My dear President Harper:-

I had already some notes from Mr. Fiske in the same tenor as this note written to you. I am sorry he still gives me credit for having made the decision against him, because I tried to impress upon him the fact that it was because he was not already employed at the University.

I confess he is one of the hardest men I have ever found about whom to form a just judgment. In so many ways it would seem he is a well prepared, agreeable, and sufficiently strong man to be a good instructor; he has some ability as a writer, though I do not at all agree that it is considerable.

But there is something weak about the man. There is a certain lack of effective seriousness about him; he is a bit effeminate, and even simpering. I miss in him a tone of manliness and determination to make his own way in the world, not to beg and conciliate, and especially I miss a vigorous body of plans for making and keeping an important place in the educational world. I have told him several times that I think he makes a mistake in hanging on to the University. He does not like the rough and tumble of school work and is planning to get just enough work in town to do to enable him to live so that he may go on writing. This reduces him to the necessity of taking those exceptional and secondary places around schools which lead men to suspect him of inability. I hope I have not misjudged him in this matter, and have myself written him such letters as I could. My judgment, from talking with him and his students is that, while he has not made a failure of his work, it has not been a pronounced success; such, for example, as would compel you to listen to his claims for a place on our staff.

Wm R. Harper,

President of Chicago Univ. City,

Dear Mr. Harper:—

As an alumnus of the University I wish to perpetuate or assist in perpetuating the University College, where I have attended since Mrs. Blaine founded the institution. I have a plan of submitting a Memorial of Thanks to the public school teachers for their signatures as a testimonial to Mrs. Blaine of our appreciation of her wise and generous philanthropy.

The matter is now in shape to submit to you for your approval. I herewith inclose the form of the memorial with the signatures of teachers representing five high schools.

The memorial is to go forth as if originating with these teachers who have ^{this} given me permission to use their names.

I have talked with Mr. MacCheslock about the matter and he proposed that it be referred to you. Our object is two-fold, to render due gratitude, ^{and} to hope that Mrs. Blaine will further provide for the institution which she founded, when she sees how much her former donation was appreciated by the public school teachers.

It is further proposed that the University College pay the expense of printing 500 copies of the inclosed memorial ^{and} pay postage ^{and} return postage, etc. - of mailing one copy to each principal in the city schools. I think if you approve of the plan that the form of the memorial could be improved by printing the names of the six teachers who have signed together with the names of the schools they represent directly after the second item in which all are requested to sign and have the memorial paper follow. Being personally acquainted with so many teachers who have attended at the University College, I might be of some assistance in suggesting the names of teachers in many schools who would use their good offices in encouraging the matter which I anticipate will meet with a popular response. I think there is no need of suggesting that there should be no indication whatever that the University is interested even by letter head or printing mark. Please write me.

My dear Miss Skora:-

Your favor of the 16th inst. is received. Very careful consideration was given to the matter before the decision was made to transfer the work heretofore conducted in the Fine Arts Building down town to one of our buildings in the quadrangle. We are proposing to carry on the work in all the departments in which it has been carried on heretofore, but in Emmons Blaine Hall which is only three blocks from the Illinois Central on the one hand and from the 61st Street electric line on the other. This last line connects with the South Side elevated and with all the north and south surface lines. the Fine Arts Building can reach the Emmons Blaine Hall with a little additional time. Even those who come from a greater distance need only fifteen minutes longer on the Illinois Central in the day time and early evening in order to reach the place.

It is no longer practicable for us to carry on the work in the office building where we had it, but at the same time we are anxious that all the teachers who can shall be accommodated in the new place. The second term of the summer quarter begins July 27th and ends by the first of September and should offer an opening interests have been so seriously

Many of us who for years thought of a college education to realize that the benefits of a higher education were made possible for us. In many cases with considerable sacrifice we

as to complete the required work for a degree, others who myself are only part way through and see no way of completing if as is reported, the University College is to be discontinued.
It is not possible for us to take the time from our work to study at the University and it seems but just to us that some arrangement be made by which we can complete our courses under the conditions which prevailed when we began them.

Of course the transfer of the classes from the Fine Arts Building to the Quadrangles makes it difficult for them to be reached from the extreme North and Northwest sides, on the other hand the convenience of access by the Illinois Central and the Elst Street cross town line is such that the work is easily accessible for teachers on the South and Southwest sides.

Changes in the regulations of the School Board also may make it still more desirable for teachers to attend these classes. It is therefore possible that there may be a reasonable number of classes formed, and

My dear Mr. Judson:

An effort is being made in this place to establish a Union Church. It is a country community of rather unusual people - in a new fruit region - just being developed across the Columbia river from Hood River. Although there are thinking men ~~and~~ women here, yet there seems to be needed some more definite conviction enforced of the real principles involved. It is felt, in such a place as this, it would be a sin to let a number of rival denominations spring into existence. There is to be a mass meeting to discuss the situation three weeks from today, I am wishing for a message on Christian unity from one leading man in several different denominations. You see we are Baptists, Methodists, Disciples &c.

