MINUTES OF A MEETING CALLED BY DR. STEPHEN P. DUGGAN OF THE INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION AND BY THE DEPARTMENT OF CHINESE OF COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY TO CONSIDER QUESTIONS RELATING TO THE
RATING OF CHINESE STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES
JANUARY 8, 1924

Dr. Duggan of the Institute of International Education presided. Professor Porter of the Department of Chinese of Columbia University presented the questions for discussion. Among those present were: Dr. Duggan and Miss Waite of the Institute of International Education, Dr. Kandel and Dr. Russell of the International Institute of Teachers College, President Woolley, President Pendleton, President Goodnow, President Burton, President Comstock, Professor A. L. Jones, representing American universities; President Stuart, President Edmunds, Mr. Li and Mr. Youth, representing Chinese Universities; Professor Porter and Mr. Carter, representing the Department of Chinese of Columbia University; Miss George representing the Y. W. C. A.; Dr. Monroe and Dr. Gunther of Teachers College; Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Carter.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDY. Should Chinese students be encouraged to come to America for undergraduate study? Dr. Monroe presented the case for encouraging Chinese students to finish their undergraduate work in China and to come to America only for graduate study. In answer to a question from Dr. Goodnow, Dr. Monroe qualified his statement so as not to oppose technical students coming to America at the end of the Sophomore or Junior year (by American standard) to begin professional training, but pointed out that that would be in general mean graduation from the Chinese university. Professor Porter suggested that Chinese students be not only encouraged to finish their Arts course in China, but to do one or two years of practical work in their chosen profession before coming to America in order to link up their American study with specific problems. Dr. Goodnow pointed out that America has something to contribute in culture as well as in professional training and that it would be a matter for regret if America's contribution to the educational life of China through students in this country were confined to the more technical branches. UNDERGRADUATE STUDY.

Should Chinese students be encouraged to come to America for undergraduate study? Dr. Monroe presented the case for encouraging Chinese students to finish their undergraduate work in China and to come to America only for graduate study. In answer to a question from Dr. Goodnow, Dr. Monroe qualified his statement so as not to oppose technical students coming to America at the end of the sophomore or junior year (by American standards) to begin professional training, but pointed out that that would be in general mean graduation from the Chinese university. Professor Porter suggested that Chinese students be not only encouraged to finish their Arts course in China, but to do one or two years of practical work in their chosen profession before coming to America in order to link up their American study with specific problems. Dr. Goodnow pointed out that America has something to contribute in culture as well as in professional training and that it would be a matter for regret if America's contribution to the educational life of China through students in this country were confined to the more technical branches.
Miss Woolley felt that in the better supervised women's colleges a certain number of well qualified undergraduate students from China could be received with advantage. Miss George and Dr. Burton pointed out that both purposes could be conserved if students were encouraged to graduate first from Chinese institutions and then take one or two years of American undergraduate work before entering professional schools, and that, inasmuch as graduation from the Chinese University is usually rated as equivalent to the completion of Sophomore or Junior year in an American University, this would not involve loss of time. Miss Pendleton reported that this plan has been followed with most satisfactory results at Wellesley, that the students thus received from Chinese Universities were rated as special students and given no degree, but that they were given very great freedom of choice and considerable individual attention during their year of residence at Wellesley. Dr. Monroe pointed out that in many institutions a degree could properly be given for such work.

It was the general consensus of opinion, though not embodied in any resolution, that Chinese students should rarely, if ever, be encouraged to come to America for full undergraduate work looking toward a Bachelor's Degree, but that for most students one or two years of undergraduate work in America after graduation from the Chinese University and before starting postgraduate or professional training would be highly beneficial.

STANDARDS OF ADMISSION. With regard to the question, what standards should be adopted for admission of Chinese students, there was general agreement with Miss Pendleton's views that the standards should be exactly the same as for American students, but that certain substitutions should be allowed, as for example, Chinese classics for Greek and Latin classics. With regard to the question whether the present rating of missionary colleges is satisfactory, by which graduation from the missionary college is equivalent to completion of the Junior year of the American University, the opinion was expressed by Dr. Edmunds and others that while in general this rating might stand, it should not be too rigid or put too visible a discount on the degree, but that personal qualifications should be considered.

With regard to the question put by President Stuart, whether missionary institutions in China should seek to bring up their standards so as to conform to that of the American university, there was a general consensus of opinion that universities in China should follow Chinese standards, and that attempt to conform to American standards would be a mistake. It was pointed out that a number of students not having proper credentials are received as graduates of certain Chinese institutions and thus lower the rating of those institutions. Miss Pendleton reported on the plan adopted by the Women's Universities whereby a committee in China, of which Mrs. Thurston is Chairman, passes on the qualifications of women students before they are received by those colleges in America which co-operate in the plan. The suggestion was made that such a committee should, if possible, be made more representative of government as well as missionary institutions.

With regard to the admission of graduate students to American Universities, the following recommendation was unanimously passed: - that candidates for admission to graduate schools of our universities be admitted as candidates for a degree only after a period of probation.

LIST OF APPROVED INSTITUTIONS. Is it possible to prepare a list of educational institutions in China, graduates from which can be accepted for post-graduate work in America on the same basis as the graduates of standard American institutions? Mr. Li, the former President of Peking Teachers College, pointed out the difficulties, political and otherwise, of having any such list made officially. Dr. Jones pointed out that it was shown by experience that unofficial rating by a voluntary organization of such institutions would be more valuable than an official rating. Dr. Russell pointed out the very great danger that if such rating were done thoroughly and given publicity, it would have a certain power of compelling Chinese institutions to conform to American type. Dr. Burton felt that a very tentative and unofficial list could be made and would have great value if it were understood that institutions not on the list were not thereby considered below par, -- that the list, in other words, be merely positive and not exclusive.

The following recommendation was adopted: -- that it is desirable to prepare a list of Chinese colleges, the graduates of which can properly be admitted to graduate work in American institutions.

STANDARDS FOR THE USE OF ENGLISH. Miss Woolley pointed out the uselessness of studying in an American university without a working knowledge of English. Mr. Li showed how too rigid a standard in English would discriminate against government schools and would discriminate often in favor of form rather than content in education. Dr. Goodnow showed how students unable to express themselves in clear and grammatical English were sometimes able to understand and to grasp the matter of education better than others who had higher linguistic attainment. It was the general view that a working knowledge of English for the purpose here discussed consisted of understanding rather than ability in expression.

The following resolution was adopted: That we recommend that no students be admitted to American Universities without a working knowledge of the English language, the emphasis being especially on ability to understand. It was suggested that Dr. Duggan take measures to obtain through Dr. McCall or elsewhere suggestions as to a better method of testing this ability to understand.

