Foster Hall,

Feb. 15, 1898

My dear Mr. Rust:-

This note is to remind you that you have promised to use your eloquence, your whole eloquence, and nothing but eloquence with the Honorable Committee on Expenditures to secure an appropriation for purchasing couches, arm chairs or window seats for the Y.W.C.A.Room in Cobb Hall.

I could easily secure the signatures of from twenty to thirty young women who use the room to present to the Committee, but I thought best to leave the matter entirely in your hands, and not attempt to bring any greater pressure than a clear statement of the needs, and reasons why this room should be specially favored. These are,

(1) It is a room open to all the women of the University, and hence its comforts could be shared by all.

(2) It is the only room set aside by the University for the women which is not used as a cloak-room, and hence crowded during a large part of the day by persons who come simply to hang up coats and hats, or to get them, thus rendering the room unfit for quite conversation or study.

(3) It is the only room where a sick girl could be properly attended to and be comfortable (If there is something for her to lie upon).

(4) We have arranged to have chocolate sold at noon, and the room is now used as a general luncheon room by the town girls.

(5) The young women of the Y.W.C.A. have raised some money for curtains, and are attempting to raise more for little comforts, but it is impossible for them to get the more expensive articles of furniture. We ask the appropriation to supplement our own efforts.

(6) While we cannot ask for an appropriation on the ground of a separate House, the room serves the same purpose of a Day Club for people not located on the campus; and if the room can be made comfortable, will make unnecessary (probably) the formation of a House among the young women at present. If the appropriation is denied, the need for such a room will undoubtedly lead to the formation of a new House, on the terms stated by the President.

As I am a resident of Foster and do not need the use of a room of this sort, by chief interest in it is for the sake of the girls who do need it, and for the advantage that the Y.W.C.A. would have in a center for bringing the Association to the notice of the University women.

Please pardon so long a letter, and do your best for us. I am depending entirely upon you.

Yours very sincerely,

Laura L. Runyon

It has just occurred to me that we might possibly obtain for Handel Hall the seats now in Central Music Hall. As you know, the building is to be torn down, and possibly Mr. Field would give us the chairs. Please speak to Dr. Harper about this.

Furniture

October 29, 1909.

My dear Mr. Judson:-

The architects have again raised the question of details in respect to the furniture of the library building, and in order that I may be sure that I understand you I think it best to submit in writing the whole question, though my letter will necessarily cover some of the points settled in our conversation.

The furniture of the library may be classified, I think, in five classes:- (1) Fixed library furniture, including bookcases, catalogue cases, readers' tables, attendants' counters, chairs for reading rooms, etc. (2) Office furniture for the library staff, including desks, chairs, a few rugs, etc. (3) Office furniture for professors' offices, including desks, chairs, bookshelves, etc. (4) Outfit for classrooms and lecture rooms, including Columbia chairs with writing arms for students, platform desk and chairs for professors, blackboards, and map cases. (5) Furniture for the offices of the President and his secretaries.

I assume that the furniture in the first two lists must be purchased from the sum provided for the building and furniture, that is, from the Harper Memorial Library Fund. I assume that the fifth item will not be charged upon this fund. I am not entirely clear as to items 3 and 4.

As I am to be away for a week, and as the architects wish to send out the plans and specifications for bids within a week, may I ask you that you will write Mr. W. J. Clarke of Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge and indicate to him your answer to the questions which I have raised? Perhaps the most convenient way would be simply to send him this letter with your annotations on the margin.

Sincerely yours,

Furnishings (2)

November 8, 1910.

My dear Mr. Ricketts:

Mrs. Charles Hitchcock has given to Hitchcock Hall for the furnishing of the guest room all the old mahogany furniture which formed her own family treasures. Dr. Small, the head of the house, with the approval of President Judson, desires to have an illuminated notice hung in the guest room. This should bear something like the following:

"This room contains the Hitchcock family furniture. Through the kindness of Mrs. Charles Hitchcock it has been placed here as part of her gift to the University for a permanent memorial to her husband."

