W^d
Sir,

I arrived in this City yesterday evening, and came with the express object of delivering in person the accompanying letter, which was entrusted to me by its Signer, and to make your acquaintance.

I regret not meeting you, because I think I could have impressed upon you not only the propriety but the necessity of your gratifying our wishes - We have just gained, as you are aware, a great and signal triumph in our State. We are anxious to maintain all that we have gained and ask your assistance to do it - We want to hear you and will insure you a large and respectable audience of all parties.

Consistent with your arrangements we hope you will comply with our wishes -

You might speak at Terre Haute in the evening after you speak at Paris, as the Cars leave Paris at 6 P. M. and reach Terre Haute at 7 O'clock -

If it is necessary for you to be in Paris on Sunday to go elsewhere, I have made arrangements to return you there by special train Sunday morning.

I shall hope to hear from you at New-Haven - send enough to give notice and make all necessary arrangements.

If you go to New-Haven, I shall beg you to accept the hospitality of my house so long as you may wish to remain -

You will meet my brother Shudson P. Read Esq a most excellent and reliable democrat at Paris -

Very Sincerely
Your friend

Ezra Read

Dear Judge - I hope you are better and that your health will continue to improve for Carpenter - will not be able to come I don't believe.

Dear noble friend Dr. Read has come here from New-Haven on purpose and is one of the strongest Democrats in that District and thinks you could do more good for yourself and the party than than any other man living. I believe so too and if it is possible do go for - It will be of great importance to you. I have just his card by he says the Rail Road should be in Reading, for you write to him you will come for they will have a big turnout and I know they will expect you for I told him you would go if you was able and it threw you great pleasure on account of your old friends and as you was sick you could not go to Vincennes. I thought there was no doubt you would write him that you would come in the evening after you had made a speech at Harris as it was only twenty miles and on the Rail Road as they had taken so much pains to come to Chicago to see you for that purpose might only as you will see by the letter here enclosed - hope you will go if it is possible to strain a point and I know well of your health friends write them so far they are true as I feel I will try and give you a strict fly the Route Agents - take care of yourself and don't fail your friend

To the Head Commissioner of the General Land Office

The petition of the undersigned respectfully shows that in the year 1839, he applied for and procured a pre-emption under the act of the 2d June 1838 at the Galena Land Office, to the north west quarter of Section thirty one (31) in Township eighteen (18) north of Range One (1) West of the 4th P. M. Your petitioner shows that his proof was ample for a pre-emption to the whole of said Quarter Section; but the Register and Receiver at Galena refused to allow him a pre-emption under said proof for so much of said Quarter Section as lies north of the South Channel of the Mississippi River, and on the Island of Rock Island, on the ground, that said Island was a reservation.

Your petitioner is informed and believes that at the date of his pre-emption, said Island was not a reservation.