Dean J. H. Tufts
Faculty Exchange

My dear Dean Tufts:-

I am returning herewith Mr. Swift's letter of September 12 and the attached clipping from the New York Evening Post.

In response to your inquiry I am sorry to say that we haven't records available that give the information which I think you desire; namely, the number of students applying for credit here for work done in foreign countries. We do have statistics showing 1) the total number of students from foreign countries registered in the University (see Table LXV, page 208, President's Report, 1922-23), and 2) the number of undergraduate students classified in the Colleges of the University with advanced standing for work done in foreign institutions (see latter part of Table LXXIV, page 220, President's Report, 1922-23).

There are very few of our own undergraduates; that is, American students, who have had work abroad and apply for credit for this work toward our Bachelor's degree. The number is sufficiently small to be almost negligible. One thing on which the American Council on Education has been working is the question of possible arrangements in accordance with which an American College student may spend one year, preferably his junior year, in study in a foreign institution under prescribed conditions and return to his college and graduate with his class. You have, perhaps, heard something of the experiment by the University of Delaware during the past year. This is explained somewhat in the last bulletin of Proceedings of the Association of American Universities. Only in case some such system of supervision could be provided should I think it wise that American students attempt to do a portion of the work for the Bachelor's degree in a foreign institution. Incidentally, I may say that during the summer I read in an English journal that Oxford and Cambridge and the Director of the London Branch of the American University Union were embarrassed by the number of applications being presented for admission to Oxford and Cambridge by American students who are apparently seeking, not an opportunity to do serious work, but rather an opportunity to spend a year in a pleasant and cultural environment. The statement was made that Oxford has, through the Rhodes Scholarships and other established channels, about as many foreign students as it can absorb, and that the two institutions would welcome only such foreign students as enter with such seriousness of purpose as working toward a degree, preferably a higher degree.

We do have in the Graduate Schools a number of students who are allowed graduate credit for work done during a year or more spent abroad. While this number is not large there are more of them than seek credit in the Colleges for work done abroad.

I also enclose herewith a copy of Bulletin No. 1, Fifth Series, The Institute of International Education, in which, if you haven't previously seen it, you will doubtless be interested. Please return the same to my office after you have concluded with it.

Yours very truly,

REPORT OF WORK DONE WITH FOREIGN STUDENTS
FOR THE CURRENT SCHOOL YEAR.

My appointment as Adviser of Foreign Students at the University almost two years ago has made it possible for me to make contacts with students in such a way as to learn of their needs and desires and to be able to help them in many ways. This contact has not only given the student a chance to make known his wants but it has also made it possible for me, and all those who care, to know them intimately and learn much from them that we would never have known without this contact. Activities in connection with these students are varied and interesting. They may be classified and grouped as follows:

I. Personal Interviews. This type of activity requires more time than any other one activity. These interviews are conducted at all times, not only during office hours but also at other times. They frequently occur before breakfast in the morning and at ten or eleven o'clock at night. They have been made to feel that they are always welcome both at the office and at my home, and many of them take advantage of this offer. There are many subjects discussed in these interviews, but the most frequent ones are those having to do with the following subjects:-

1. Admission to the University. Before a student can register in the University it is necessary for him to present his credentials to the Bureau of Admissions and secure a certificate of admission to the University. Many students have come without bringing any sort of credential and it has been necessary for them to make out in detail a statement as to the subjects which they have studied in order that the Examiner may be able to pass judgment on their ability to carry the work at the University. If it is passed on favorably the student is given a temporary admission card until such time as he is able to present a certified copy of his record at the school or college which he formerly attended. While all the students have not come to me for assistance in this work, many have come and I have been able to help them, and to make a personal acquaintance with them which in many cases becomes a lasting one.

2. After being admitted to the University, the next step is to register for courses. This is to a student from a foreign land, a complicated matter and many of them need help at this point. Assistance has been given in filling out the registration cards, finding the proper deans, classrooms, instructors, etc.. Occasionally it is necessary for some of them to change or drop courses, and this involves some details which are not always understood by them. Assistance is frequently given in this matter also.

3. Employment and financial problems. A large percent of the foreign students are earning a part of their living. Some of them are earning enough to pay their entire expenses while they go to school. Assistance has been given to many of them in finding employment, cooperating, of course, with the employment office as far as possible. Many students find it necessary to borrow money for a short period of time, and this is sometimes possible through the various loan funds of the University. Sometimes it happens that students are stranded and it is necessary to find help for them. At the present time there are several such cases. One Chinese student has been unable to secure employment on account of the Tong War in Chicago. I have spent a great deal of time with him trying to help him to get on his feet again. I have written to his friends to find out about his character. I have written to individuals and organizations to try to get help for him. I have been able to get some help and have been practically assured of enough to help him through the Spring Quarter. This help has consisted of finding employment and also loans. I have helped another student go get a loan of $100.00 from a business man down town.

4. Housing. One of the most difficult things for the new foreign student is the finding of a suitable place to live. The Housing Bureau does all it can, but there is always something left for me to do in this way. The environment of these students is so important that a great deal of time should be given to visiting the students to find out about their living and boarding conditions. I have been able to discover some conditions and in an indirect way to remedy them. I feel that the problem has scarcely been touched.

5. Personal problems. In addition to employment and financial problems, there are a number of other personal matters which are brought to me. These are always regarded as personal and the student is made to understand that I so regard them. These personal matters have a very wide range, from the selection of courses to the choice of a life work.

6. Interviews with Club Officers and Committeemen. There are International Students Association, the Foreign Student Council of the Y.M.C.A., the Chinese Students Christian Association, the Japanese Students Christian Association, the Korean Church, the Chinese Students Club of Chicago, the Japanese Students Club, the Korean Students League of Chicago, the Hindustan Association of Chicago, the Filipino Triangle Club of the University of Chicago, and various other groups, the officers and committeemen of which come to me frequently for advice and help.

7. Reporters and visitors. The ever present newspaper reporter is a frequent caller. In his search for news he often looks to me for something new or exciting about foreign students. There are also frequent visitors to the University from abroad or from other universities who require a good deal of attention. I sometimes have to entertain them at dinner or at the Club, and sometimes spend a half day with one visitor.

II. Clerical work and Correspondence. This work may be classified briefly as follows:

1. Compiling lists of foreign students at the beginning of each quarter, with their addresses, nationalities, religious preferences, etc., and furnishing these lists to various organizations and individuals to whom they should go.

2. Cooperating with Assistant Examiner Smith in securing information for the emigration officials. The new act requires a close check up on the students who come to this country. Reports must be made when they register and when they leave the University.

