Dear Sir,

We are at present interested in the Following problem,

Do you believe that the policy of Compulsary Arbitration
in labor disputes is either wise or possible?

What do you believe is the best method of dealing with labor disputes today?

On which side do you believe that the preponderance of evidence evidence in the above problem lies?

An early reply would be very much appreciated.

Yours very respectfully,

Dear Sir:-

Your favor of the 10th inst. is received.
I am not in favor of compulsory arbitration in labor disputes. It seems to me that the element of compulsion destroys the arbitration idea altogether.
I am in favor, wherever practicable, of voluntary arbitration in such disputes.

Very truly yours,

H.P.J. - L.

Dear Sir;-

The question of compulsory arbitration of labor disputes is coming up for discussion in our school in the near future. Knowing your extensive knowledge of this question, I am asking your personal opinion on this subject.

If you do favor compulsory arbitration which system do you prefer by state or national boards or booth? Should these boards be permanent or temporary?

Any other information or source of material on this question will be highly appreciated. Thanking you for your kindness and consideration, I am

Dear Sir:-

Your favor of the 8th inst. is received.

I am not in favor of the compulsory arbitration of labor disputes. The essence of arbitration, it seems to me, involves mutual consent.

Very truly yours,