May we not have at least a word from you? I hesitate to trespass on your time, but just the same, I want the expression.

Dear Mr. Hedrick:-

Your favor of the 12th inst. is received. I am greatly interested in the situation as it appears to exist in Underwood. Under the circumstances, as you point them out, it would seem to me by all means the best possible thing to form a union church. Few things are more pathetic to my mind than the splitting up of the interests of Christian people in small communities by the forming of little, struggling bodies which cannot have a great future, and which tend to impede rather than to aid the common cause. There are so many things Christian peoples have together that it seems to me that the pressing need of to-day is to emphasize those things, leaving to each individual his right of private judgment on the matters of difference.

With best regards, I am,

Professor J. H. Tufts,

My dear Professor Tufts:

Attached is correspondence covering change in matriculation fee for University College students as operative at the beginning of the Autumn Quarter, 1922. Prior to this date all receipts from University College students including matriculation fees appear to have been accredited to the account of University College. Beginning with the Autumn Quarter, 1922, matriculation fees were accredited to the general University account. In addition to the actual fees so collected University College suffered an additional curtailment of funds in that an allowance of $5.00 made to teachers was deducted from the first instructional fees received. This $5.00 reduction for each new registrant has amounted during the year to approximately $2500.00, an amount which the University College budget can ill afford to lose if instructional standards are to be maintained.

The correspondence attached indicates that President Judson, Dean Butler and Mr. Plimpton were not in agreement as to the adjustment of funds here in question. May we not secure an administrative ruling on this matter which will make possible a satisfactory adjustment of this matter and relieve University College from further depletion of instructional funds? If the full matriculation fee of $10.00 is to be deducted from University College receipts, I recommend that a charge of the full amount, $10.00, be made for each matriculation. There appears to be no good reason for the continued release of teachers from the full payment of a matriculation fee.

My dear Professor Miller:

Attached is correspondence covering change in matriculation fee for University College students as operative at the beginning of the Autumn Quarter, 1933.
Prior to this date all receipts from University College students including matriculation fees appear to have been accredited to the account of University College.
Beginning with the Autumn Quarter, 1933, matriculation fees were accredited to the General University account.
In addition to the actual loss as reflected University College suffered an additional detriment of funds in that an allowance of $5.00 made to students was deducted from the first matriculation fee received.
This $5.00 reduction for each new registrant has amounted during the year to approximately $2500.00, an amount which the University College budget can ill afford to lose if matriculation standards are to be maintained.

The correspondence attached indicates that President Johnson, Dean Butler and Mr. Livingston were not in agreement as to the adjustment of funds here in question. May we not secure an administrative

Memorandum--- The Crediting of Matriculation Fees at University College

Until the current year 1922-23 students at University College ~~who are~~ ^{were} excused from paying a matriculation fee although upon our books the amount paid by the students was divided into two items, namely, (1) matriculation fee, and (2) the tuition fee less $5.00. University College received, however, in amount the total tuition fee of the student but received nothing in addition for the $5.00 matriculation fee/

With the change resulting from the raising of the matriculation fee from $5.00 to $10.00 a question has arisen from the auditor's office as to whether the entire $10.00 matriculation fee should not be credited to the general University account rather than to that of University College. If that were done University College instead of receiving an amount equivalent to the full tuition of each new registrant would suffer an actual loss of $10.00 upon the approximately 500 new matriculants of the autumn quarter, 1922. This would amount to nearly $5000.00 against University College. University College proposes that the total actual amount collected from each matriculant at University College be credited to that division of the University. For example, this would mean in the case of a new matriculant who registers for one major a collection of the amount of $25.00, that total amount to be credited to University College. This proposal has been approved by the President.

Until the current year 1922-23 students at University College ~~had~~ ^{have} been given paying a matriculation fee although upon our books the amount paid by the students was divided into two items, namely, (1) matriculation fee, and (2) the tuition fee less $5.00. University College received, however, in amount the total tuition fee of the student but received nothing in addition for the $5.00 matriculation fee.

With the change resulting from the raising of the matriculation fee from $5.00 to $10.00 a question has arisen from the auditor's office as to whether the entire $10.00 matriculation fee should not be credited to the General University account rather than to that of University College. If that were done University College instead of receiving an amount equivalent to the full tuition of each new registrant would suffer an actual loss of $10.00 upon the approximately 500 new matriculants of the autumn quarter, 1922. This would amount to nearly $5000.00 against University College. University College proposes that the total actual amount collected from each matriculant at University College be credited to that division of the University. For example, this would mean in the case of a new matriculant who registers for one major a collection of the amount of $25.00, that total amount to be credited to University College. This proposal has been approved by the President.

Memorandum for the President for possible consideration
by the Commission on Extra-mural Activities.