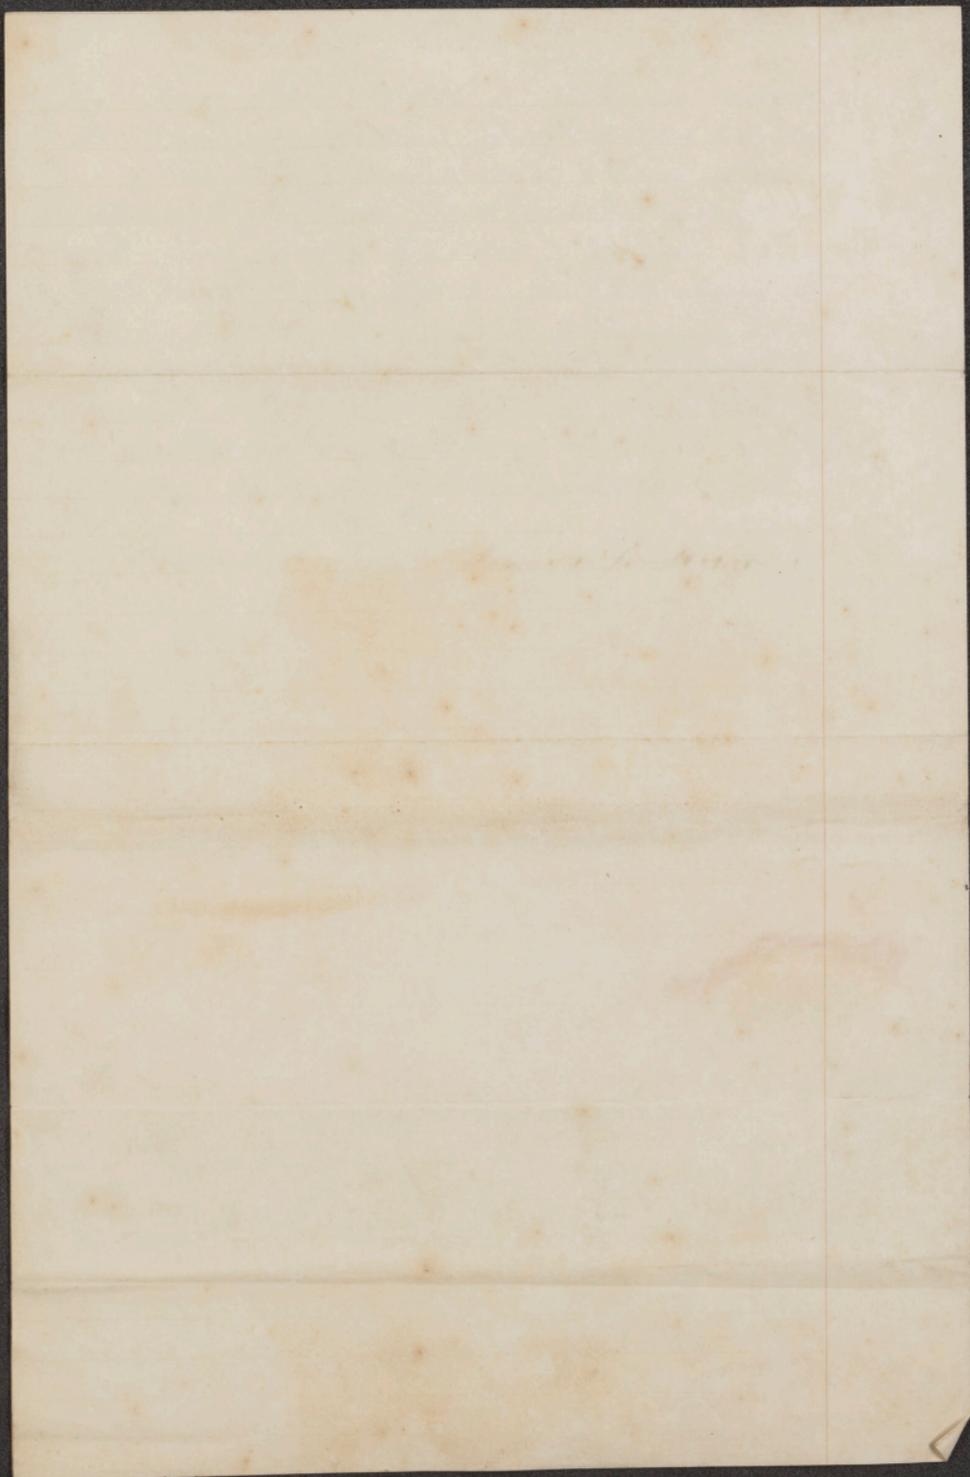

Your petitioner is informed that said refusal of said Land Office is erroneous, and he prays that said pre-emption may be allowed to the whole of said quarter.

Your petitioner further shows that said Island was abandoned as a military reservation in 1836, and that George Carrabot and David B.

Scars, have been by acts of Congress allowed to prospect or purchase parts of said Island.

Your petitioner further shows that the amount of land included in said north West quarter on said Island is about forty seven acres, for which grant he believes he is entitled to a just exemption under his proof filed with said Registry Division, which was decided by them to be sufficient evidence of his cultivation residence and occupation under said

It is not much a matter of consequence which way the election of today may "go". I have sent you several newspapers. I have "the means and appliances to boot". In 1856 - this State can be made all right so far as you are personally concerned, or for that matter publicly concerned.

