ROOMS OF
State Historical Society OF WISCONSIN.

rt & Lawton, Milwaukee

Madison Nov. 18th 1869.

Dr. Chr. Graham —

My Dear Sir:

I have kindly to thank you for your obliging favors — two letters, & a copy of yr. Excellent work, of which I have read a part with real pleasure — & promise myself soon an additional gratification in perusing the remainder.

You were so kind as to tender me another copy or so. If I had two copies more, one of them shd. go into the Library of our Historical Society as your gift — & the other I h^{d}. design for circulation among my friends who could appreciate it.

You speak of the son of Capt. Worthington residing at the Yellow Banks — Owensboro, Ky: Do you not mean Henderson? instead of Owensboro?

Some one informed me that there are some grandsons of Capt. Worthington residing in Cincinnati: If so, you seem not to be aware of it, I judge, as you make no reference to them.

I am glad that the Hist^{l}. Society Do^{cs}. I sent you, reached you safely: If they afford you any interest, I shall be doubly gratified.

If you are spared to settle in Louisville, I may hope to meet you there, which I w^{d}. be glad to do. I was there a year ago now & made a good many historical collections about Gen^{l}. Clark & his associates. And at Jeffersonville, opposite, I heard & witnessed some of the most astounding things, to me imaginable — writing done on a slate, in day time, in my presence, without the aid of human hands; & voice talking apparently by departed spirit friends of mine, in a dark room, of whom none present had any knowledge

— the voice, & style of conver=sation were natural, & topics brought forward by them only known to them & myself
— & some of them not then known to me, but since as=certained to be as represented.
I have a great desire to go there again, & test these things more at leisure.

Excuse my hurried,
disconnected letter —
my introduction, even briefly, of a touch of the super=natural.

God bless you!

Yours most sincerely,
Lyman C. Draper.

P.S. — If you happen in Stanford, please use yr. influence with Judge Winfred Bailey to aid me all he can abt. his grandfather, Captn. John Bailey.