My dear Sir:

Mr. E. H. Mills has kindly forwarded to me your letter, and I take pleasure in sending to you, in accordance with my understanding with the International Prison Commission through your Commissioner, Sir Evelyn Ruggles-Brise, K.C.B., a Special Certificate, which will give you the right to accompany our excursion, September 18 to 28. It will give our prison people in this country great pleasure to come in contact with one of the experienced administrators of a great English prison. I myself remember a visit to Wormwood Scrubs several years ago, where I was very courteously received and given every opportunity to see something of the workings of your system.

Dear Sir:

Referring to our conversation of today:

I think you understand that it is Dr. Guillaume's wish that the bulletins that he brought over be distributed to American members of the International Prison Congress. There will be required, of course, wrapping paper and string. Since there will be perhaps 400 hundred packages to send out it will probably be necessary to hire labor to wrap and tie them. If you will give me written authority to incur these expenses I will take up the matter at once.

The State Department franks may be sent to me at the address given above, which is my mail address.

Dear Professor Hendeson -

I sent you a Postal to the effect that I would soon forward facts about this Reformatory, etc. But the more I think of it, that seems to me not the best way.

For one thing, it is an imposition on yourself, to unload material for you to put in order. The presumption is that you have not one spare minute to give to it.

If you favor, I will do my best and utmost to send on a new paper as soon as possible, provided there is likely to be time to do so, and have it appear in the volume, if it be acceptable.

A little time, however, some, would still be indispensable.

Hastily and Respectfully Yours

William J. Batt.

Dear Dr. Henderson:-

The late Dr. Barrows gave me as a topic, "Education in Prison." I was to treat of "Prison Schools," of "Moral and Religious Education," etc,* in prisons. My work^{was} to be a part of what was to help to give "foreign members" a good idea of "methods, achievements, and tendencies in relation to the whole field of penology in the United States."

It was to be "descriptive rather than controversial."

"The style was to be as simple and as direct as possible." Illustrative pictures were also desired. And I was limited to fifteen thousand words.

I may have put a general analysis of my paper on a separate sheet, with my manuscript sent to yourself. After arguing briefly the necessity of education in prison, I proceeded to a description of what has been done, and what therefore can be done, in prison. I chose Elmira prison as my illustration, as is stated near Page 9. I gave reasons for that choice. I obtained a large line of annual reports from Elmira, which I have not now at hand; and also several of their published books, a couple of which I send you as you request, as samples, although I mutilated them in using them.

I especially mentioned the "Elmira Handbook," in my paper, perhaps about Page 12. I especially stated that "prisoner teachers" had been used in Elmira, in part, perhaps near Page 22.

I outlined, (a) their system of Physical Education.

(b) their system of Common School Education.

(c) Their system of Trade School Education.

When I came to moral and spiritual education, while crediting Elmira with large attention to character, I drew my Chief suggestions rather from this reformatory, without however intending to make it prominent by its name.

Of course I used Dr. Wines' great book, which I suppose you would not wish me to send, and also a large line of reports from institutions over the country, which I have not by me now. I also made somewhat of a study of various penological works, both American and Foreign.

I did not take up very interesting work of the Massachusetts State prison; but Mr. Pettigrove, as I understood him, especially referred to Charlestown methods in his paper.

Chaplains have sometimes done much of the labor where only an elementary educational work was attempted in prison schools, but I have never known of any chaplain doing actually himself any large part of it, when an elaborate and thorough work was carried on. Otherwise I might have mentioned this fact.

With great respect for the Sage Foundation, and much interest in it, and with sincere appreciation of the labor and responsibility involved for yourself in all this publication; I am much interested to hear from you, if I may, of the outcome.

I regret that you were put to any trouble. and I would be glad, as I think I have already written you, to be of any assistance.

I enclose a check of $100.- pending the present deliberations to which you refer. I do not remember how the check was made out upon which I drew the money.

Respectfully and Cordially Yours
William J. Batt.

My dear Friend:

I have your esteemed favor of May 3rd, which does credit to your character. I write you plainly because you are a good man, and I know want to serve the cause best. The fact is that all the persons responsible for accepting the papers in the second volume felt that you had not met the requirements of the subject. You had an entirely different conception of the purpose and style of the paper from ours. It is inevitable, therefore, that important changes must be made in the content and style of the paper. It must be entirely re-written. This is not your fault, and I return to you the check under instructions from Mr. Glenn. I want your help in collecting the material as rapidly as possible. Your paper gave the facts simply in regard to Elmira. I have not the MS at hand, and therefore cannot go into details, but we must learn as much as we can about the methods used in quite a number of the institutions, one is not enough. Any help that you can give me will be greatly appreciated. I received the printed matter, which you so kindly sent.

Kindly inform me what institutions you studied in preparing the paper. I must go over the whole matter from the beginning very carefully in order to answer editorial questions in New York. An early response is very necessary, as the articles are even now going through the press.

My dear Friend:

I have received and carefully considered your esteemed letter of February 5 in regard to the meeting of the chaplains.

The programme for the International Prison Congress has long since been made by the Commission itself, and I have no power in the premises, except to carry out what they have ordered. In that programme there is no place for a chaplains' meeting.

The case is different with the meetings of the American Prison Association, which will be held just before the International Prison Congress. On this subject it would be well to correspond with Mr. Amos W. Butler, 52 State House, Indianapolis, Indiana. All of the arrangements seem to be going forward very well.

Dear Professor Henderson:

I enclose you a brief sketch of a part of the proceedings at Seattle which may not come to much public notice, possibly thus far not to your own. Some of the Chaplains have hoped that they might do good in this way by providing partly for increased personal fellowship in moral work in prisons. The Early Meetings which we have carried on for many years have been held largely with that end in view.

I don't know what opportunity there may be at Washington next fall for the further developement of the International Chaplain's Association, or for any meetings at all like these Early Meetings in our American Congress. I am writing to you now simply to ask your thought about it, if, and whenever, you may be able to give any thought to it..

I remember at Buda Pesth there was a general meeting in the afternoon, perhaps about three o'clock, the hour I do not definitely recall. Possibly some such arrangement may be expected at Washington. In that case, if the Chaplains wished to come together, inviting any others to come with them that they think might choose to do so, for a half or three quarters of an hour's conference, in the regular hall of the meetings, but before the time announced for the afternoon meeting, do you think that would be at all approved?

With best wishes for the 1910 meeting at Washington, and especially for the Committee of Arrangements in all their solicitudes ~~as~~ about it, I am,

Sincerely yours, William J. Batt.

des Congresses ihr lebhaftes Interesse widmen
und würde es begrüßen, wenn sich das Reich

Da ich also nicht Congressbetheilnehmer