Dear Sir

I received your esteemed favour enclosing a copy of the resolutions passed by a portion of the Democracy of Illinois. They breathe the true spirit, perfectly satisfactory to the South, and if carried out by the Free States will insure Union and harmony. I am perfectly satisfied that the Union of the States and the integrity of the Constitution, depend exclusively upon the success of democratic principles. The Democrats of the free States are the only true friends of the South and to them and in their success depend our safety. We of the South have ever looked to Illinois as our friend, relying upon the firmness of her leaders to sustain the Constitution, the wild hurricane of destructive and blented Idols that swept over the whole North last year brought the whole South to the stern determination to submit to no more wrongs but upon the first aggression to resort to the last argument with Fanaticism, Separation or the sword, and for a time our hearts were heavy with the thought of dispersing our blest Union cemented as it had been by the blood of our great and glorious Ancestry. But the skies are now looking bright, thank God. Old Virginia like a rock in a tempest typhoid crew broke the wave as it rolled South and all the Southern States (but one) have followed her glorious example. Maine, Pennsylvania and Indiana have followed up the good work at the North and if the "Liber Second thoughts" of the people of Illinois acting under your good Councils will only carry out your resolutions, let the Territories settle their own affairs without the intervention of Congress the whole land will be covered with peace and our hills and valleys all be vocal with the rejoicings of a prosperous people.

We have just passed through the severest contest with Know Nothingism, that the Democracy of Missisippi have ever had to encounter. When our Campaign opened the first of July, we found all of the old Whig party, and a large majority of the Democrats of the State in the Councils of our very worst enemy and for some weeks it looked like an impossibility to make an insurrection against this Map of ignorance and corruption. But we fought it to the death and when it once began to give way, the whole thing dissolved leaving the Whigs with their usual strength, we carried the State by about two thirds, and all of our Members to Congress except Singleton, I took the stump in the very beginning of the contest and traversed the whole State only closing two days before the election I never have I interrupted such efforts by both parties or such an excitement amongst the people. But we attacked their principles and identified them with the abolitionists of the North we proved that Northern Democrats were the only true friends of the South and that the safety of the Constitution and the Union of the States depended alone upon the success of democratic principles and that the Democratic party was the only National and truly conservative party in the Govt. In this way we broke down their last great idol in Missisippi, but the struggle was desperate and I pray God that I may never witness such another, there were several a la Louisville to invade the State, thank Heaven but we spoke against and it was not counselled to have the clash of a dozen Pistols in the course of a speech. One shot fired would have cost fifty lives at least, but nothing unpleasant occurred during the Campaign and we fought the Rebels so hard, that they have not held up their heads since the election. Our Majority in the Legislature will be at least thirty five which ensures a Democratic Senate.

Shall we not see you in Missisippi this winter, Our Democratic Convention will meet in Jackson & I may take a short run from Washington by way of an oration to your plantation and give us a call about that time. Our Legislature will be in Session and we could give you not only a fair specimen of Missisippi Democracy but prove to you how Missisippi appreciates your efforts in supporting her Constitutional rights.

I should be glad to have your views (in confidence) in reference to the next Presidency, Of course I do not expect you to speak in reference to yourself, but in view of certain contingencies who are we to have, Not Clay or Marcy that is certain, Not Polk that is still more certain, Buchanan, Richardson or Douglas. We would adulate with a man from the mighty West, but suppose we should fail in him, then what Northern Man is safest, and most avoidable. We intend to have no third rate man as a compromise this time, but intend to fight the battle squarely with a champion that will honor the office in the event of success. As to the Vice President Davis, Lincoln, Brown or Mason or W. are the prominent men Missisippi will go for Davis first last and all the time, My heart is set upon seeing him Vice Pres. and we talk strongly here of a ticket composed of Douglas & Davis, It would be a great ticket and carry the whole South except perhaps the Yankee State of Kentucky. I was a little afraid of the Aboluska question, what the whole North was in a ferment and parties in the South excited, but it is now the great question and will bear you in triumph over all opposition. Excuse my gossiping and set it down to the score of my friendship alone. I thank God that I am not a great man, but I feel some interest in those who are and still more in the safety and prosperity of my Country. //

When you have time and inclination let me hear from you Very truly
Your friend

Knoxville Ill. Nov. 23rd. 1855.

Dear Judge;

I desire to call your attention to a matter of a little importance at Princeton, Bureau Co.