The colors of the room I know nothing about. Do you wish me to secure from Mrs. Small a sample of the hangings or some other indication of the tones of the room, or will the illumination

Gentlemen:

I find that the picture of the Tom Tower, presented by Dr. Gunsaulus and now hanging in Hutchinson Hall, was painted by J. Bridges, an Oxford artist who exhibited during the years 1819-53 thirty-six pictures, twenty-three of which were in the Royal Academy, four in the British Institute, and nine in the Suffolk Street Exhibition. The figures in the picture are painted by Thomas Webster, R. A. Dr. Gunsaulus secured the picture I believe from Walford & Spokes, 86 and 87 High Street, Oxford. Mr. G. W. Spokes conducted the correspondence. I think that he might be able to put a valuation upon the picture for you.

My dear Mr. Burton:

The furnishing of the President's Office will involve the following items:

I The President's room. This room is to have the same trim as the rest of the library. The furniture, however, is to be mahogany. The President desires the walls above the panelling to be of grass cloth, if not too expensive. He does not wish to have any reds or yellows, or "yellowy greens". I think he prefers to have a neutral blue on the walls and in the rugs. No book shelves willbe placed against any of the President's walls. It may be desirable to have pedestals in the center of the east and west walls and in the north and south wall spaces for the disposition of the four busts now in the President's office. The north wall can be properly occupied in the center by President Harper's portrait.

Funniture.

Furniture.

1. Desk. This should be a large (3 x 6) low rolled top desk of the sanitary type. In the upper right hand drawer should be room for verticle letter files. Beneath that, the ordinary flat drawers. On the left side, three ordinary drawers. Under the bed of the desk, a flat drawer with lock controlled by the same key which opens or closes the desk proper. The top of the desk must be entirely clear so that papers may be pushed to the very back of the desk under the small drawers. These drawers should be large enough to contain letters without folding.

2. Tables. Two mahogany tables, about 3 or 3 1/2 x 6, should stand at the east and west sides of the President's room. For conferences, these can be placed end to end across the south side of the room, so that large committees may meet about the table.

3. Against the north wall is to be a large leather davenport.

4. Chairs. (a) Swivel chair for the President. (b) chair to be placed at the end of the President's desk. (c) six chairs for committee use.

II The Secretary to the President's room.

1. Desk. Low roll top desk (3 x 6½. Verticle file drawers at the top, right and left, and ordinary drawers under each. The bed of the desk is to have a free surface. At the back should be small drawers with lock and library card drawers.

2. Table. A table about 3 x 6.

3. Chairs. (a) Swivel chair to match desk. (b) Six chairs like the six extra chairs in the President's room, so that these chairs can be moved into that room for large committee meetings. These six, however, should match the furniture in room #2. If desirable to have them all mahogany, the whole President's Office suite can be furnished in that wood.

4. Book shelves. Book shelves against the north and south walls. These shelves should have glass doors because much of the material to be filed will consist of rather unsightly college catalogues and various publications. All such material will be kept in this room in order to free the President's own room of any such matter. Below the cases should be space for storing material.

5. Map cases hung on the east wall should match the wood work. For the present no files will be placed against this wall. Ultimately, this can be used for filing space.

6. The walls of this room should be painted like those in the Reynolds Club. The color scheme should agree with that in the President's room. The rug also should agree with this general scheme. Probably two rugs would be less expensive than a large one for this irregularly shaped room.

N. B. Please remember the suggestion that a closet be placed in the southwest corner of this room by extending the tile

IV The ante-room. A small flat top desk for messenger and chair for same. At least four chairs or seats against the south and east walls.

I note in the passage leading from the President's office to the entrance a space for files. Are these files for the President's Office or for the library? If they are to be protected by a locked door, I shall be glad to have this space for storage purposes.

Our pictures for the most part can be used without change in the new office. There is one picture, however, which should be considered by the architects in connection with the panelling and decorations of the office. I refer to the large sketch by Henry Ives Cobb for the University as planned at first. This has always been a very popular study for visitors and should, therefore, be somewhere in the corridor of the west tower or in our ante-room. I think there will be room for it against the south wall of the ante-room. The frame can easily be refinished to match the trim of the building.