3. Answering letters from students, citizens, and institutions regarding foreign students.

4. Regular correspondence necessary to the carrying on of my work.

5. Forwarding mail and locating people.

6. Writing copy and publishing Bulletin of Information for Foreign Students.

7. Writing reports, articles, etc. from time to time.

6. Interviews with Club Officers and Committeemen. There are International Students Association, the Foreign Student Council of the Y.W.C.A., the Chinese Students Christian Association, the Japanese Students Christian Association, the Korean Church, the Chinese Students Club of Chicago, the Japanese Students
Club, the Korean Students League of Chicago, the Hindu-

7. Writing reports, articles, etc. from time.

III. Club Activities at the University. - Mrs. Dickson and I have cooperated with the various organizations and clubs mentioned above in arranging programs, social affairs, etc..

1. We have assisted the Chinese Students Christian Association in securing homes in which to meet during the winter. In addition to our own home where they have met three times, we have been able to secure other homes for them as follows:- Kingsbury, Tibbets, Shirk, Aitchison, Goodman and Haydon.

2. We have entertained the Chinese Students Club in our own home and assisted in their entertainment in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Grow, and Mrs. Shirk, also at Ida Noyes Hall, and the Reynolds Club.

3. The Filipino Triangle Club asked me to be their official University Adviser. This carries with it a considerable amount of responsibility both in club affairs and in social functions which are conducted about once a month. We have entertained them in our home and also assisted in their entertainment in two other homes. I also took part in their Rizal Day program.

4. We have entertained the Japanese Students Club twice, also the Japanese Students Christian Association once in our home, and have assisted in their entertainment at Ida Noyes.

5. Cooperated with the Friendly Relations Committee and the Foreign Student Council of the Y. in arranging a reception to foreign students at the beginning of the Autumn quarter; also in sending out speakers and entertainers to churches, clubs, etc..

6. Entertained the Korean students at dinner twice; they furnished the dinner once and we furnished it the second time.

7. We gave a luncheon to the Indian students at the University and a few guests during the visit to Chicago of K.T. Paul, the Indian National Secretary of the Y.M.C.A.; also an Indian dinner to the Hindustan Association of Chicago with Mr. and Mrs. Gilkey as special guests.

8. We gave a dinner to the foreign students who graduated at the end of the Autumn and Winter Quarters; we do the same thing at the end of each quarter.

III. Club Activities at the University. - Mrs. Dickson and I have cooperated with the various organizations and clubs mentioned above in arranging programs, social affairs, etc...

1. We have assisted the Chinese Students Christian Association in securing homes in which to meet during the winter. In addition to our own home where they have met three times, we have been able to secure other homes for them as follows: - Kingsbury, Tibbette, Shirk, Alchison, Goodman and Hayden.

2. We have entertained the Chinese Students Club in our own home and assisted in their entertainment in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Grow, and Mrs. Shirk, also at Ida Noyes Hall, and the Reynolds Club.

3. The Filipino Triangle Club asked me to be their official University Adviser. This carries with it a considerable amount of responsibility both in club affairs and in social functions which are conducted about once a month. We have entertained them in our home and also assisted in their entertainment in two other homes. I also took part in their Racial Day program.

4. We have entertained the Japanese Students Club twice, also the Japanese Students Christian Association once in our home, and have assisted in their entertainment at Ida Noyes.

5. Cooperated with the Friendly Relations Committee and the Foreign Student Council of the Y. in arranging a reception for foreign students at the beginning of the Autumn Quarter; also in sending out speakers and entertainers to churches, clubs, etc...

6. Entertained the Korean students at dinner twice; they furnished the dinner once and we furnished it the second time.

7. We gave a luncheon to the Indian students at the University and a few guests during the visit to Chicago of K.T. Paul, the Indian National Secretary of the Y.M.C.A.; also an Indian dinner to the Hinduстан Association of Chicago with Mr. and Mrs. Gilkey as special guests.

8. We gave a dinner to the foreign students who arrived at the end of the Autumn and Winter Quarters; we gave the same thing at the end of each quarter.

9. We gave a party to the new foreign students who entered the University at the beginning of the Winter and Spring Quarters.

10. We have worked constantly with the International Students Association in arranging their regular programs and special features. They have an average of one regular meeting each month. They also have an Executive Committee of which I am a member, which has at least two meetings per month. This Association takes the place of the Cosmopolitan Club in other Universities and has a membership of approximately one hundred. The special features which have consumed so much of my time were the play given by the Indian students and program given by the Japanese dancers. I undertook to finance the Indian play by asking a certain number of friends to allow their names to be used as patrons and patronesses and to contribute something toward the expense of the program. The entire expense, $60.00, was secured in this way. Another program of similar nature is being planned for April and I have been asked to undertake to finance it in the same way.

IV. Cooperation with outside organizations. Several organizations have called on me for cooperation, the principal ones being,

1. Churches and Young Peoples Societies. They have asked for foreign student speakers and entertainers. Approximately 50 such appointments have been made and filled.

2. Boys' Clubs and Women's Clubs have also made similar requests, though not so large a number.

3. At Thanksgiving time two of the Departments of the Chicago Y.M.C.A. gave dinners for foreign students, or rather gave dinners to which foreign students were invited, and I secured about 75 foreign students who accepted the invitations.

4. The Chicago Association of Commerce called on me for assistance when they gave their Second Annual Dinner for Foreign Students in Chicago. I secured the names and addresses of the students not only in the University of Chicago, but in most of the other larger institutions in and near Chicago. I also furnished the student speakers who responded to the welcome given by the mayor and the representative of the Association of Commerce.

V. Mrs. Dickson and I have done a great deal of entertaining in our home and would do more if our financial allowance would permit it. Altogether we have entertained

Dickson and I have done a great deal of entertaining in our home and would do more if our financial allowance would permit it. Altogether we have entertained at a meal approximately 300 students and a few American guests. Most of this has been done in groups but we have had at various times about 25 individual students for meals. We have set as a minimum the entertaining of every foreign student in the University at least once during each year.

We have many calls by students, and at all hours. We practically have open house to them, and many of them take advantage of it. This was especially true during the Christmas vacation. We also have many telephone calls in connection with our work.

