Dear Mr. Judson:-

You probably have received formal invitation to dinner Wednesday evening, December 1, at which time will be presented the report of the Committee on Investigation of Smoke Abatement and Electrification of Railway Terminals, but I want to add my personal urgency that you attend.

The Committee has been engaged in a great work to which it has devoted itself unsparingly and I know you will agree with me that the great service it has rendered to our city should be recognized by a large gathering of our very best men upon the occasion of the presentation of its report.

I hope you will surely come and urge your friends also to come.

Dear Dr. Judson:

Last year the University of Chicago joined in a general movement to observe the third day of December as Illinois Day.

I believe on that occasion your own and a number of other institutions of learning in the State, devoted some portion of the day to special Illinois Day exercises.

The movement last year was, we feel, well worth while. Approximately fifty cities of the State joined in some manner in the observance of this day. In view of the approaching Illinois Centennial, it seems most desirable that this observance be continued and that it culminate in a big celebration on December 3, 1918.

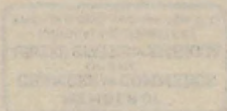

The Governor of Illinois has again been asked by the commercial organizations of the State to issue an Illinois Day proclamation. A large number of these commercial organizations have already signified their intention of again cooperating in the movement, securing general observance in their respective localities.

The cooperation of the University of Chicago is greatly desired, and we shall hope to receive your advices that you are planning appropriate exercises on Illinois Day, the anniversary of the admission of Illinois as a State.

Very sincerely yours,

B. E. Gage

Chairman, Illinois Committee.

Your favor of the 22d of November was duly received. We held exercises last year on Illinois Day, but I must frankly say that the attendance was not very large, and it hardly seems advisable to provide a special program again. Of course on occasion of the Centennial there will be no difficulty in giving particular attention to the celebration.

Dear Dr. Judson:-

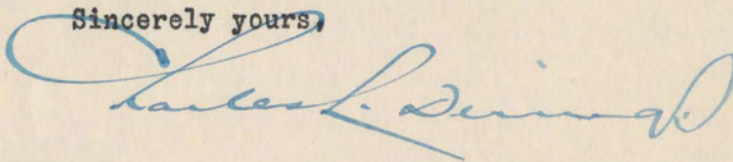

New Year's Eve I am going to fill a big "bumper" and I will raise it high - and I shall think a whole lot of things that I do not know how to say to you - and I shall drain the glass to the last drop and set it back on the table with a "God bless 'em," and that will mean you and you - every one of you on your committee.

We have done a lot in the last year and we have done it by "pulling together." It's just the same, fine, loyal spirit that the Association gets from all its committees so we can set no special "basket and store" by what we have done, but it is the sort of thing that comes from working together and knowing each other well - it's the sort of thing that comes out of mutual respect and regard, and may I add, affection.

For the part that each and every one of you has borne I want to thank you. Whatever measure of success the Association has attained in its work is due to the effort and the loyalty of every "man jack" of you.

Here's a Happy New Year to you - here's hoping that your cup of happiness may be just as full and overflowing as that bumper I shall pledge you in.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Judson: for your suggestion, but we have no occasion

The vocational education law passed by the last Congress provides for the duplication by the Federal Government of any appropriation by a State for this purpose, the aim being to accomplish for the shop, the office, and the factory what the Smith-Lever law is doing for the farm. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, representing a membership of 385,000, focused the sentiment that passed the law.

The best facilities for business and commercial training will hereafter form a feature of "The Nation's Business," as being appropriate to the interests of this large membership which it reaches through their Club rooms, as well as of its 25,000 individual subscribers. But that is not all.

Foreign students in the United States are estimated to number nine thousand. Every one of our 386 consulates has a file of "The Nation's Business" and thus through this medium you can reach inquiring students in all parts of the world. Our trade relations with foreign countries wax daily more intimate. Haven't you a part in placing them on a durable basis?

All institutions with schools of commerce are being asked to enter this domestic and foreign field through the May issue of "The Nation's Business." Please check the space you desire on the return postal enclosed and mail it at once. We will be glad to prepare your copy and submit it to you on receipt of material, if it is desired.

Very truly yours,

Editor.

February 20, 1925

Mr. N. C. Plimpton
Faculty Exchange

My dear Mr. Plimpton:

It is my understanding that the Chicago Association of Commerce is to provide a fund of $1800. to be used in connection with the Continuation School Survey they have proposed. Fifteen hundred dollars of this amount is to go to Mr. Layton S. Hawkins in return for his service in connection with the study. The remaining $300. is to cover the cost of supplies, and also to provide nominal clerical or stenographic services, if needed. Since the initial payment of $600. represents one-third of the total amount, I suggest that $100. be set aside to cover miscellaneous expenditures and that the additional $500. be used for payment to Mr. Hawkins.

Unfortunately, there has been some confusion in the matter of Mr. Hawkins' appointment, in that correspondence which went forward through Dr. Judd's office early in December has not been located in the President's office. Duplicate material is now being presented and I trust it will be possible to complete Mr. Hawkins' appointment at an early date. In our earlier proposal, Mr. Hawkins was to receive the $1500. in six equal payments beginning with January 1 and closing with June 1. Because of the delay to which the arrangement has been subjected, the first payment should be made on March 1 rather than January 1 and the last payment should be made on August 1.

I suggest that the $300. supplies and miscellaneous item be expended subject to requisition by Dr. Judd or by myself and that the fund be designated Chicago Association of Commerce Survey Fund. Miss Bloom should carry the account.

Very truly yours,

Dean

Mr. W. C. Plimpton
Faculty Exchange

My dear Mr. Plimpton:

It is my understanding that the Chicago Association of Commerce is to provide a fund of $1800. to be used in connection with the Continuation School Survey they have proposed. Fifteen hundred dollars of this amount is to go to Mr. Layton S. Hawkins in return for his service in connection with the study. The remaining $300. is to cover the cost of supplies, and also to provide nominal clerical or stenographic services, if needed. Since the initial payment of $600. represents one-third of the total amount, I suggest that $100. be set aside to cover miscellaneous expenditures and that the additional $500. be used for payment to Mr. Hawkins.

Unfortunately, there has been some confusion in the matter of Mr. Hawkins' appointment. In that correspondence which went forward through Dr. Judd's office early in December has not been located in the President's office. Duplicate material is now being presented and I trust it will be possible to complete Mr. Hawkins' appointment at an early date. In our earlier proposal, Mr. Hawkins was to receive the $1800. in six equal payments beginning with January 1 and closing with June 1. Because of the delay to which the arrangement has been subjected, the first payment should be made on March 1 rather than January 1 and the last payment should be made on August 1.

I suggest that the $300. supplies and miscellaneous item be expended subject to requisition by Dr. Judd or by myself and that the fund be designated Chicago Association of Commerce Survey Fund. This item should carry the account.

Very truly yours,

Dean

The Fountain of Time, shown on the frontispiece, is the work of Lorado Taft of Chicago and is a fragment of a comprehensive scheme for the decoration of the "Midway" connecting Jackson and Washington Parks. The group shows the human procession passing in review before the great immovable figure of Time. It stands at the west end of the "Midway" the site of the Midway Plaisance, a part of the famous Chicago World's Fair.
