Berkeley, October 12, 1914.

My dear Mr. Robertson:

Professor Houston has just advised me over the telephone of your telegram saying that President Judson must be in New York early Wednesday morning, the twenty-first. The Mongolia is due here Thursday noon, but it is doubtful if the passengers will be able to dock before evening, and we could not make arrangements for a dinner before Friday night, and as this would perhaps make it impossible for President Judson to keep his New York engagement, we have reluctantly called the dinner off. There has been a fine response from the Alumni, and had not the Mongolia been delayed I believe we would have had a delightful dinner. Some of us will go over and meet President Judson on the Mongolia when she arrives, and I am writing to the Collector of the Port asking that the passage of the baggage of President and Mrs. Judson be expedited.

Faithfully yours,

David B. Barrows

My dear President Judson. -

I have very carefully considered your offer since arriving here four days ago. It would not appear to be right for me to leave or consider leaving here at once. Prof. Elliott, on my recommendation, has been given a year's leave, Dr. Ehrlich is considering devoting this coming year to editorial and critical work at Oxford with Prof. Vinogradoff, Dr. Douglas is still at Washington; a real effort must be made to get the Dept. reorganized and at its old tasks, and I feel I should do this before considering a departure. It may be that by Christmas I shall feel that my duty is discharged, and should you not have found other action necessary before that date, your invitation may find me very appreciative and eager then. I shall take the liberty of writing

My dear President Wilson -- I have very carefully considered your offer
since receiving it four days ago. It would not appear to be right for me to leave a committee leaving it at once.
Prof. Elliott, on my recommendation, has been given a special leave,
to which is concerning drafting this evening upon the editorial and critical work at Oxford with Prof. Thompson. Mr. Boulton is still at Washington; a real effort

Dear President Judson:

The Board of Regents this week appointed me President of this University. I am happy to state that their tender of the responsibility was made in the most kindly and gracious way and at the unanimous desire of the entire Board. It was their desire that I assume the responsibilities of the position at once, and I am already installed. You were so very kind to me as to express the desire of keeping open the position in the University of Chicago which you tendered me last June,-- an act of consideration which I shall never cease to appreciate. It becomes me then at once to advise you of my acceptance of this new position. Your kindness and confidence last June came to me in such a way and at such a time as to greatly help and encourage me. It would have been in many ways a great satisfaction and a great opportunity to have come to you at Chicago. The University of Chicago and this place here are the only institutions in which I have the feeling that I could ever be thoroughly at home.

With constant best wishes, I am,

Faithfully and gratefully yours,

David P. Barrows

Dear President Barrows:

Your favor of the 5th is received. I congratulate you on your election to the presidency of the University of California and I still more heartily congratulate the University of California. I should have been highly gratified if circumstances had been such that we could have renewed our discussion of the appointment here. I had several large things in mind beyond the preliminary talk we had, but of course those matters must be laid away now. I am glad you have the opportunity of doing the great work I can see for you in Berkeley and we shall always feel a warm interest in your success.

Mrs. Judson joins with me in sending cordial regards,

Very truly yours,

President David P. Barrows,
The University of California,
Berkeley, California.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA
OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Berkeley, California,
February Fifth, 1923.

Dear President Judson:

I appreciate your telegram of February third and I appreciated your earlier letter.

The appointment of Dr. Campbell to succeed me here is a great gratification to me and I believe that not only will I find this a continuing agreeable place to work, but that in a sense I should remain here from other considerations than those of personal preference. I shall always be grateful for your interest which led you to hold open for me so long a position at the University of Chicago.

May I congratulate you most heartily upon the great service that you have performed for the University of Chicago and the wonderful way in which you have borne its burdens right up to the end. I wish you the happiest sense of freedom in terminating a service that has been so splendid and so honorable.

Faithfully yours,
