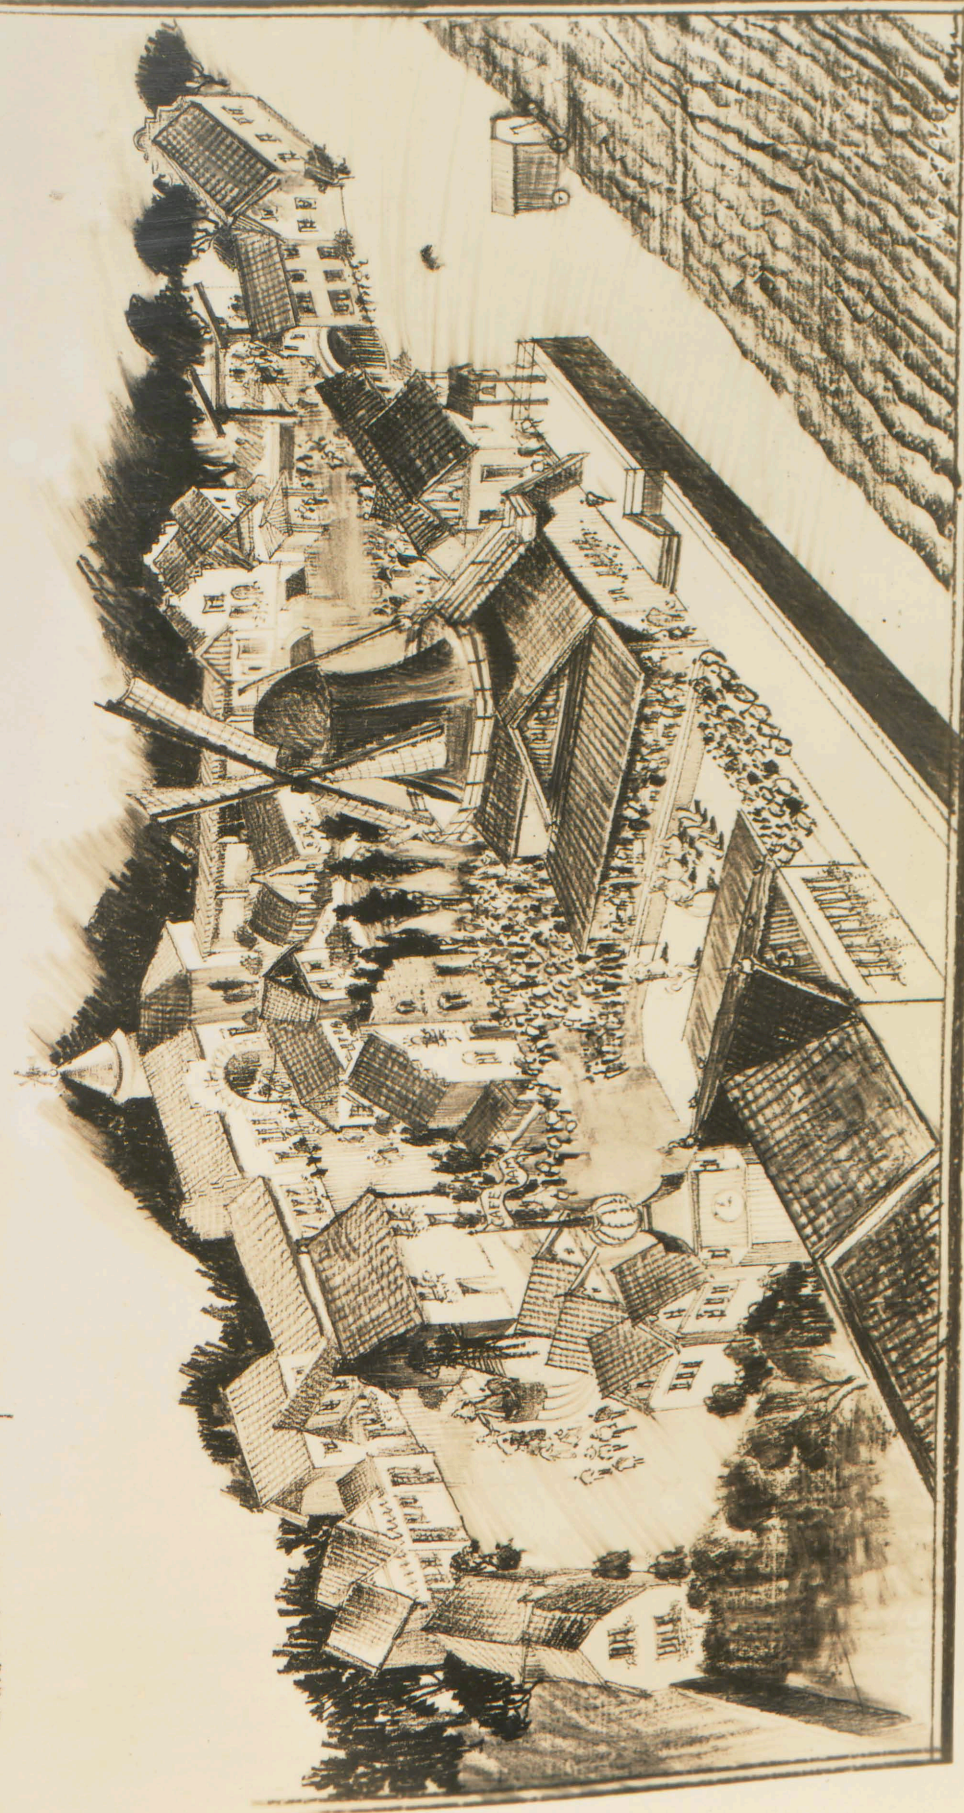

Swiss Village for New World's Fair.. This is an artist's conception of "La Suisse Pittoresque," a reproduction of some of the older part of the city of Berne. It is now under construction on the grounds of the Exposition in Chicago, making ready for the opening May 26. It will be peopled with Swiss peasants, shop-workers and craftsmen, as replete with quaint native charm as they would be in their own country.

