Dear Mr. Butler:

We have information from the British Embassy that Mr. George W. Dawson, Inspector of Penitentiaries, will represent the Dominion of Canada at the International Prison Congress. Mr. Ayelsworth, Canadian Minister of Justice, is also "anxious to be present at the Congress, if possible. Mr. Ayelsworth is at present at The Hague in connection with the Newfoundland Fisheries Arbitration".

Dear Dr. Henderson:-

I have your letters of August 16, one enclosing the list of foreign delegates. There are a few names that were included in the list sent July 30 that are not on this list. Mr. T. Maki, of Japan, Dr. George Stammer, of Berlin, and M. and Mme. Goldenwasser, of Kiev, Russia, I note in that number. These, I presume, are simply omissions.

I note that you have written Dr. Baernreither, of Austria, to speak on Sunday night. Mr. Byers has written me, and states he has sent you a copy of the letter, from which I gather that he will conform to our request to put the representative of the French Prison Association on the program for Friday or Saturday night. I suggest that you write and tell him that if he does not speak in English you will arrange to have an interpreter.

St. Bozell*

I note what you say about the delegates from states to both the national and international meetings. Mr. Byers is very desirous of having these, because delegates from a number of states to the American Prison Association are lacking. Mr. Mills has written for a thousand extra copies of the English hand-book.

Dear Friend:

I have just received from Professor J. Spach, the representative of the French Prison Society, an article entitled "The History of the (French) General Society of Prisons". The document is in French and evidently is intended to be one of the public lectures. He was misinformed by Mr. Schrameck, the French Commissioner.

I shall correspond with Professor Spach and find out whether he speaks English, and whether he will be willing to shorten this address in delivery, as it is 21 pages of manuscript and would take thirty minutes to read. I appreciate the importance of cutting this down and will use all my influence and authority with him to secure this. I will prepare a French translation in very brief form, which can be read by one of our own members, if it is found necessary.

I have your letter of August 31. I will look up the reference on Out-door Convict Labor as soon as possible.

I presume you are right about omitting Dr. Borel's name. I did not look up my correspondence when I wrote to you. I knew that he was to be left off the list of public lecturers, and had forgotten for the moment that another name was to be substituted for his.

In regard to the action of the Department of State, we must remember that ecclesiastical analogies do not help us in diplomacy, and that the Department of State takes expert advice in such affairs. Since receiving their letter I have gone through the Bulletins of former congresses and find that no Hungarian delegates are mentioned at Budapest, no Belgian delegates at Brussels, and no French delegates at Paris. This confirms the position of the Department of State. There is no use in continuing correspondence with the Department in view of these facts.

Dear Sir:-

I have your letters of the 23rd inst. and note what you say. By referring to page 31 of your valuable publication on "Outdoor Convict Labor", you will observe that M. Jules Veiller refers to the action of the third International Prison Congress held at Rome in 1885 regarding outdoor employment. I wonder whether you could give me the volume and page of the reference so that I can use it? I thank you very much for the reference to the "Actes" of the Budapest Congress, which will be of service to me.

In your letter you say "I note that you appoint Dr. Baernreither of Austria to speak on Sunday night 'instead of Dr. Borel'. I had supposed that Dr. Borel would remain on the programme for Sunday night and that Dr. Baernreither would be added. Am I wrong?" This is in accordance with your direction in your letter of April 21st, copy of which I enclose herewith. This I understand excludes Dr. Borel and that in the absence of any information regarding the Frenchman, Dr. Baernreither is to take his place. If this is not correct, please advise me by wire at once so that I may communicate with Mr. Byers, if it is not too late.

I also have your copy of letter to Mr. Byers under date of August 27th. It seems to me by this that we are placed in a most embarrassing position,- that we are to have a meeting of the International Prison Congress in this country, with delegates from all the other nations of the earth and are not to have delegates from the United States. The United States has heretofore always sent delegates, and why not this year? If a church association or Presbytery meets in a church by invitation, that does not relieve the church of the obligation of appointing delegates just the same as though it were held elsewhere. Is it not possible for Mr. Ernest P. Bicknell or Mr. Charles D. Hilles and some others to take this matter up with the Department of State or even for Mr. Hilles, who is a close friend of the President's, to take it directly to the President?