VI. Miscellaneous. There are numerous incidental, or miscellaneous things which come up from time to time. Following are some of the outstanding things of this nature:

1. Attended funeral of Japanese student who died of tuberculosis.
2. Entertained visiting secretaries of the Friendly Relations Committee among Foreign Students.
3. Met new students at trains, and accompanied others to trains.
4. Arranged for loans for students and secured extension of time for the payment of tuition.
5. Secured translations of letters and articles from a foreign language into English.
6. Assisted the Graduate Students Club by providing music for their party.
7. Mrs. Dickson assisted the Dames Club in securing names of wives of foreign students, also assisted in giving them a tea.
8. We have attended various social functions, such as the reception given by the Japanese Consul and have served as chaperons on many occasions.
9. We sent out over 200 Christmas cards to foreign students.
10. We placed two students in the Social Service Department of the Presbyterian Hospital for examination and treatment.
11. Mrs. Dickson allowed the students who had goods to sell to have an all day sale or bazaar in November at the house.

A MINIMUM PROGRAM OF FOREIGN STUDENTS ENTERTAINMENT.

The entertainment of foreign students should probably fall into three classifications, as follows:

I. Individual dinner guests.

1. As opportunity or circumstances require, individual students should be invited informally to a meal.
2. Visiting guests, such as Friendly Relations Committee Secretaries, Director of Filipino Government students, Directors of Chinese student groups, consuls, foreign alumni, missionaries, foreign Y. secretaries, men and women who have special relations with foreign students in other universities, university guests from abroad, etc.

My dear Mr. President:-

I hasten to reply as best I can at the present time to your inquiry of yesterday requesting a "statement of the practice of this University in reference to such (Oriental) students." It is difficult to answer in detail without reporting actual facts concerning each individual application. We have found that the credentials presented to us by students coming from the Orient vary so widely that it is exceedingly difficult to make disposition of them except on the basis of individual merit. We consequently endeavor to give careful and sympathetic consideration to each application, being guided only in a general way by the educational standards in so far as such standards have been established in any one of the countries of the Orient. However, a few general principles may be laid down.

A. JAPAN

1. Graduation from a Government Japanese Middle School we regard as representing approximately the equivalent, quantitatively, of three years in an American high school. It is becoming quite common for Japanese educational officers and others certifying to the work done in Japanese Middle Schools to speak of them as "equivalent to American high school". We have not so regarded the work of the Japanese Middle School, and would be unwilling to accept such a program as representing more than three years of accomplishment in a standard American high school.
2. Based upon the above, it logically follows that successful completion of the three-year course of the Japanese Higher School is regarded as equivalent to the completion of the curriculum of an American Junior College.
3. It also follows that^a students having completed the curricula of 1 and 2^a and graduated from the three-year course of any one of the Japanese Imperial Universities will be given graduate status at the University of Chicago, with the privilege of presenting himself for a higher degree upon satisfaction of departmental requirements.
4. Graduates of other Japanese Universities - Waseda, Keio, Doshisha - are handled on the basis of individual merit, the presumption being that if they have taken the regular curriculum of four or five

My dear Mr. President:-

I reason to reply as best I can at the present time to your inquiry of yesterday requesting a "statement of the practice of this University in reference to such (Oriental) students." It is difficult to answer in detail without reporting actual facts concerning each individual application. We have found that the credentials presented to us by students coming from the Orient vary so widely that it is exceedingly difficult to make disposition of them except on the basis of individual merit. We consequently endeavor to give careful and sympathetic consideration to each application, being guided only in a general way by the educational standards in so far as such standards have been established in any one of the countries of the Orient. However, a few general principles may be laid down.

A. JAPAN

1. Graduation from a Government Japanese Middle School we regard as representing approximately the equivalent quantitatively of three years in an American high school. It is becoming quite common for Japanese educational officers and others certifying to the work done in Japanese Middle Schools to speak of them as "equivalent to American high school". We have not so regarded the work of the Japanese Middle School, and would be unwilling to accept such a program as representing more than three years of accomplishment in a standard American high school.

2. Based upon the above, it logically follows that successful completion of the three-year course of the Japanese Higher School is regarded as equivalent to the completion of the curriculum of an American Junior College.

3. It also follows that students having completed the curricula of 1 and 2 and graduated from the three-year course of any one of the Japanese Imperial Universities will be given graduate status at the University of Chicago, with the privilege of presenting himself for a higher degree upon satisfaction of departmental requirements.

4. Graduates of other Japanese Universities - Waseda, Keio, Doshisha - are handled on the basis of individual merit, the presumption being that if they have taken the regular curriculum of four or five years of work above the Middle School, they may be admitted to the Graduate Schools with a probable requirement of two years of work for the Master's degree. We have had a considerable number of students from Waseda, but so far as our records show, none has obtained the Master's degree with a requirement less than that indicated. Some graduates of Doshisha have been refused admission to the Graduate Schools, while several have been so admitted with a requirement of two years of work for the Master's degree.

5. We have also had several students who have completed the "post-graduate course" of one of the higher normal schools of Japan. Such students are admitted to the Graduate Schools of the University with the privilege of presenting themselves for the Master's degree upon satisfaction of departmental requirements. They have, in general, made good records in the University.

B. CHINA

Our procedure with reference to China is similar to that outlined at some length above for Japan, the presumption being that only the better Chinese Middle Schools are on a par with the corresponding Japanese schools. The following items relative to our experience with Chinese students may be helpful:

1. Tsing Hua College: We have had a considerable group of students from this institution, and our experience with them has been eminently satisfactory. Graduates of Tsing Hua have been admitted to the Junior Colleges of the University with advanced standing varying in amount from nine to fifteen majors, the latter being granted only to strong students who have completed more than the normal program. The average standing given to Tsing Hua graduates is approximately eleven majors, or a little more than one year of college credit.
2. Graduates of Colleges: As with students coming to us from Japanese colleges we give careful attention to the merits of each application, and have given graduate status to one or more graduates of each of the following institutions, with requirements for the Master's degree as indicated:

Boone University: 2 graduates - requirement for the Master's degree - 14-17 majors.

Hangchow Christian College: 1 graduate - Bachelor's degree supplemented by one year in the Law Department of Soochow University. Requirement for the Master's degree from the University of Chicago - 11 majors.

University of Nanking: Several graduates, most of whom

years of work above the Middle School, they may be admitted to the Graduate Schools with a probable requirement of two years of work for the Master's degree. We have had a considerable number of students from Waseda, but so far as our records show, none has obtained the Master's degree with a requirement less than that indicated. Some instances of students have been refused admission to the Graduate Schools while several have been so admitted with a requirement of two years of work for the Master's degree.

2. We have also had several students who have completed the post-graduate course of one of the higher normal schools of Japan. Such students are admitted to the Graduate Schools of the University with the minimum of one year of post-graduate work. They have, in general, made good records in the University.