Doct. W. H. Winter, the present P. M., under the influence of a quasi promise when he was first appointed, and a little vexation, arising from the quarrels of two or three cliques, to none of which he is in any way allied, has resigned the office, which I understand has been sent to you - I am personally and well acquainted with him, have the van of his personal and political history, and know that he is all right, that he is a popular post Master, and to accept his resignation, will get a bad state of feeling in that County. We need to nurse what remains. In the hour of our utmost peril, the Doct never quailed, but fought the foe to their face.

Allow me therefore to suggest, as a well wisher of our party, that the Department pay no attention to the resignation, or in other words that the resignation be refused, and if rejected, Doct Winter will keep on as heretofore - Bureau Co. has just elected the Dem. ticket, and Lovejoy has resigned his pastorate, and is going away - His Know Nothing proclivities, in connection with his intensified abolitionism and anti masonry has used him up with some of his parishioners & Dr Winter has contributed largely to that result.

Respectfully Yours,

Nov. 27. 1855

Dear Douglas

A few days after my return to Kansas I learned that a meeting or Convention had been called at Leavenworth City for the 14th of this month. I called upon ^{Mr} Stramon & Whitfield to learn its object and from the tone of their conversation and from what I heard from different portions of the territory I was led to believe that the pro-Navery party would now be willing to abandon their distinctive organization and place themselves upon ground which would enable all democrats and state rights whigs to make common cause against abolitionism and its revolutionary designs. I attended the Convention and mixing with the two or three hundred delegates that were there I discovered that they were very willing that I should propose the platform on which they should hereafter stand. The result was, the adoption of the resolutions you have seen, placing themselves distinctly and clearly on democratic grounds and agreeing hereafter that the only organization known in Kansas in opposition to the Abolition and free soil party should be the "State rights" party of Kansas. The name of "State rights" was adopted because many southern Whigs yet felt a little prejudice to the name of "democratic". It is however, as its resolutions show a purely democratic organization and next year will assume that name during the presidential Campaign. This crisis is what I have been striving for ever since I came to Kansas and I did not even hope that it would come so soon.

Two points I made with the pro-slavery men before going into the Convention. 1st the abandonment of their pro-slavery organization was to enable free state democracy to act with them and the repudiation of all foreign influence from every quarter in elections. This makes it a democratic party upon the pure principle of the Nebraska act. Another thing they agreed to do and that was to abandon any attempt to execute the others provisions of their fugitive slave law. The next session of the legislature will place that law upon its true basis. Thus order and consistency are established by the democratic party in Kansas and the extravagant follies of Atchinson and Co. are repudiated. The views and objects of this organization I explained in a speech, not only to the satisfaction of all parties interested in the new organization, but to the perfect delight of the free-slavery party, who flocked around me with a thousand congratulations that I had opened the way for our cordial cooperation against a common enemy. In my conversations with them I took the ground that it was decidedly more important to make Kansas a democratic State than a free or slave State; for as a slave State it might be a whig or Knows nothing State, and as a free State it might be an abolition or free soil State; and that while they were struggling to make it a slave State upon an organization which prevented free State democracy from acting with them they would be very likely to throw the power into the hands of Reeder and the abolitionists and thus make it an abolition State. This had its weight with the democrats and as they constituted four-fifths of the party they carried the whig along with them, and when I had got done speaking the resolutions were passed with a shout. From this day you may count Kansas right. Reeder and Johnson's affiliation with the anti society men of Miss., their repudiation of the laws of the Legislature, their abolition spoken convention will all be crushed now with an overwhelming force. There is not on earth a more democratic people than the Kansas settlers. Whitfield told me that he had decided to run as a national democrat but that he could not control the sentiment of his friends. By the action of the Convention at Heavenworth he is now the representative of the "State Rights" or democratic party of Kansas, and not of the Pro-slavery party, and you can consider him as such; and he is authorized by the new organization to say to you that you are their first choice for the presidency whenever you may pleas to call upon them. This however is no new thing, for the pro-slavery men of Kansas have always sworn by you. The only embarrassment we have hitherto encountered has been their peculiar organization as a pro-slavery party. That is ^{now} dead, and ^{all} the true Democrats of the territory, whether for free or slave states, now stand on the same platform. The objects of the Convention were as you ^{see} to express public opinion upon restoring the laws of the territory. The opportunity was a good one for effecting all that has been done. Tho' not a member of the Convention I was appointed one of the Committee to draft an address to the people of the U.S.

