President Harry Pratt Judson.

The University of Chicago.

Dear Sir: Your address of welcome to The Central Association of Science and Mathematics Teachers held last November at the University of Chicago contained so many suggestions of value to science and mathematics teachers that the Association desires to publish it in the volume of Proceedings now in preparation. We have had our stenographer transcribe a copy which I submit for your correction and approval before publication.

May I request a prompt return of the manuscript.

Very truly yours.

James H. Smith.