II. CHINA

Our procedure with reference to China is similar to that outlined as some length above for Japan, the proposition being that only the best Chinese Middle Schools are in a way with the corresponding Japanese schools. The following items relative to our experience with Chinese students may be helpful:

1. Tsingtau College: We have had a considerable group of students from this institution, and our experience with them has been extremely satisfactory. Graduates of Tsingtau have been admitted to the Junior Colleges of the University with advanced standing varying in amount from nine to fifteen majors, the latter being granted only to strong students who have completed more than the normal program. The average standing given to Tsingtau graduates is approximately eleven majors, or a little more than one year of college credit.

2. Graduates of Colleges: As with students coming to us from Japanese colleges we give careful attention to the merits of each application, and have given graduate status to one or more graduates of each of the following institutions, with requirements for the Master's degree as indicated:

Boose University: 2 graduates - requirement for the Master's degree - 14-15 majors.

Hankow Christian College: 1 graduate - Bachelor's degree supplemented by one year in the law department of Boose University. Requirement for the Master's degree from the University of Chicago - 11 majors.

University of Nanking: Several graduates, most of whom had supplemented the Bachelor's degree by at least one year of work elsewhere before coming here. The Bachelor's degree from Nanking has in each instance been estimated as approximately equivalent to 27 majors, the requirement for the Master's degree thus being two years of work.

Peking Government Teachers College: An exceptional student with teaching experience in his alma mater and with a record of published results of research work in mathematics; - Admitted to the Graduate Schools with a requirements of two years of work for the Master's degree.

Shanghai Baptist College: Several graduates, with a requirement of 14-17 majors for the Master's degree.

Soochow University: 3 graduates. Requirement for the Master's degree - two years.

There have been a number of other graduates from this and other institutions who came to us only after having secured baccalaureate or higher degrees from standard American universities.

The above is not very specific, but it is about the best we can do, in view of the many changes which have taken place in China in recent years.

C. INDIA

A matriculation certificate from the University of Bombay, Madras, or Calcutta is accepted as approximately equivalent to twelve secondary school units. The successful passing of the intermediate examinations of one of the standard Universities is accepted as approximately equivalent to one or one and a half years of Junior College work. The Bachelor's degree from one of these institutions, if conferred with honors, is accepted without question as a basis for admission to the Graduate Schools. Several who have obtained the Bachelor's degree, but without the distinction mentioned, have likewise been given graduate status, but with a requirement of two years of work for the Master's degree.

With reference to suggestions which should be given to Oriental students contemplating entering American universities, I think emphasis should be placed upon the following:

1. In view of the serious difficulties encountered by large numbers of such students, due to inability to follow lectures and class work conducted wholly in English for students whose entire work has been done in institutions in which English is the language of instruction, more emphasis should be given to the teaching of English.

had supplemented the Bachelor's degree by at least one year of work elsewhere before coming here. The Bachelor's degree from Hankow has in each instance been estimated as approximately equivalent to 25 years, the requirement for the Bachelor's degree thus being two years of work.

Foreign Government Teachers College: An exceptional student with teaching experience in his native land and with a record of published results of research work in mathematics. - Admitted to the Graduate School with a requirement of two years of work for the Master's degree.

Shanghai Foreign College: Several graduates with a Bachelor's degree in Mathematics for the Bachelor's degree.

Goodwin University: 3 graduates. Requirement for the Master's degree - two years.

There have been a number of other graduates from this and other institutions who came to us only after having secured bachelors' or higher degrees from standard American universities.

The above is not very specific, but it is about the best we can do, in view of the many changes which have taken place in China in recent years.

Tsing Hua has solved this problem. Students who come from Tsing Hua, with rare exceptions, do superior work in English composition. Japanese students in general have here had greater difficulty with English than have the Chinese.

2. No Oriental student should expect to be given college status who has not had the equivalent of at least one year of work above the Japanese Middle School or the corresponding Chinese Middle School, or matriculation in an Indian University, including adequate preparation in English.
3. Such students should not overlook the importance of bringing with them detailed transcripts of work completed in the various classes of institutions attended, beginning with the Middle School.

This is hastily written and I fear may not be of much service. I am getting it to you, however, as early as practicable, and if, after its receipt, further information is desired, I shall be glad to confer with you personally or to supplement this by another letter.

Yours very truly,

RECOMMENDATIONS:

The following alternatives suggest themselves to me:

1. Retain the double relationship and provide a Secretary-Stenographer to take care of details.
2. Divide the duties between two men - one having the Baptist work, and the other the foreign student work.
3. If such division were made I should choose the foreign student work and plan a program similar the that of the University of Pennsylvania. As to the general supervision of such work, i.e. whether by the Association or by the University I would be governed by what seemed to produce the best results.
4. Whether the situation is changed or not I should like to recommend that an allowance be made for a certain amount of entertainment.

ANNUAL REPORT OF B. W. DICKSON, SECRETARY for BAPTIST and FOREIGN STUDENTS, MADE TO THE ADMINISTRATIVE COUNCIL, JANUARY 24, 1924

My relation to the Y. M. C. A. being a double one makes it necessary for me to divide the report into two parts, viz. work for Baptist students, and work for foreign students. I shall first make a general statement, and then give reports on the two phases of my work, followed by some recommendations.

My first official connection with the University of Chicago Y.M.C.A. was that of Inter-Church Secretary, and my duty was to try to relate the students to the churches of all denominations in the University Community. The initiative in this work was taken by the Baptist Board of Education which provided $1800 towards my salary.

With the developing interest in denominational representatives, with the coming on to the staff of a Methodist Secretary, and the prospect of others being added soon, there was a sort of unwritten agreement that I should devote my time to Baptist students primarily and as a side line do some work with the foreign students, a type of work in which I already had some interest and experience. The demands made upon my time by the foreign students have practically reversed this scheme, so that I am now giving most of my time to foreign students and a small amount to the Baptists.

My appointment as Adviser of Foreign students, a sort of administrative officer in the University, has added greatly to the work and has placed me in a more intimate relation with them. The most satisfying thing about it all is that I have been kept busy, and, I believe, have been of some service to the students and to the University.

about it all is that I have been kept busy, and, I believe, have been of some service to the students and to the University.

Following are reports of work done during the past year:
I. Work for Baptist Students. There is now a Baptist Council which assists in planning programs of work, and making recommendations to be carried out by the Secretary. This Council has not been called together as frequently as it should have been, but they have made valuable suggestions from time to time. In general, it has recommended that for the present at least, a Baptist Club does not seem necessary, but that there should be a meeting for Baptist students and professors once a quarter, combining the social and religious elements in as far as possible.

Three such meetings have been held during the past year with a total attendance of about 200- the most successful one being in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gilkey last April. A similar meeting was planned for December 3 last at the President's house, but it had to be postponed until this quarter. This will probably be held during February.