Gov. Shannon and myself have got one up with great ease and it is now being printed. I will send you some copies next week. I wish you would look at it carefully. Ellsbery has gone clear over to the Resistor party. I send you the last number of his paper to call your attention to a "Notice" which I have marked, among the advertisements, it is signed by the principal leaders of the Aid Society's operations at Lawrence. The meeting, ~~cont~~ and the acts contemplated & in the notice, are not spoken of publicly; and it was placed where it is, doubtless, for the purpose of escaping the observation of the general reader. The Reader friends in this territory are known to have adopted an organization similar to the Know Nothing organization. They are really a secret society. The notice alluded to was only intended to meet the eye of the initiated or it would have been heralded with editorial flourish and spoken of publicly. There never was upon earth a more unscrupulous and rascally party than that which has been established here by the Aid Society of Miss. Money is the basis of all their operations, and with that they are buying up an organized resistance to the laws, and striving with Reader, promoted to their leadership, to get the power here and to make a crisis at Washington while they hope seriously to disturb the relations existing between the North and the South in the next presidential Campaign. The whole affair, embracing the election of Reader, the Topeka Convention and the proposed election of state officers, as they call ^{it} ~~them~~ are all of a piece, and had their origin in more scheming brains than Reader's or the small instruments ^{the abolitionists} they have here in Kansas. I will send you in a few days the laws and journals of the Territorial Legislature.

(Very respectfully,

Nov. 28 1857

TO THE HONORABLE
The Senate and House of Representatives.
The United States in Congress Assembled.

THE undersigned, Inspectors of the Revenue at the Port of New-York, in continuation of their application for an increase of pay, made in 1853:

Respectfully represent that their present compensation was established by law in 1816—nearly forty years ago—when the expense of living was but trifling in comparison with the exorbitantly high price of every article necessary to the support of a family.

That in addition to the difference of living, an increase of labor and responsibility have been added to the duties of the Inspector more than throbbing those defined by law when their pay was established, to which they respectfully refer as follows:

FIRST. The Bonded Warehouse System, itself, has more than doubled the duties of the officer; inasmuch as previously the goods for examination in "public store," and those subject to "general order," were the only goods for which we were held responsible; whereas, now, it not unfrequently occurs, in addition to those, that goods are warehoused, from one vessel alone, to twenty different warehouses, all of which we are by law required to send specially directed (each load) to their respective warehouses, and with, at times, a portion of the "general order goods," directed to be sent to Atlantic Dock by lighters, with an accompanying manifest. For the safe conveyance and delivery of all these, we are held strictly accountable.

SECOND. The ocean steamers, lately introduced in the commerce of the world, and rapidly increasing in numbers in this port, have greatly added to the already onerous duties of the Inspector.

These vessels, not contemplated when the Revenue Laws fixed the compensation of its Inspectors, are so constructed as to render them impossible of securing by the ordinary fastenings of locks and seals, as the law provides for us on leaving our vessels, requiring therefore our constant confinement on board from sunrise to sunset, until relieved by the night officers, whom at sunrise we again relieve.

THIRD. These vessels not only impose on us the necessity of this constant attendance during the working days, but after the unceasing toil, confinement, and anxiety of the laboring hours, the HOLY SABBATH dawns upon us with the same obligations of our duty, leaving us no relaxation—no exemption from duty as the law provides, but one continued period of anxiety and watchfulness, from their arrival until their departure.

FOURTH. The Inspector is frequently called upon to perform his duty after sundown, (never contemplated by the laws fixing his pay,) which not unfrequently extends to twelve or one o'clock at night, (on arrival of steamers late in the day,) for the purpose of discharging Passengers' Baggage, abolishing entirely their hours of rest and relief, contemplated and expressly provided for by the Revenue Laws, namely, Sundays and nights.

