Dear Dr. Henderson:-

I have not heretofore had opportunity to reply to your two letters, one dated July 11, in which you state you are anxious to hear of my willingness to accept the position of secretary tendered me by the sub-committee of the American Prison Association.

The proposition that Mr. Glenn has made for his committee is, briefly, that I accept the secretaryship, to begin possibly Sept. 1, 1909, and continue until the details concluding the Prison Congress next fall are closed, which he thinks will run a month after the meeting; the salary to be $5,000 a year and necessary expenses. The way here seems to be opening if that seems the desirable thing to do.

You ask me to suggest plans. That will be difficult until the subject has been gone over with you. I have some knowledge of the work of the International Tuberculosis Congress and of the preliminary plans of the International Congress on Hygiene and Demography. Mr. Glenn knows more about both of these than I do and I am sure has good ideas of what should be done and when the different steps needed should be undertaken. I think we should profit all we can by the experience of the officers of these two organizations.

It seems to me that the time is ripe to begin work actively. Much needs to be done in the way of publicity and of interesting the governors and other officials and prominent persons in various lines who should attend or assist in making the meeting a success. All this is slow work and means repeated and persistent efforts. I should say that in addition to this preliminary publicity the general plans should be worked out between this and the first of the year. From that on there will be much to do in elaborating and specializing them in the direction of details. You know so well the customs of a conference, what needs to be done abroad, correspondence with the different members, delegates and foreign governments and all that phase of the work that I am sure I could offer no suggestion. However, we can talk these things over better than we can write.

Several of us who have had experience in conferences insisted at Buffalo that the American organization ought to be begun and pushed. To Mr. Glenn and Mr. Mills and their committee were assigned various preliminary arrangements, including the selection of a secretary. The committee of which I was made chairman was assigned the duty of selecting names for an American committee of possibly 100 or 150 members. Duties were given to some other persons. I hope you will think we did wisely in these matters. At any rate we acted in accordance with our best judgment of what would be helpful to the Commissioner and the success of the Inter-

Dear Dr. Henderson:-

I am in receipt of your letter of June 13th and I am very glad to hear from you. We had a meeting on the 10th of the Executive Committee of the American Prison Association to work up the meeting at Seattle and had a report from Mr. Byers, who had been to that city to attend to preliminary arrangements. On the 11th we had a meeting, largely attended by members of the committee on the International Prison Congress, and selected Mr. Mills, as you know, to go to Paris and meet you and inform you of what action had been taken and what it was desired to know in order to be helpful in carrying forward the plans for the International Congress. He will give you all of that and I have no doubt will explain to you many of the difficulties that various members seem to have in mind.

Dear Sir:--

I am in receipt of your letter of the 18th inst. regarding exhibits. I think that would be a good idea.

May I inquire about the English reprints of the abstracts of papers for the International Prison Congress? I have only received a few copies. Who is attending to the distribution of them? I hate to trouble you about this but I should like to have them as they come out.

I notice in regard to the program of the International Prison Congress a request for discussion of jail plans. How would it do to invite a half dozen or more states to bring two or three sets of jail plans for exhibition at the Congress, representing a small, medium size and large jail.

I have your kind favor of June 15. No arrangements have yet been made for exhibits at the Congress at Washington, but I want to take up the matter now that we are certain of having the National Museum and make inquiries. I am in receipt of your letter of June 7th and I am pleased to note your approval of the changes indicated. I thank you very much for your kind words regarding what I have written on this subject.

We had a very pleasant call from Dr. Wines the other day. He came to the office and was also at our home. I think he does not look very hopefully upon the future of a supervisory board in Illinois and is not inclined to co-operate with the Prison Association or the National Conference of Charities. He expressed a doubt whether he should attend the International Prison Congress. I expressed the hope that he would think it over carefully and ^{conclude to} would do so.

Dear Sir:--

I have your letter of May 30th. I have the galley proof of my article on "The Released Prisoner" before me. I should prefer to escape the editorial note to which you refer. I am willing to have substantially your editorial reference given in parenthesis in the body of the paper as my own, using same type I do, or to say something equivalent. Or how would it do to add the following after the word "under":

"The socalled 'indeterminate sentence'. The better name for it perhaps is 'indefinite' in distinction from the 'definite' sentence still in use in many states".

We, in this country, I think, generally know the facts and the meaning. I send this to you with Mss. and you can forward to Mr. Glenn.

There is one slight change in what you have said that ought to be made - the phrase "but modified by some state authority in accordance with the conduct of the prisoner". That ought to be "modified by some state authority when the prisoner has complied with certain prescribed rules". The prisoner's conduct, as you know, does not entitle him to release. The theory, to use Mr. Brockway's statement, is that "he shall have conducted himself properly, secured the confidence of the Board and it shall not be contrary to public sense in the community from which he was sent that he should be released". In other words, that he shall have kept all the rules implied in the three things above.

I had caught the word "acquisitiveness" but "economy" does not exactly carry the idea I had in mind. I mean earning and saving, so I shall insert instead of "acquisitiveness" the following:

"to save something of their earnings".

I have added the following at the close of the first paragraph of the conclusion:

"Paroles of prisoners under definite sentences are granted as a matter of clemency by the executive or board of pardons; or special legislative authority to grant such paroles may be given the parole board of the institution. This was the case in Indiana when the provisions of the indeterminate sentence law were applied to prisoners who before had been sentenced for definite terms".