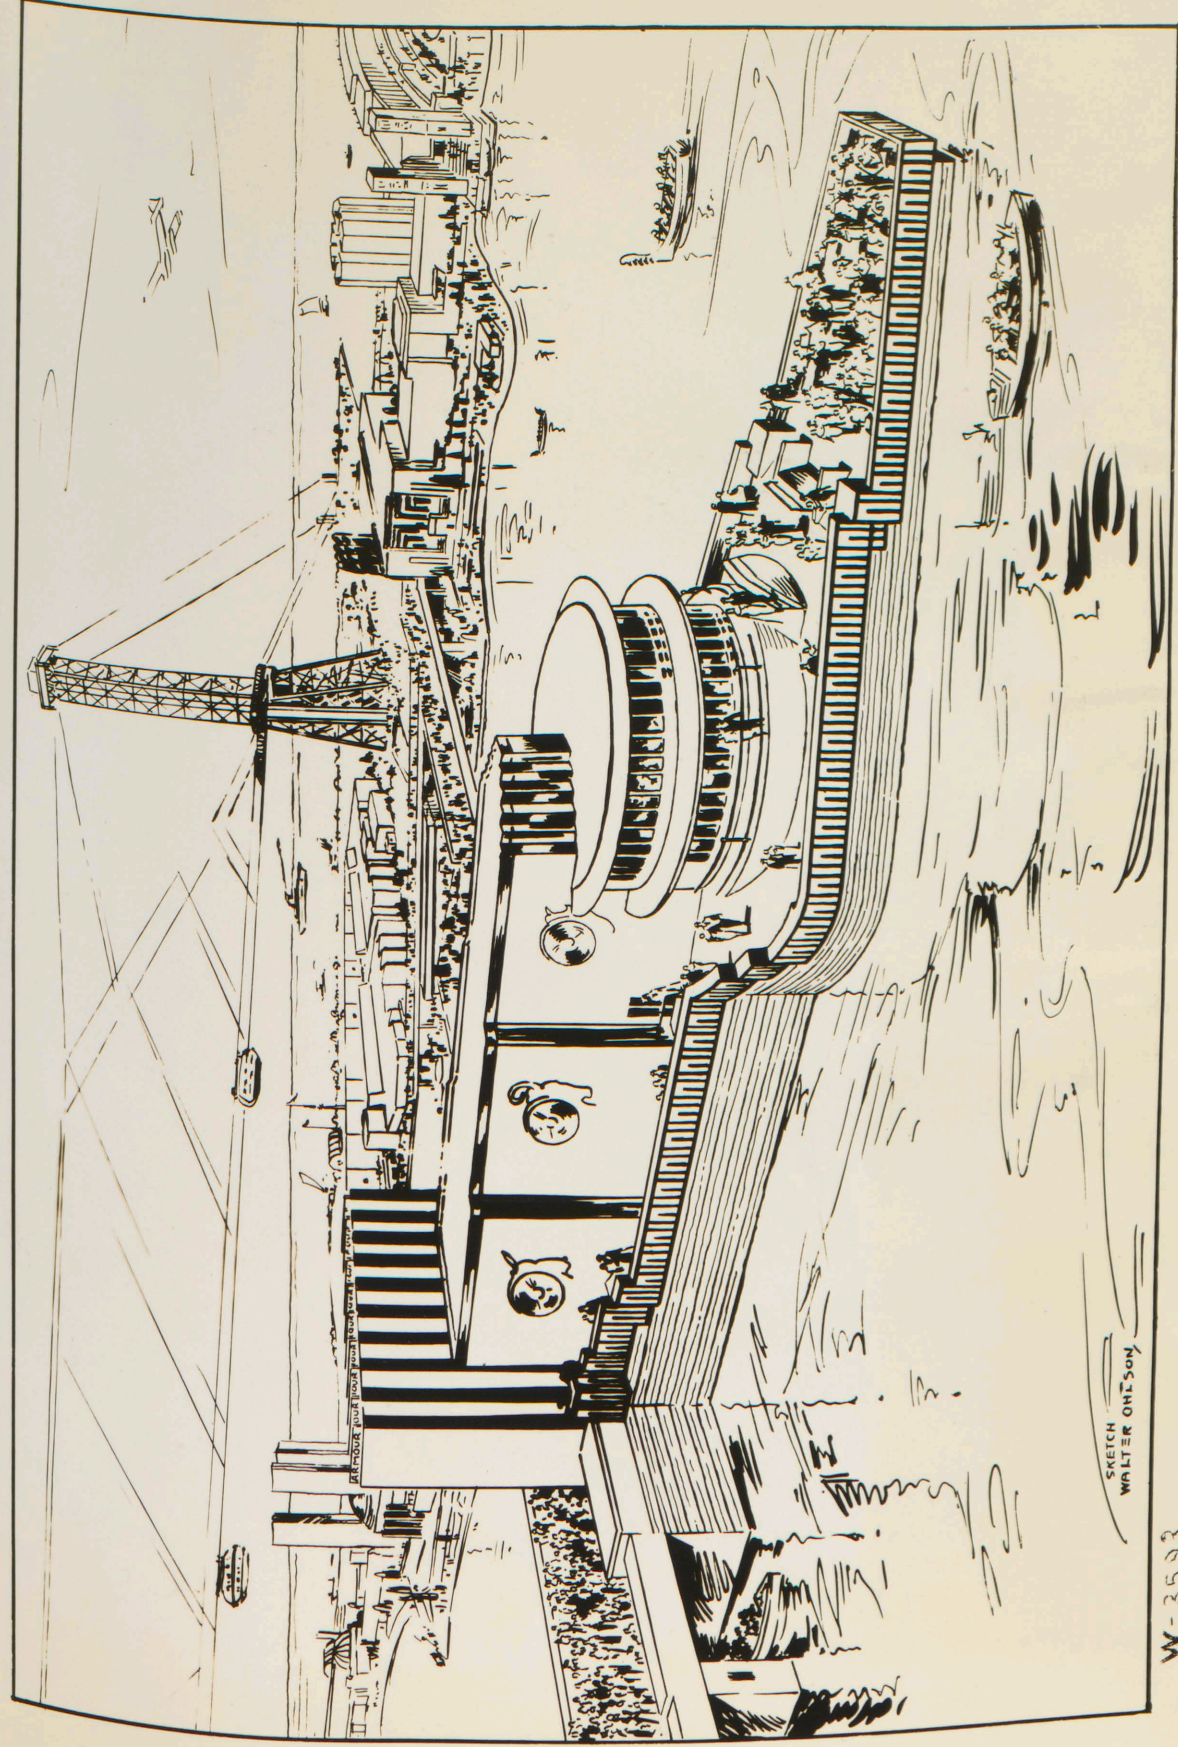

World's Largest Fountain to Be Outstanding Feature of New World's Fair. This huge bank of water, two city blocks long, and having a flow great enough to service a city of 1,000,000 will be located in the North Lagoon.
It will have spectacular lighting effects in five colors,
and a giant "aurora borealis" of 40 great search-lights will play a medley of color in the sky above it.

DUTCH VILLAGE
A CENTURY OF PROGRESS 1934
BURNHAM BROTHERS & HAMMOND ARCHITECTS.

Quaint houses, sparkling canals, dykes, and picturesque windmills form a part of the picture to be unveiled for visitors to the new Chicago World's Fair in the Dutch Village. One of the interesting features of the village will be the production and actual distribution of typical Netherlands food products, including the famed red-coated Edam cheese. The 1934 edition of A Century of Progress opens May 26.

Armour and Company's building at A Century of Progress will be constructed on piling in the South lagoon, extending south from the Sixteenth St. bridge.
The artist's sketch shows the glass-enclosed restaurant and the open-air plaza on the front.