A few years ago it was the custom when registering students at University College to exempt teachers in the schools of Chicago and vicinity from the $5.00 matriculation fee. As a matter of book-keeping, however, it appeared that they paid the $5.00 matriculation fee and that amount was deducted from the item of their tuition. At the time of the latest change in tuition bringing the amount up to $20.00 a major and the raising of the matriculation fee from $5.00 to $10.00 it was arranged with the approval of the President that a matriculation fee of $5.00 should be charged to teachers instead of no matriculation fee as formerly. As a matter of book-keeping University College was charged with the full $10.00 matriculation fee $5.00 of which was deducted from the amount entered for tuition paid by the student. This gave actual credit to University College for ^{Tuition} only $15.00 for each major paid by students newly matriculated. I should like to recommend that it be understood that the procedure is to be precisely as it was in former years, namely, that every dollar actually paid by registrants at University College be credited to that department of the University instead of the matriculation being deducted from what these registrants pay and credited to the general University account.

Memorandum for the President for possible consideration
by the Commission on Extra-mural Activities.

A few years ago it was the custom when registering students at University College to exempt teachers in the schools of Chicago and vicinity from the $2.00 matriculation fee. As a matter of book-keeping, however, it appeared that they paid the $2.00 matriculation fee and that amount was deducted from the item of their tuition. At the time of the latest change in tuition bringing the amount up to $20.00 a major and the raising of the matriculation fee from $2.00 to $10.00 it was arranged with the approval of the President that a matriculation fee of $5.00 should be charged to teachers instead of no matriculation fee as formerly. As a matter of book-keeping University College was charged with the full $10.00 matriculation fee $5.00 of which was deducted from the amount entered for tuition paid by the student. This gave actual credit to University College for only $5.00 for each major paid by students newly matriculated. I should like to recommend that it be understood that the procedure is to be precisely as it was in former years, namely, that every dollar actually paid by registrants at University College be credited to that department of the University instead of the matriculation being deducted from what these registrants pay and credited to the General University account.

Mr. N. C. Plimpton,
Faculty Exchange.

My dear Mr. Plimpton:

I am not quite clear as to how the matter now stands in reference to the crediting of University College of the total amount which we collect for new matriculants. Until the change in the amount of matriculation fee University College received credit for the entire amount collected from each new matriculant. I remember that on the change of the matriculation fee from $5.00 to $10.00 the question was raised whether the procedure should be continued for the crediting of the full amount of matriculation and tuition fee less $5.00 to University College or whether matriculation fees should be credited to the more general University account. You may remember that I referred that matter to the President and that he approved a continuation of the former procedure of crediting to the account of University College the full amount actually collected from new matriculants. I am writing this to make sure whether my understanding of the case is identical with yours.

Very truly yours,

Dean

Enclosed herewith is a statement of receipts and expenditures for University College during 1923-24 as shown by our records. We shall be very glad indeed to discuss any major discrepancies. It is my understanding that the surplus item $3,986.78 is to stand as a surplus fund to the credit of University College to offset later unusual expenditures connected with the development of new projects or for such other University College purposes as may be designated.

My dear Mr. President:

I have been giving a good deal of thought to the question how the increase in our matriculation fees would and should affect students in University College. On the one hand, the general principle upon which they have heretofore been exempt from paying any matriculation fee whatever would not seem to be affected by the incidental matter of the change in the amount of the fee for those who actually pay a matriculation fee. On the other hand, I cannot quite feel that we ought to cancel a fee of $10.00 for matriculants at University College. I beg, therefore, to submit for your consideration the suggestion that we still show our regard for the city teachers by making some compensation in this matter, but that we require them hereafter to pay half the matriculation fee, namely, $5.00; whereas other students are required to pay the full $10.00. The only alternative would seem to be to charge them the entire matriculation fee.

Very truly yours,

Dean

Dear President Burton:

For sometime the Committee on Education of The Chicago Association of Commerce has given consideration to Continuation Schools and has come to the conclusion that a survey of organization, administration and administrative problems of these schools would be of considerable assistance to the Chicago Board of Education and to the members of the Association.

We have been assured of the complete cooperation of the Board of Education, and would like the University of Chicago to nominate some student especially interested in this phase of education competent to make this survey under the immediate direction and supervision of Dr. Charles H. Judd and Dean E. P. Filbey. It is expected that the completion of this survey will require about nine months' time.

The Association will finance this survey to the extent of $1500.00 plus $300.00 for incidental expenses (total $1800.00); the first installment of $600.00 to be paid this month, upon receipt of statement, and the balance in 1925, on receipt of subsequent statements.

This matter has been discussed tentatively with Dr. Judd and Dean Filbey of the University and I trust the arrangement outlined will meet with the approval of the University authorities.

During 1922 the Committee on Education was instrumental in making a study on "Public Education Costs," which received very favorable comment throughout the United States. This study was made by N. B. Henry, at that time connected with the University of Chicago, under the direction of Dr. Charles H. Judd and our Committee.