FIFTH. The mental and physical labor, the vigilance and activity required in discharging cargoes of steamers and packet ships, the exposure and suffering on a vessel's deck, or on the bleak and unprotected dock, at inclement seasons of the year, as well as the diligence and application required to examine, compare and correct the receipts of the various stores, bonded warehouses, cellars, etc. The care and precision required to make out the duplicate returns of a cargo of 1,600 or 1,700 tons, in time for the vessel's clearance, occupying from twelve to eighteen quarto sheets, closely written, with minute statements and details of the disposal of the whole cargo, have, from the increased tonnage capacity of our modern vessels, rendered the duties of Inspector of Customs oppressive, irksome, and severe in the extreme, and claim relief by at least a fair compensation at the hands of government, whose treasury is enriched as much from the incorruptable integrity of its Custom House officers as from the prosperity of our country.

SIXTH. The increased and increasing mercantile business of our Port, have for some years past rendered it incumbent on us to perform the duties of another separate and distinct branch of the Revenue department, namely, the Measurers, who are allowed by law, $1,500 per annum, (nearly $500 more than the Inspectors,) while the Inspector, for performing that, in addition to his complicated, arduous and responsible duties, receives no additional compensation whatever. This, we beg leave to submit, is a gross injustice to officers already burthened with important addition duty without extra pay.

When we call the attention of your Honorable Body to the fact, That we perform our duties daily, from the rising to the setting sun in our busy port.

That we are not exempt even on the Holy Sabbath, which other employees of Government who have been favored with an increase of pay, are exempt from.

That we are exposed to the inclemency of the weather, as well as the extremely hazardous duty of boarding vessels in our crowded (and at times boisterous) harbor, incurring also the risk of Ship Fever, and other contagious diseases from infected vessels.

That we are the guardians of the Revenue in all seasons and all weathers, scaling the vessels' icy sides, 'midst the wintry blast, and the wild wind's roar, or scrambling up its slimy sides beneath the scorching summer's sun.

That through the vigilance, activity, and uncompromising integrity of the Inspectors, frauds on the Customs are detected, and the honest merchant protected.

That the seizures and confiscations in this Port laterly would contribute much to that additional compensation which our accumulated duties and the exhorbitant expence of living fully justify.

That we have patiently awaited the action of Government since 1853, suffering the most harassing annoyance, from the insufficiency of our pay, for the support of our families, in this expensive city, prevented as we are from the diligence our duty demands, as well as by law, from resorting to any additional employment to increase our resources.

That the clerks and employes in the departments at Washington, who are engaged but a few hours each day, have received a very liberal consideration from your Honorable Body, during the Session of 1853, when our extreme necessities urged us to apply, but with a less fortunate result.

We therefore respectfully ask an extra allowance of pay, from that period when we first made our appeal to you, and which this continuation of our appeal will we trust, satisfactorily explain.

We approach your Honorable and Intelligent Body in the full conviction of the justness of our application, and a firm belief in the convictions of right which a calm consideration of our claims must establish. Relying upon your sense of justice,

We respectfully ask such an increase of compensation as you, in your wisdom, and from the reasons herein set forth, shall conceive to be equitable and just,

And for which we most earnestly pray.

My dear Sir,

I wish, if you could do so, you would ascertain whether the Treasury Department wish my services at Leitch. I had an opportunity to embark in another enterprise; but if Mr. Guthrie intends to employ me, I would decline any other engagements.

The Presidential question is becoming the absorbing topic and it is impatient that we should have such an understanding as will prevent clashing in our operations. What shall we do? We have the power to do as we please. We can control the vote of States. Ought we to make a demonstration for any candidate, or should we secure the delegations and leave the question of Candidate, in abeyance? In my judgement, we ought not to express a preference for any one out of the State. I am in favor of getting through a resolution requesting the delegates to act as a unit, and instructing the majority to determine for us how the vote shall be cast. Something of this sort, with the right kind of men, to manage the instructions, would be better than instructing for any particular man. I want a majority of Douglass men in the delegation, so as to prepare for contingencies. If "Stevens" can be nominated, by all means let us do it. If he cannot be, let it be understood that he is not a candidiate; but to protect his future, and the interests of his friends, he must have the power to dictate the nomination. If Douglass cannot be nominated, who would he prefer? I am aware that it will be very difficult to ascertain this - for he is too discreet a man to disclose his preference, except to such friends as he can "let his bottom bottom out". //

Do you desire to be a delegate to the Constitution? You must not have a contest for it.

Give me your views on this question and tell me what ^{you} think should be done by one friend in the Legislature or the Senate. Over thirty nine men will have some power.

Very truly your friend
James B. Shedden.