At the beginning of the Autumn Quarter and last Summer at the beginning of the Summer Quarter the names of Baptist students were sent to the Baptist Churches in the immediate vicinity. The Churches in turn sent invitations to take part in church activities and to unite with the Church.. Several have so united.

Letters were sent out to the students from the "Y" office calling to their attention certain church activities of special interest to students in the various churches.

During the year about 500 names have been sent to the Churches, tho there are at any one time only about 350.

A special effort was made during the Summer Quarter to get students to attend the Hyde Park Baptist Church, because their Sunday evening program was of special significance and interest to students.

I have not the complete figures as to the number of Baptist in planning programs of work, and making recommendations to be carried out by the Secretary. This Council has not been called together as frequently as it should have been, but they have made valuable suggestions from time to time. A special effort was made during the summer quarter to get students to attend the Baptist Church, because their Sunday evening program was of special significance and interest to students. I have not the complete figures as to the number of Baptist students who attend church and other activities. This is especially difficult because more than half of them live at home or go home over the week-ends and many of them attend church with their families. Roughly speaking I should say that about 40 per cent of them attend church with some regularity, and a little larger per cent go to Bible classes and young peoples societies.

Some calls have been made on students in the interest of the church but no complete record has been kept. The difficulty of finding them at home makes it ^avery unsatisfactory method of reaching them.

I have attended two conferences of church workers in State Universities, and have been able to learn something of what is being done in other universities. I have also seen at first hand the work that is being done at the University of Pennsylvania. It may be of interest to you to know that a Baptist Secretary is employed for full time by the Board of Education and that the Baptists of that city and state have purchased a house for him at a cost of $18,000, and have spent $1100 for furniture. This is the centre of Baptist social activity at the University. In addition to this they give him an allowance of $500, I think it is, for entertainment purposes.

FOREIGN STUDENT WORK AT THE U. of P.

JAN 24 1924

At the suggestion of Mr. Sage of the General Education Board, President Burton made it possible for me to visit the University of Pennsylvania January 14, 15 to study the work that is being done there for foreign students.

The centre of activity of the two hundred and fifty foreign students at the University of Pennsylvania is the International Students' House which is owned and operated by the Christian Association. The Director of the house is Mr. A. W. Stevenson who is a Secretary of the Christian Association for Foreign Students, and International Affairs. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson have been in charge of this work for eleven years, and since they have had the house have resided there. They pay $40 a month for rent and they also pay for their own meals, but the entertainment of students and other guests is paid by the Association.

The house was formerly a residence and has several large rooms suitable for social affairs, meetings, etc. and also living quarters for about fifteen students. They serve meals for those in the house, and for others who may want to come. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson act as host and hostess at all times. They also have a Woman's Committee which gives assistance on special occasions.

Through the generosity of the owner of this house the Christian Association was able to purchase it for $20,000 which was only one third of the value.

The cost of running the house last year over and above the income from rents, etc. was $6,600. This does not include the salary of the

FOREIGN STUDENT WORK AT THE U. OF C.

JAN 24 1924

At the suggestion of Mr. Sage of the General Education Board, President Burton made it possible for me to visit the University of Pennsylvania January 14, 15 to study the work that is being done there for foreign students.

The center of activity of the two hundred and fifty foreign students at the University of Pennsylvania is the International Students' House which is owned and operated by the Christian Association. The Director of the house is Mr. A. W. Stevenson who is a Secretary of the Christian Association for Foreign Students, and International Affairs. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson have been in charge of this work for eleven years, and since they have had the house have resided there. They pay $45 a month for rent and they also pay for their own meals, but the entertainment of students and other guests is paid by the Association.

The house was formerly a residence and has several large rooms suitable for social affairs, meetings, etc. and also living quarters for about fifteen students. They serve meals for those in the house, and for others who may want to come. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson act as host and hostess at all times. They also have a committee which gives assistance on special occasions.

Through the generosity of the owner of this house the Christian Association was able to purchase it for $20,000 which was only one third of the value.

The cost of running the house last year over and above the income from rents, etc. was $6,800. This does not include the salary of the Secretary which is $3600. The Directors of the Association feel that this outlay of money is very much worth while when they consider the amount of good accomplished.

Even the dining room is run at a financial loss, but they are so well pleased with the results in friendship and international understanding that they are planning to build a dining room which will accomodate 100 people. This room is to be used also for other purposes such as large social affairs, lectures, entertainments and dances. This will release two rooms now occupied by the dining room for other group meetings, as there are frequently several groups meeting at the same time.

The activities aside from the daily contact at meal time centred around the house may be described as follows:

1. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson are available practically all the time to see students, singly or in groups, and to render any possible assistance. University authorities direct students to them at the opening of school and at other times. They have a stenographer-secretary in the house who takes care of correspondence and other details. The management of the house and dining room is under their general supervision, but the direct responsibility is in the hands of a graduate student and his wife.

2. CLUB MEETINGS The various National Student Clubs have their regular meetings there. This includes the Chinese, Japanese, South American, and other groups.

3. FRIDAY EVENING OPEN HOUSE Every Friday evening there is some sort of program to which foreign students as well as Americans are welcome. At this time the Women's Committee, co-operating with Mrs. Stevenson, sees to it that several American friends, men and women of the city, are present. These meetings may consist of a

Secretary which is $3800. The Directors of the Association feel that this outlay of money is very much worth while when they consider the amount of good accomplished. At this time the women's committee, co-operating with Mrs. Stevenson, serve to it the several American friends, men and women of the city are present. These meetings are composed of a musical, a lecture, a dance or simply a general mixer, when foreign students and Americans have an opportunity to form friendships. Distinguished visitors from abroad are frequently guests at the meetings.

4. SUNDAY EVENING TEAS AND DINNERS These affairs are informal giving an opportunity for all who wish to attend.

5. RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

a. Occasionally there are discussions of religious subjects and all who are interested are asked to take part.

b. The names of all students who signify on their registration card that they are Christians and belong to a particular Christian church are turned over to the church representatives and they in turn invite them to attend church, and to take part in some activity, such as Young Peoples Meetings, ushering, etc.

c. The Chinese Students' Christian Association has a meeting each Sunday afternoon and evening. They take a hike to some home selected and arranged for in advance by Mr. Stevenson, and there spend the time socially in singing religious songs and holding religious discussions.

d. Students may at any time secure personal interviews with the secretary or others when they so desire.

While a definite effort is being made not to force Christianity on the non-Christian students, those in charge always stand ready to help when an opportunity appears. They respect the religious views of all the students.

6. FORUMS General discussions are conducted at various times. These have been Chinese-American, Japanese-American, and Chinese-Japanese Forums which proved to be helpful in promoting better understanding between the various groups.

There have been debates between various groups as well as within the individual groups.