My dear Sir:

I have your esteemed favor of June 6 and the galley proofs of your article on the Released Prisoner. I accept your changes, and have written on the margin to that effect. They cover the ground. I have felt obliged to make this suggestion in one of two other cases for two reasons: (1) Because I find among intelligent people of my acquaintance, even among lawyers and judges, an utter misconception of the whole system because of the word "indeterminate", and "indefinite" is almost as bad. Both need explanation outside of the somewhat limited circle of persons who have come under the influence of the American Prison Association. The second reason is very urgent. I have been reading the reports of the European critics of our system, and I find these reports are frequently based on an utter misunderstanding of what we are about, and that this misunderstanding is greatly increased by our use of the word "indeterminate", or "indefinite". They misunderstand both the actual situation and our ultimate purpose, and it will take a great deal of explanation to make the situation clear to them. It is easier to explain the matter to prison men than to lawyers

Dear Sir:-

I have your letter of May 26th enclosing a list of delegates to the International Prison Congress reported to the Department of State to May 24, 1910. I thank you very much therefor. It is lacking much yet I see of being complete.

I am very glad to know that the Congress promises to be so large and hope it will in every other way be a decided success.

In checking over the list I observe, not counting the United States, there are 40 nations mentioned on your list. Some of them I notice (among them the Transvaal) are marked "doubtful". The Transvaal was given on the first list you sent. Some countries are marked "no delegate", as Denmark, Bulgaria, Portugal, Roumania. Does that mean they will not be represented or that no delegate has been thus far named? Other countries it is indicated will name delegates later.

You say the German Empire will be invited by states. My understanding was there were four sub-divisions of the German Empire represented in the Commission.

My dear Sir:

I have your esteemed favor of June 1st, inquiring about the foreign delegates, and I am returning you your list with explanations, which I think will make all perfectly clear.

In the list sent you where it is stated "No delegate", it means that the government of that country has announced to our Department of State that it will not appoint any delegate. However, I shall not rest at that, but will suggest to our Department of State that it request every government at least to appoint some member of their Legation at Washington to represent them in the Congress, as some countries you notice, have already done.

Where the government has accepted the invitation of our government I have marked it "Delegates yet to be named". These names are coming from time to time.

Our government has indeed suggested to the German Imperial authorities that they invite the various states of Germany to send delegates, but I have not yet received information as to the results of that suggestion. Only two of the states, Bavaria and Baden, have thus far representatives in the International Prison Commission itself, not four as you suggest. Where did you get the idea that there were four? The International Criminalistic Society has just officially notified me that Dr. Rosenfeld, their Secretary, will represent that Society. As he lives in Berlin he will thus far, though not officially, represent Germany, and he is making efforts, along with our Ambassador Dr. Hill, to secure other representatives from Germany. I did hope to have von Engelberg, who is a choice spirit and a very able man, but he writes me that sickness in his family makes it impossible for him to come, although at Paris he told me that he surely would come. This is a serious loss to us, but Rosenfeld, and perhaps Freudenthal, will be strong representatives, and we may hope for others. I am using all proper means to get a good representation from Germany.

I have already answered your question about Bulgaria, Servia and Denmark in what I have said.

Mr. Mills evidently has learned since my last information that two more delegates have been named from France and two from Holland as he happened to be just now in these countries.

In regard to the payment of $5.00 membership dues for the International Prison Congress, I have done everything in my power both at Seattle and since to make this perfectly plain. The Regulations, of which I have sent out more than 1,000, make it perfectly clear to anyone who reads them. It would not be right to give the impression that people must be members of the American Prison Association in order to become members of the International Prison Congress, and I hope that false impression will not get out.

I thank you for your kind offer to send me 500 copies of the English handbook. It is really a neat piece of work, and will be very helpful in giving information. The two or three defects which I noticed were not serious enough to cause trouble..

JOSEPH F. DODD, SECRETARY
NEW YORK CITY
TREASURER
FREDERICK H. MILES, 27 NASSAU ST.
NEW YORK CITY

Prof. Charles R. Henderson,

Dear Sir:-

I am sending you a copy of the Handbook just issued from the Indiana Reformatory Press. I want particularly to ask you about the list of names beginning on page one. Will you kindly correct it to date and report at your early convenience?

With best wishes, I am

Very truly yours,

President.

Mr. A. W. Butler, President
American Prison Association,
Indianapolis, Ind.

My dear Friend:

I have received a copy of the Handbook issued from the Indiana Reformatory press. It is full of interesting matter. In my copy pages 1 and 2 are repeated with their lists.

The list of foreign delegates, members of the Commission, have not been changed yet; at least I have no official information from the Secretary to that effect. I am sending, you, however, a list of all the delegates announced to me either by the Department of State, or directly from the Commissioners of the different countries. You will see from this that the Congress this year promises to be the largest in numbers, and certainly the most widely representative of any congress ever held. I am sure you will share my gratification at this. Our funds for entertainment will be taxed to the last cent, and probably we shall have to raise a little more to make up a possible deficit, but that is in sight.

Please note on page 8 of the Handbook that the "co-rapporteurs" or orators are incomplete. I have been able since sending you the former list to fill up all except four: question 3 of Section 2, and question 4 of Section 3, and questions 3 and 4 of Section 4. I have written a large number of letters, but have thus far not met with success. Of course I shall continue to seek for the right persons. There is yet time. If America cannot furnish them I shall make other plans, but I hope for our honor that we shall be able to fill the appointments from among our own people.

I heard at St. Louis that you were not very well, but I hope this letter will find you improved. I beg you to spare yourself.

Yours cordially,

CRH/W

Enclosure.

P.S.

Perhaps it would be well to send a copy of the English Guide to all the foreign delegates, as they probably can at least read English. Do you wish me to mail them for you? If, so please have sent to me 100 copies.