Dear Mr. Butler:-

I have just received letters from Professor Borel, Dr. Guillaume and Professor van der Aa. They all insist that Dr. Borel shall not speak on Sunday evening nor give a public lecture, as he is not a Commissioner, and those places must be kept for Frenchmen. They say that it is exceedingly important not to give offense to a great government by a slight. I beg you, therefore, not to publish your list in any way until you hear further from me. The French Commissioner has delayed sending in his list of French delegates, and for this reason I must beg you to delay any public statement for the present. It would not do to have Dr. Borel and Dr. Guillaume, both from Switzerland, on the same programme the same evening. We shall have plenty of opportunity during the excursion and during the week to honor these men. Professor van der Aa must give one of the public lectures as it is supposed that he will be the next president, and that the Congress will be held in Holland.

Thank you very much for your kindness in sending the reference. You do not say so but I understand it to refer to the Tome I of the Int. Prison Congress at Rome. If I am not correct please state.

Regarding the Reviewers. Prof. D. C. Brown is in Europe. He will be back about 20th I think. Prof. Howe returned from vacation last night. I have just talked with him and he promises to write you in 2 or 3 days.

Can you send me a list of States that have appointed delegates also any additions to the list of foreign delegates by Thursday? or if sent Friday send it to Morris Hotel, Marion.

Enclose you programme of our State Conference. You helped us out splendidly last year. Wish you could be with us every year but can't ask it. You know how we should enjoy having you.

We are to have a general meeting of our local Committee to arrange for entertaining our foreign guests on 14th - The day after our conference closes. Shall all the information we can get them. Do you know how many or who will make the tour.

Have you heard of the death of Warden J. S. Reid last Friday night at home of Angina pectoris. A great loss to us. He was here a week ago to day to inquire about plans for the foreign visitors at Michigan City.

Dear Dr. Henderson:-

I have received, as doubtless you have, some letters from delegates to the International Prison Congress, acknowledging receipt of and expressing their thanks for the Souvenir Volumes that the Russell Sage Foundation enabled us to send out. I presume that those letters should be gathered together somewhere. What is your suggestion concerning them?

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:-

In view of the fact that there is now much discussion of the question of state or district work-houses or state farms in this state, all under state control, for convicted misdemeanants or jail prisoners, I write you for your views on the subject, knowing you have given the subject consideration. It would be especially helpful if you will outline a plan by which this can be accomplished in the most practical way and indicate the form you think a law on this subject should take.

One suggestion is that the state buy a large tract of land and erect such buildings as are necessary thereon by using the construction force of prisoners at the State Prison. The excellent work they are doing testifies to their ability; then use the buildings for a workhouse. Afterwards other tracts could be bought and one after another workhouse built in the same way.

Other suggestions have been made both as to beginning and constructing the institution and with reference to the other practical questions of organization, government, conduct and relation to the other local and

My dear Sir:

I am very glad indeed that my native state is taking up the question of state farms for convicted misdemeanants. We are trying to move in this direction also in Illinois. All competent authorities agree that the county jail should be used absolutely and only for persons awaiting trial, and that such a person should have a room by himself to avoid moral contamination of promiscuous assembly between persons who are presumably innocent and those that are hardened offenders. The moment a person is convicted of misdemeanor or crime he should go to a suitable institution of correction. The short sentences for persons of inveterate habit in crime or inebriety have no deterrent effect, but do cause the further demoralization of the prisoner. For those who are physically and morally broken down a compulsory colony life with much open air labor for two years at least is necessary to a cure. I say advisedly a cure, for whatever we may think of the crimes of normal persons the misdemeanors of degenerates are largely due to physical conditions, which cannot be cured by a twenty or fifty day sentence, but only by labor in the open air under careful medical control. There is nothing like farm life for restoring broken human-

CRIME WAVES LAID TO PAROLE SYSTEM

Assistant Police Chief Schuettler of Chicago Calls Law
Vicious Humbug.

