I am in receipt of your kind letter of Aug. 3rd. I certainly appreciate the many duties resting upon you. Mr. C. A. Bruce,

The University of Chicago,

My dear Mr. Bruce:

To-morrow at one o'clock Mr. John Morley the Liberal leader in Great Britain and one of the greatest statesmen of his day, will visit the University and take lunch at the Quadrangle Club. In view of Mr. Morley's reputation, it has struck President Harper and me that it would be a fine thing to give him a student demonstration at 1:30. We are therefore asking all students of the University to assemble on the tennis courts south of the Club to serenade him. We hope to have the band present and make the occasion a notable one. Will you kindly help us by inducing the Senior College Council to cooperate in bringing out a large attendance?

Thursday afternoon at four o'clock a meeting of the members of the University and their friends will be held in Mandel Hall in honor of Prince Fushimi of Japan who will visit the University at that time. The programme, which will be very short, includes brief speeches of welcome in behalf of the students and the Faculty. My dear president Judson:

Professor J. C. Branner, Vice-President of Stanford University, has just visited us. He is a good deal of a South American, and has just returned from a year in Brazil. He suggests that some of the leading universities ask the Brazilian Ambassador, Sr. Joaquin Nabuco, to lecture on some subject or subjects of interest to university communities. He feels confident that Sr. Nabuco would be glad to give his lectures without charge, beyond expenses for the trip. He says that the Ambassador is well known to him, that he is a fine type of man, an able diplomat, and one of the ripest scholars Brazil ever produced. His father was an imperial Senator before him, and one of the men who gave form and weight to the Empire, while the Ambassador himself was the leader of the anti-slavery movement in Congress. He was the Brazilian representative in the boundary contest with British Guiana. Later he was Brazilian Minister to St. James, and from that position was promoted to the ambassadorship at Washington.

Branner says that he is an eloquent man, that his speeches in the Brazilian Congress are the finest ever delivered in that body, that he has done much in Washington to foster friendly relations between Brazil and the United States. He also says that he knows more of the inside history of the end of the Empire of Brazil than any other man. He states also that he has a lecture on Camoems-- the Shakespeare of Portugal. He is said to speak English well

Dear President Judson,

Returning home I think I ought again to take a minute of your time to renew the expression of my deep obligation for your generous and kindly hospitality, every detail of which will remain in my memory.

Nothing could have been more gratifying to me than my visit to Chicago. If you keep a souvenir of it half as pleasant as my own I will have had good luck indeed.

The words of Prof. Branner, of Stanford University, to me about Prof. Chamberlin were exactly the following: "the profoundest geological thinker now living in any part of the world". I like that expression "geological thinker". It may mean a great deal more than Geology ~~was~~ supposed to embrace.

My dear Mr. Ambassador:-

Your kind favor of the 31st of August is at hand. I appreciated very much your visit to us, which we all enjoyed greatly. I have heard many expressions of interest in your address, and all who met you felt it a pleasure to make your personal acquaintance. I only regret that the time turned out to be so brief that we could not have you meet a number of other people who would have regarded it as a pleasure and an honor. I thank you for Professor Branner's words with regard to Professor Chamberlin. In my opinion they are well warranted.

Mrs. Judson will be distressed at my negligence in not securing your autograph for her guest book. I am taking the liberty of enclosing a little slip, and if it will not be too much trouble for you to put on it your autograph she will put it in her guest book by way of repairing the omission. I beg to thank you for your extremely interesting lecture on Camoens, which I have read in part, and shall read wholly with profit as well as delight.

Thanking you very much for what you did for us, and with

My dear Mr. Ambassador:-

Your kind favor of the 5th inst. enclosing the requested autograph is at hand. Mrs. Judson will be gratified with the name, as well as with the kind thought in the letter.

I am much interested in what you say about the Argentine matter. It is my custom always to discount so-called news in the daily press, and I am especially glad in this case to have my surmise confirmed. The three great countries of Brazil, Argentina, and Chile should never be in danger of hostile collision, and I cannot believe that statesmanship would be so lacking in any one of them as to make such a disaster possible, in our time at least.

With cordial best wishes, I am,

Very truly yours,

Senhor Joaquim Nabuco,

DIPLOMATIC MEMOIRS

MR. FOSTER'S diplomatic career began in 1873, when he was appointed Minister to Mexico, and his service there covered the period of the first administration of President Diaz. In 1880 he was transferred to the Russian Court, not long before the assassination of Alexander II. The next field of his diplomatic work was Spain, where he was Minister from 1883 to 1885. In 1891 he was engaged as special agent by President Harrison and Mr. Blaine in negotiating various reciprocity treaties, and on Mr. Blaine's resignation Mr. Foster succeeded him as Secretary of State. He was the agent of the United States in the Behring Sea Arbitration of 1893 at Paris; legal adviser to the Chinese government in the peace negotiations with Japan, in 1895; member of the Anglo-American Joint High Commission on the disputes with Canada, in 1898; on the commission at London for settling the Alaskan Boundary, in 1903; and representative of China in the Hague Peace Conference of 1907.

In these two handsome volumes he not only recounts a great many events of public importance, but also writes most entertainingly about social life in the several countries where he lived, and tells of his extensive travels in other countries, especially in the Orient.

Sixteen interesting and rare portraits of distinguished statesmen of the author's acquaintance form an attractive feature of the book.

January 5, 1909

Dear Sir:-

Your favor of the 31st of December was received. I note that you will arrive Monday morning, January 18th, coming from Pittsburgh. That will bring you into Chicago on the Pennsylvania Road, and you should check your baggage to Englewood, Illinois, leaving the train at that station. If you will kindly send me word as to the train which you will take, and the time of its arrival at Englewood, (Englewood is a suburban station not far from the University), I will see that you are met at that place by my secretary.

