My Dear Sir:

I have just discovered your letter of October 27th. It got mixed up with other matter just after the Congress and I must apologize to you most humbly for the seeming neglect.

You asked me in this letter for a set of the bulletins (Livraisons). I will send your request to Mr. F. J. Mills, 97 Warren Street, New York City. Every subscriber of twenty-five francs is entitled to a set. Owing to some misunderstanding of the secretary there was some delay but I will follow up your request.

Yours cordially,

Honored Sir:

The delegates from all civilized countries to the International Prison Congress will go on an excursion from New York to Chicago, via Indianapolis, Louisville and Richmond, back to Washington, September 18 to September 29 of this year. There will be nearly one hundred distinguished men from all parts of the world, Europe, Asia, Africa, South America and Central America. With them will come Americans and Canadians, members of the American Prison Association, at their own expense. The expenses of the excursion are paid by a fund provided by Congress, except the expenses where they stop, as they will do in Chicago, from the morning of Friday, September 23rd to the night of Sunday, September 25th. We must entertain them in Chicago, where they will remain long enough to inspect the correctional institutions of our state. In New York, Ohio and Indiana the Governor is arranging to greet them and show them the courtesies of the state administration. This will be true also probably at Louisville and Richmond.

Dear Sir:

As I have already informed you, the foreign delegates to the International Prison Congress will be in Chicago on their tour of inspection of correctional institutions September 23, 24 and 25. The banquet given by the Association of Commerce will be on Friday evening, September 23. It will be necessary to send about one-half of the delegates to Geneva and St. Charles on Friday, and the other half to Joliet. Saturday will be given up to seeing the institutions in Chicago in automobiles provided by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

I write to ask whether you can provide the expenses on the trips to these state institutions out of some contingent fund, or if not, whether your office might not secure free transportation for the state's guests on the Northwestern Railway and on one of the roads to Joliet. The fund placed at my disposal by Congress pays the expenses on the regular route, but is not adequate for local entertainment. In New York the Prison Board has contributed a large sum for local entertainment and for visiting the institutions. I hope the same thing

Dr. Charles R. Henderson,
President of the International
Prison Congress of 1910.

My dear friend:

Many of our citizens regret that the route selected for the trip tendered to our foreign guests did not include Springfield. No doubt some of them will wish to see the tomb of Lincoln. Possibly some might prefer to give a day to visiting it, rather than to the inspection of one more prison or reformatory institution. However this may be, we feel it to be due to ourselves and to the memory of Mr. Lincoln that we should invite them to do so, if there are any such. I accordingly enclose formal notes of invitation signed by the governor, mayor and the secretary of the chamber of commerce. Will you do us the favor to present them? A declination will not be the cause of any offence or disappointment to us; but we hope that there may be a few who will accept. If so, we should have immediate notice,

My Dear Colleague:

I send you herewith a copy of a letter from Dr. Zacher which explains itself. I wish you could take this matter up with Professor Seager, the Russell Sage Foundation and the National Civic Federation people and see what hope there is of getting this great work quickly and thoroughly done. I do not think anything better could be done to help our movement for social insurance in the United States.

At Dr. Zacher's request I am also sending a copy to Mr. John Graham Brooks.

I need several "co-rapporteurs" for the International Prison Congress. It is the duty of this officer to read the French papers on one of the questions before the Congress, and prepare a resolution or resolutions embodying the decision and bring this resolution, with a summary of the papers, before a section of the Congress and conduct the discussion. It is necessary to read French quite well, but not necessary to speak or compose in French, as we shall have interpreters. Will you accept one of the questions? If so, I will appoint you and send the French papers to you as soon as they come to hand.