The Chinese Student Club offers a prize for the best paper on a certain subject, also holds debates on subjects of interest to the Chinese Students.

7. PUBLICATIONS Bulletins now and then are published giving an account of what is being done. They also have charge of the International Number of the "Red and Blue", the University Literary Magazine.

8. INTERCOLLEGIATE AND COLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

9. DEPUTATION WORK Individuals and groups are sent out to talk to churches, Woman's Clubs, Rotary Clubs, Association of Commerce, etc.

I lived in the house two days and talked to students and others regarding it. It was the unanimous opinion of Christian Association leaders, foreign students, in and out of the house, American students and faculty members that the work is very much worth while. It is also endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce of Philadelphia.

It has been an experiment, but five years of successful operation have satisfied all concerned that the undertaking has proved worth while.

PRESIDENT'S COMMITTEE ON FOREIGN STUDENTS

January 23, 1924

The President's Committee on Foreign Students met at 12 o'clock January 23, 1924 in the private dining room at the Quadrangle Club. Those present were Messrs. MacClintock, Miller, Good, Merrifield, Burgess, Baker, Dickson and Mrs. Flint.

The Chairman, Mr. MacClintock, called on Mr. Dickson to report informally on the work that had been done during the Autumn Quarter. A brief report was made which was followed by questions and discussion. Attached is a more complete report of the activities of the Autumn Quarter.

The Chairman read a report made by President Burton on a conference held in New York. The report is attached. The Committee gave general approval of the material contained in the report with one suggested change, namely, that the student should have sufficient knowledge of English to be able to express himself in written if not in spoken English.

The Chairman called on Mr. Dickson to make a report on his trip to the University of Pennsylvania. A copy of this report is also attached to these minutes.

No motions or formal resolutions were passed, though the discussion brought out one point very clearly, namely the necessity of having something at the University of Chicago which will take the place, in some measure at least, of the International Students' House at the University of Pennsylvania. Much interest was shown in this matter and several suggestions were made. By common consent the matter was left for consideration at a future meeting when some definite plan may be recommended.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR
BUREAU OF IMMIGRATION
WASHINGTON

STATUS OF STUDENTS UNDER THE IMMIGRATION ACT OF 1924.

1. The following information is published for the guidance of persons who desire to enter the United States as students under the Immigration Act of 1924, and who may apply to an American Consular Officer for a non-quota immigration visa for that purpose.

2. Section 4 of the above Act provides in part as follows:

When used in this Act the term "non-quota immigrant" means -

(e) An immigrant who is a bona fide student at least 15 years of age and who seeks to enter the United States solely for the purpose of study at an accredited school, college, academy, seminary, or university, particularly designated by him and approved by the Secretary of Labor, which shall have agreed to report to the Secretary of Labor the termination of attendance of each immigrant student, and if any such institution of learning fails to make such reports promptly the approval shall be withdrawn.

3. A bona fide student within the meaning of the Act is a person at least 15 years of age who is qualified to enter, and has definitely arranged to enter, an accredited school, college, academy, seminary, or university particularly designated by him, and approved by the Secretary of Labor, and who seeks to enter the United States temporarily for the sole purpose of pursuing a definite course of study at such institution.

4. An approved school, within the meaning of the Act, is any accredited school, college, academy, seminary, or university which has been established for at least two years, and which has applied for and received the approval of the Secretary of Labor as a school for immigrant students. When a school is approved the Department of State informs all American Consular Offices, and until so advised consular officers are not in a position to consider an intending student's application for a non-quota immigration visa.

5. The Bureau of Immigration can advise whether a particular school has been approved but it can be of no assistance in the matter of obtaining visas for students. It may be suggested, however, that persons desiring to enter the United States temporarily as students, should first apply to an institution of learning for admission thereto for the purpose of pursuing a definite course of study.

5. The Bureau of Immigration can advise whether a particular school has been approved but it can be of no assistance in the matter of obtaining visas for students. It may be suggested, however, that persons desiring to enter the United States temporarily as students, should first apply to an institution of learning for admission thereto for the purpose of pursuing a definite course of study.

If accepted as a student by the admitting authorities of the designated school, the applicant should then present evidence of this fact to the proper American Consular officer in the district where he resides and, if the school is on the approved list, the Consul will be in a position to consider an application for the necessary visa. It is further suggested that an applicant should be prepared to satisfy the consular officer to whom application for a visa is made that he is possessed of sufficient funds to defray all expenses during his stay in the United States, or that payment thereof is properly secured and that he will be able to devote his time solely to study.

6. The possession of a student visa will not entitle the holder to admission to the United States if on his arrival it shall appear to the immigration authorities that the applicant is not in fact a bona fide student within the meaning of the Immigration Act above quoted.

7. Any immigrant student admitted to the United States as a non-quota immigrant who fails, neglects or refuses to regularly attend the school to which he has been admitted, or who otherwise fails, neglects or refuses to maintain the status of a bona fide student, or who is expelled from such institution, or who engages in any business or occupation for profit, or who labors for hire, shall be deemed to have abandoned his status as an immigrant student and shall on the warrant of the Secretary of Labor be taken into custody and deported.

My dear Mr. Fosdick:

Both Mr. Faunce and Mr. Burton spoke to me of your statement before the Institute last Friday regarding my having 'phoned you in a highly excited state -- as Mr. Faunce expressed it "almost inarticulate with rage". I am naturally concerned that a body of men like the members of the Institute should be given the impression that I am the sort of person that telephones people in a rage, and I am, if anything, more concerned that you should have such an impression. I assume your remark was a slip of the tongue, for you will recall that I have never talked with you over the 'phone during all my connection with the Institute.

I know you will understand the spirit in which I write: I am simply anxious that you do not carry about such an impression of me.

My dear Mr. Lynd:

Your letter of the seventh has caused me a good deal of astonishment. You were courteous enough to say that you assumed that my remark to the effect that you telephoned me in a highly excited state was "a slip of the tongue". It was not a slip of the tongue. I said it deliberately and when I said it I believed it to be true. The statement contained in your letter that you have never talked with me over the telephone in all your connection with the Institute is what has caused me the astonishment.

The facts on my side are these:

About three weeks ago Dr. Fisher came to my office to talk over his relations with you in connection with the work which you are carrying on for the Institute. He showed me an agreement and I assumed from what he said that the difficulties had all been ironed out. Later that afternoon he called me on the telephone to tell me that new difficulties had arisen, and that he had come to what seemed to be an impasse. That night I was called from the dinner table at my home in Montclair by a 'phone message from Mr. Zimmerman. Mr. Zimmerman suggested that it might be wise for me to hear in person your side of the case. I told him that I didn't think it was necessary, and suggested that you put in writing anything that you had to say on the matter. Mr. Zimmerman will, I am sure, confirm this conversation. May 9, 1934.