REPEAL IDEA IS GROWING

Weakness of Statute Is Failure to Deal Drastically With Habitual.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—"The parole law is a humbug. It is unfair to a law-abiding community and to the police. For a long time I have been inclined to consider it a joker incorporated in the statutes at the behest of sociologists and sentimentalists. I think it is about time for the public to wake up to the serious situation that the protection of life and property to which they are entitled is minimized by the operations of this perverse legislation."

In the foregoing sentences Assistant Chief Schuettler reached the climax of a denunciation of the parole law which he voiced when discussing the discovery that

Thomas Jennings, the negro convicted of murder on the evidence of finger prints, was a twice paroled convict of Joliet.

Mr. Schuettler declared that the most desperate criminals in Chicago's recent history were under parole when they reached the climax of their terrorizing careers.

"The long series of appalling holdups in this city date back no farther than the unfortunate hour when the parole law was passed," said Mr. Schuettler.

"Red-Top" Sullivan of the Long and the Short Man team was a convict who, under the parole system, had been turned loose upon this law-abiding community. In short, my recollection is that practically every holdup and every burglary that was attended with loss of innocent lives has been traced, or could be traced, to convicts out on parole.

SENTIMENT BLAMED FOR CRIME.

"A lot of sentimentalists and sociologists, who wanted to have their names in the papers for uplift work, had the parole law placed on the statute books. But it has proved a delusion. Its sponsors have never been able to prove that it is a genuine reform. They will say it has effected wonderful reforms, but when you investigate their claims, as I have, you will be as convinced as I am that the law is a fraud. It nullifies the work of the police. It minimizes and weakens the good effects from wholesome fear of punishment. The only thing that has a real tendency to reform a bad man is the fear of long-term imprisonment.

"The Board of Pardons, sitting in burglar-proof offices at Joliet or Springfield, does not hear the witnesses upon whose testimony the prison convicts are obtained. The convicts whom they pardon are artful, hypocritical fellows, who have intelligence enough to pretend that they are reformed, when they are simply so many cunning wild beasts, straining for a chance to prey again upon the community that feeds them, but in self-defense has deprived them of their liberty.

"Under the old laws, in force before 1905, we were able to deal effectively with released convicts. Whenever we found a revolver, some other deadly weapon or chloroform in their possession we were able to send them back to Joliet for twenty years without trial or expense to the community. That statute caused the habitual criminals to give Chicago a wide berth and was the most powerful means of protection for the public."

"Do you expect to see the parole law repealed?" was asked.

"As it is the worst kind of a joke on the community it ought to be repealed, but we probably will have to suffer many more bloody object lessons before the theorists who laud the parole system will be ready to confess that it is the miserable failure that it is."

Capt. P. W. Evans, head of the Bureau of Identification, said:

"The parole law is weak in one spot—where it fails to deal drastically with the habitual criminal, especially in regard to the crimes of violence known as holdups and burglaries. There should be a legal provision requiring the Board of Pardons to lengthen, not shorten, the terms of prisoners who already have served terms for burglary or highway robbery. Another flaw in the parole law is the unlimited power it vests in the Governor. Under the present system the Board of Pardons can be ruled absolutely by the Governor, if the latter is so inclined. That feature of the law ought to be eliminated. The board should comprise two Republicans and two Democrats, and its decisions should be final and irrevocable. With those exceptions the parole is a good measure. It is the outgrowth of the modern tendency to consider it the duty of society to reform rather than punish criminals."

Capt. Stephen D. Wood of the Detective Bureau said:

"All I care to say about the parole law is that I have a very poor opinion of it."

My dear Sir:

I have your favor of November 29 with the clipping. Of course, our Assistant Police Chief was excited when he had that interview, at least the report gives that impression. The paragraphs overlook several well-known facts.

(1) That there was a wave of crime, as it is called, and many of them, before 1895, when the parole law was introduced, worse perhaps than anything we have had since. (2) That the parole law has actually lengthened the sentences on the average, which is ignored in this alleged interview. (3) The parole law has never had a fair chance in Illinois, because there is no adequate machinery of parole officers to watch over the men who are out on trial, and they need very careful watching in a big city like Chicago. You have no such conditions in Indiana to contend with as we have here. I presume the occasional causes of bad conduct have infuriated the policemen and the prosecuting attorneys, and ~~unless~~ we can get a better law I am afraid we shall lose it altogether. Captain Evans, however, knows as much about the working of the parole law as the policemen, perhaps in some respects, more and he continues to be favorable to it. He is neither a sociolo-

Dear Sir:-

Upon my return I find a circular letter from the National Committee on Prison Labor, accompanying a paper on "The Importance of the Prison Labor Problem", which is marked: "Submitted to the International Prison Congress, assembled at Washington, Oct. 2-8, 1910".

