My dear Harper.

We were very sorry not to have you at the meeting of the Religious Education Association and most regretful that to learn of your illness. I hope I may see you. I shall be in Chicago (address Union League Club) from Tuesday till Saturday. Find me a line to let me know if I may come in and see you a minute. As to your illness be of good cheer my dear fellow. The game is now finished till the last play and I cannot but belie in you will come out all right. We need you there next twenty years in America in the joint work of religion and education—for they must go together and I count on your counsel and your comradeship. The sailors have a good motto "Cheer up, the worst is yet to come"! Be of good heart and God's blessing be with you.

Affectionately
Henry S. Pritchett
Pritchett

When you have come out at night - the darkness then and thought goes in a moment as the light and feelings are changed the mind is different and I think of your words and your language. It has been a long time since I heard a voice so sweet and so pure -
I think and feel differently about it.

Yours truly,
John G. Thompson

Dear President Harper:

My eyes are looking Westward from my Riverside residence this morning and my thoughts have stopped at your home to wish that happiness may come to you even in your affliction.
-happiness in the consciousness of the great and lasting work you have done, in the love and admiration of all who know you and in the faith that reaches beyond the counting of years.

MARCH 2, 1903

My dear Mr. Harper:

I cannot thank you sufficiently for the beautiful letter you sent me just before the operation. That you should at such a time be mindful of your friends in such a way as to cheer and comfort them is a great blessing. I shall always treasure your letter with gratitude. How thankful we are that you have come out of the darkness and are again able to take up some of your work! I do hope that you will discontinue all the prophesies of evil, and that your own unexpressed will power together with the best resources of medical knowledge will bring you back to your old time health and vigor. You have indeed been through a solemn experience. The only thing thing about it is that it must be a joy to find out that one is so esteemed and loved by thousands of people all over the world. We never discover that in the days of perfect health and prosperity. It is only in the dark that the stars shine.

I am looking forward with much pleasure to seeing you when I come to Chicago. I suppose you are still expecting me on Sunday, March the 12th. On the thirteenth I go to Minneapolis to attend a Brown alumni dinner, but I shall be back on Tuesday night or Wednesday morning, and shall remain over Sunday, the 19th.

With love to all the family, and best wishes for yourself, I am

Dear Sir:-

I have recently accepted the position of President of the Board of Education at Wheaton, and, of course, am desirous of assisting in making the school there equal to others. It is probable we will soon adopt a course of study for the high school at least and will have the same published. No doubt you can render us valuable aid if you will do so. If we could adopt such a course as would entitle the graduate to enter the Chicago University in the Freshman class it would be highly gratifying. If not too much trouble will you kindly give me your views on the subject and also any copy of a printed course of study you may have adopted or approved.

Thanking you in advance, I am,

Sincerely yours,

E. H. Gary

Dear Dr. Harper:

I have just heard that you are to be here next Friday. Will you not give us three lectures during your visit. One may come on Sunday and two before or after, - and any of your themes will be acceptable. I ask you on the "Levering Foundation." Rev. W. M. Taylor agreed to come but this morning sent word that the condition of his eyes prevent.

If you prefer to come on our errand only we shall be glad to see you a little later, -but we beg you to come. As Mr. Levering puts it - do not say NO until we can see and talk with you.

I should be most happy to have you as a guest.

Yours sincerely,

D. G. GILMAN

My dear Dr. Harper:

I am exceedingly glad to get your new book on the Trend in Higher Education. Parts of it I have already read; all of it is going to prove interesting and valuable. It comes specially close home to me now at a time when we are all following with such close interest your brave fight against bodily sickness. When I was in Chicago a few weeks ago, I had no idea until the very eve of my departure for home, of what you were passing through. I do not suppose that I could have done anything if I had known; but I wanted to go and see you, and tell how much your colleagues in educational work wanted to stand by you, and how much anything that happened to you meant to me - and to us all,

Faithfully yours,

Dear Sir,

You do me
honour in inviting me to address the students of the University of Chicago on the morning of Febr. 22nd - and I should be much pleased to accede to your request. But - very frankly - having to speak in the auditorium during the afternoon of the same

Day, & assist at Caliquet in the evening,
I dislike taking upon myself another task
with too many things in hand. I attend to none properly.

I made an attempt with Mr. Mahan to visit you last summer: but a storm intervening we were unable to reach the University. The next time
I am in Chicago, I hope to be more fortunate.

Respectfully
John Ireland

Mr. W. B. Harper.

Dear President Harper:-

It is with deepest sorrow that we have learned of your serious illness. The high place which you have made for yourself in the educational work of the country, your magnificent service to the cause of education, and your great work as a scholar, contributing to the sum of human knowledge, all impress deeply upon us the tremendous loss which all educational institutions feel in the serious impairment of your health. We tender you our heartfelt sympathy in your illness and our earnest good wishes for your speedy restoration to your active duties.

Very truly yours,

E. I. S.

My dear Dr. Harper:

I am much concerned by the reports of your illness which have lately come to me through friends, and I write in order that you may know how deeply I take your peril to heart and how earnestly I hope for a fortunate result this week. I ought not to use the word fortunate in that way; I ought to say "fortunate for us", whatever happens will be fortunate for you. I have often said that fifty years hence it will be plain that no man of our time has done more for education in a large way than yourself, and no one has rendered a more lasting and fundamental service. I hope that you have other years in which to push forward this magnificent work; but however that may be what a splendid achievement it is and what an immense task accomplished! What has often struck me has been your constant thoughtfulness under a tremendous strain and your unfailing courtesy when such burdens were on your hands and spirit. This is only a hand of fellowship held out to you in a moment of trial and a word of affectionate personal regard and interest. The country has a great interest in you, and so have all your friends. In all hopefulness -

Yours faithfully,