My dear Mr. Lynch:

Your letter of the seventh has caused me a good deal of astonishment. You were courteous enough to say that you assumed that my remark to the effect that you telephoned me in a highly excited state was "a slip of the tongue". It was not a slip of the tongue. I said it deliberately and when I said it I believed it to be true. The statement contained in your letter that you have never talked with me over the telephone in all your connection with the Institute is what has caused me the astonishment.

The facts on my side are these:

About three weeks ago Dr. Fisher came to my office to talk over his relations with you in connection with the work which you are carrying on for the Institute. He showed me an agreement and I assumed from what he said that the difficulties had all been ironed out. Later that afternoon he called me on the telephone to tell me that new difficulties had arisen, and that he had come to what seemed to be an impasse. That night I was called from the dinner table at my home in Montclair by a phone message from Mr. Zimmerman. Mr. Zimmerman suggested that it might be wise for me to hear in person your side of the case. I told him that I didn't think it was necessary, and suggested that you put in writing anything that you had to say on the matter. Mr. Zimmerman will, I am sure, confirm this conversation. Fifteen minutes later I was again called from the dinner table to the telephone. It was a long distance call and I remember that the connection was very poor. I understood the caller to say his name was Lynd. It seemed perfectly natural that it should be you, inasmuch as I had just given you a message through Mr. Zimmerman. The man appeared to be quite excited and insisted that it was necessary for him to see me in Montclair that evening. I told him that it would be impossible for me to see him. I also told him that I thought that he was making a mountain out of a mole-hill. He continued to insist -- in the end with considerable heat, and with what I then took to be incoherence. Finally I rather peremptorily declined to see him that evening and rang off. I remember telling Mrs. Fosdick as I rejoined her at the table that you seemed quite inarticulate in your wrath, and I thought that you had worked yourself into a more or less hysterical condition. It never occurred to me that it was anybody other than you.

Now I find myself wondering who my caller was. I suspect that his rage was due to the fact that what I said didn't match anything that he was trying to tell me.

I am sincerely sorry that this mistake occurred, and I am anxious that you should know on what basis I made my remark at the meeting of the Directors the other afternoon. I am sending a copy of this letter to both Mr. Faunce and Mr. Burton so that they may fully understand the situation.

May I take this opportunity to express the hope that the difficulties in regard to your work may soon be straightened out and that we may arrive at some satisfactory conclusion in regard to the carrying out of this project in which we have a common interest.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Robert S. Lynd

AN EXPERIMENT IN WORLD-FRIENDSHIP

FOR SEVERAL MONTHS there has been going on, in and around the University, a brilliantly successful experiment in world-friendship. There has been so much empty talk about international peace and cooperation, that this very concrete and practical application of the principles of inter-racial goodwill should not pass unnoticed.

In the weekly suppers of the International Association some 220 students of all races have been gathering to know each other and to like each other. From the very beginning these suppers have become the center of the social life of the foreign students of Chicago. Men and women from other lands have found a social group where they have felt perfectly at their ease. Here they could get together for social times and be sure that no one would edge away from them because of their color or foreign accent. There has been no high-brow exclusiveness about this association—its doors have been open to all.

The success of the experiment is largely due to the genius of one man and his wife—Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Dickson. They have been the ones to take interest in the foreign student, that so neglected element of campus-life, and to do something for him. Starting with small, informal suppers at their own home, they have gradually organized the International Association with 500 members from twenty-seven different schools of Chicago. Their sincere friendliness has won them the respect and love of the foreign students, who when they go back to their respective countries will carry with them something more definite about international goodwill than merely fine phrases.

Ash Trees Lose Beauty Contest and Position on Campus to Elm Family

Poems may not be as lovely as trees, but even dry prose has more beauty than an ash tree. At least that is the opinion of Mr. H. F. Greenham, superintendent of Budings and Grounds, who is removing all the ash trees from campus and replacing them with elms.

Twenty ash trees have been dug out, and fifty new elms are being planted. This explains the cause of the big holes that line the side walks of neighboring streets.

Three thousand three hundred dollars will cover the expense of putting in the trees on 59th street between Ellis and Woodlawn avenues, and north from 59th street on Ellis, Woodlawn and University avenues.

CAMPUS LEADERS TO CONSIDER BIG FROSH PROBLEMS

Next Year's Frosh to Have Expert Aid in Planning Careers

Campus leaders will meet representatives of all groups interested in freshmen in order to work out a unified plan for all freshman activities. The date for this conference on Freshmen has been set tentatively as Thursday, May 5th.

Arnold Johnson and Karl Hendricson have been appointed by the Undergraduate Council to investigate freshman problems and report any difficulties in the present system of dealing with freshmen and suggest any new system which might be more efficient than the present one.

Suggest Change

A change has been suggested which will be initiated through the medium of the Green Cap club which has been so effective in introducing freshmen to campus spirit and custom. As before the freshmen will meet in the circle daily at noon, but in addition the freshmen will be divided into groups of 25 or 30. Each of these groups will be under the direction of a faculty man and an upper-classman and will be known as interest groups meeting some six or seven times during the fall quarter. The purpose of these meetings is the orienting of the Freshmen within the University.

Closer Contacts

Under this new arrangement in the Green Cap club freshmen will be brought into closer contact with upper classmen so that they may be advised as to what student activities they are most suited for and as to how many activities they may be carried. Direction of freshman time will eliminate the incongruities frequently seen as the result of some freshmen going out for more activities than it is possible to carry.

Representatives of such major activities as the Cap and Gown, the Freshman Council, Freshman Football, the Freshman Forum, the Y. M. C. A., Blackfriars and the Daily Maroon will be present at the meeting. Suggestions for the betterment of freshman conditions, handed in to Arnold Johnson, Carl Hendricson and Green Cap.

REED APPOINTS HANDBOOK AIDS

Reich Named Executive Editor, '27-'28

Assistants for the 1927-28 Handbook were selected yesterday by George Reed, editor of the publication.

Paul Reich was appointed executive editor; John Freeman, feature editor; Allan King, organization editor; Leland Tolman, athletic editor; Ethel Brignall, woman's editor; Milton Peterson, business manager; Fred Robey, advertising; and Richard Parker, circulation editor.

Although it will not come out until the first week of September, work will start immediately. Handbooks from colleges through the country are being studied in an effort to make the 1927-28 Handbook more complete and useful than those in past years.

The staff requests that information regarding new organizations or any addition information concerning existing activities should be handed in at the Y. M. C. A. office as soon as possible.