I wonder whether you have seen this publication and letter. The latter still carries your name as a member of General Committee. On page 2 it states:

"The National Committee on Prison Labor have pointed clearly to a direct and vital relationship between prison labor and the spread of tuberculosis, between prison labor and dependency, unemployment, a degraded standard of living and many other marked phenomena of social pathology."

"Clearly, then, those who are entrusted by society with the charge of this imprisoned army of industry dare not evade the great responsibility which it entails. Yet, so far as this committee is aware, no adequate studies have yet been made, nor are any being made today, of even one of the many serious consequences of the mal-adjustment of prison industry to outside industry. The National Committee on Prison Labor therefore proposes that the following resolution be adopted by the International Prison Congress. X X X "

"This Committee shall co-operate with federal and state bureaus of labor. It shall present a report to the next international congress, in the meantime publishing, tentatively, such findings as may be developed in the course of the investigation."

The ignorance of the methods and purposes of the International Prison Congress is only surpassed by the assurance in those proposing this. Of course this paper was not presented nor were the resolutions proposed at the International Prison Congress. They could not have been, as you know. But it appears to me to be a shrewd scheme, the effect of which will be the same if it is used skillfully by the committee, as if they had been heard. Most of the people in this country will not know to the contrary. Inasmuch as you are on the General Committee of one organization and the President of the other, it could be made the more plausible. Why not say something about Louisville and let the members have an opportunity to see their new jail, the juvenile court and possibly some other things? I think our southern friends would appreciate that.

In the letters received it was stated the visit to Indiana State Prison at Michigan City was omitted. It is in the manuscript. Which is correct?

The dates in the itinerary are confusing. For instance, in reference to leaving Chicago Monday night and afterwards changed to Sunday night. Tuesday, the 28th (doubtless 27th) is given for Indianapolis. After the visit to Jeffersonville and Louisville, the manuscript says "On the evening of Thursday train will proceed" etc. Should that not be Wednesday?

Very truly yours,

Amos Butler.

Indiana Boys' School:

The Indiana Boys' School is located at Plainfield, on the Indianapolis, Terre Haute and Eastern Traction line, and Vandalia Railroad, sixteen miles from Indianapolis, on a tract of 527-7/8 acres. This is a State farm and industrial school, not walled, built upon the cottage plan, having both central kitchen and congregate dining room and cottage dining room and kitchen. In the industrial departments are taught woodworking, tinsmithing, blacksmithing, shoemaking, carpentry, tailoring, printing, dairying, horticulture and agriculture.

The School receives boys committed for crime from eight to sixteen years of age and for incorrigibility from ten to seventeen years, no commitment being for a shorter period than until the boy attains the age of twenty-one years; subject to release by the board whenever it deems it for the best interest of the boy to do so. The released boys are under the supervision of agents.

AMERICAN PRISON ASSOCIATION
PRES. AMOS W. BUTLER, INDIANAPOLIS
SECY. JOSEPH P. BYERS, NEW YORK

Indianapolis, Ind.

October 18, 1910.

Dr. Charles R. Henderson,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Dr. Henderson:-

Now that the tour and the meetings are over, I want to have the privilege of telling you how much we all enjoyed it. How successful the whole thing was and how glad I am that you were president and had everything move so well and reach such a successful conclusion. It was a great meeting, not in numbers but in actions, in consequences. Only time can tell the great and continuing effect of the action taken here. I do not believe any of us begin to comprehend it and we may not for ten or twenty years to come. Congratulations on it all and thanks for your many kindnesses.

Mrs. Butler and Anne join me in best wishes to Mrs. Henderson and yourself.

Very truly yours,

Amos W. Butler