The dates which you suggest are satisfactory with one exception. The last one you indicate, January 23d, will be on Saturday. On that day there are no University exercises, and it would be difficult to get a proper audience. I assume of course that you omit Thursday the 21st advisedly. The hour that would be best would probably be a little after four in the afternoon. Perhaps you will kindly write me your suggestion as to the disposal of the Saturday date, and as to whether it is necessary to keep Thursday free. I understand that you are to give one address before the Century Club on the evening of the 21st.

Mrs. Judson has written to Sra. Ferrero as to various social matters. I regret that I shall probably not be in the city during a part of the week of your stay here. When Mr. Laughlin went away he told me the date had not been fixed, but he expected you about the 11th. Of course the time is immaterial so far as the lectures are concerned. I shall look forward, in any event, to seeing you and Sra. Ferrero and to having a hand in your proper reception in the city. Owing to the probability of our being away we have been reluctantly obliged to suggest that the University should entertain you at one of the neighboring hotels, for which all arrangements will be made.

With cordial regards, I am,

My dear Mr. President:

I should like to confer with you at your convenience about the advisability of inviting Dr. Nitobe of Tokyo to be the Convocation orator of the University on some occasion. He is a member of the Imperial Board of Education of Japan, Professor in the Imperial University, and Principal of the chief Government College of Japan. He is perhaps the most eminent member of the Christian community of Japan, the author of a small but famous book on the old Japanese morals, called Bushido. He is a most attractive man personally. Whether we could also give him a degree is a question perhaps worthy of consideration.

LEAGUE TOURS

The League has conducted 27 tours, varying in duration, from three days to four months, in addition to a number of one-day excursions. Among the latest ventures yet undertaken by the Y. A. L., were the Eastern States tour in 1901, and the visit of a contingent to Albany in 1908; in the former, 30 boys from 13 Metropolitan Goldfields, Timber and Agricultural District Schools of Western Australia travelled on tour, lasting seven weeks, and covering the chief centers of New South Wales, Victoria and South Australia. In the latter, 448 boys from 70 City, Agricultural and Timber Center Schools visited Albany, to participate in the festivities associated with the visit of the U. S. A. Fleet. Eight companies of Y. A. L. boys formed the guards at the official landing of Admiral Sperry. The transport and commissariat arrangements for the party, which, including the officials and manual staff totalled 477, were carried out entirely by officers of the League. Some of the far-inland boys travelled nearly 800 miles to join the contingent.

During the Christmas vacation, 1909-1910, 138 boys with seven officials and a matron made a five-weeks' tour of the Eastern States, visiting all the big centres of importance. In August, 1910, a contingent of 190 boys accompanied by the Minstrel Club and football and baseball teams toured the Eastern Goldfields, to inspect the extensive mining plants.

SOME LEAGUE FIGURES

Since its inception the League has conducted "Education by Travel" Tours, which have involved the disbursement of slightly over $50,000. Up to date, boys to the number of 1800 have participated in the tours. The distance covered by parties of the League is 40,082 miles, exclusive of short excursions.

A 30,000 MILE TOUR

"The biggest scheme of its kind in all history," is a phrase that can be used with accuracy in referring to the overseas tour now being carried out by the Y. A. L. In all 40 boys, of whom 38 are from Western Australia and one each from New South Wales and South Australia, are making the trip. In addition there is a staff of four adults, including the matron, making a total of 45 with the main party, or 46 including the advance manager, Mr. Cecil Jeffrey.

PRESENT TOUR ADDRESS

Washington, D. C. February 19, 1912.

Dean Robert Lovett,

University of Chicago,

Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir :

On behalf of the members of our party, I desire to thank you most sincerely for the kind attention received from your hands.

We shall ever retain the most pleasant recollection of the happy days spent in your hospitable city, and also the instruction and entertainment we were made the recipients of.

We feel that your kindly offices contributed largely to our wonderful success in Chicago, and we carry away with us themost grateful recollections of all that you did to make us happy.

We feel that the story of our reception will do a great deal in our country to stimulate still more the already warm sympathy the great bulk of Australians feel for their American brothers.

With kindest regards,

Yours sincerely,

Hon. Director.

Dear Mr Morris,

President Judson directs me to say that he is very happy that the foreign delegates to the International Conference in connection with the proposed celebration of the One Hundredth Anniversary of peace between English speaking peoples will visit the University of Chicago Friday, May 16. The free morning period at the University is from 10.15 to 10.45. If the delegates could be brought to the Reynolds Club at the corner of 57th Street and Lexington Avenue at 10 o'clock we should then be able to form a procession and enter Mandel Hall promptly at 10.15. The students can assemble only between 10.15 and 10.45. A visit to the University buildings would follow at 11 o'clock and occupy as much time as the Committee can afford until the hour for reaching the Union League Club. Will you let me know the pleasure of your Committee so that I can make the necessary announcements at the University. President Judson is in New York until Sunday. Our weekly calendar

My dear Mr. Koo:

We are looking forward with interest to your visit to Chicago on the occasion of our December Convocation. The exercises at which your address will be made occur on the afternoon of Tuesday, December 19. On the evening of Monday preceding there will be a reception in your honor at the University. Preceding the reception I should wish to have a little dinner for you at my house. Mr. Abbott, of the Continental and Commercial Bank, desires to have a luncheon for you either on Monday or Tuesday, at your convenience. Neither one would conflict with the University engagements. The exercises on Tuesday afternoon will occur at three-thirty. If the luncheon should occur on that day of course it would be desirable to have it close quite promptly.

My dear President Judson:-

I regret very much that another engagement, already made and which we cannot avoid, will prevent Mrs. Aldis and myself from attending the reception which you and Mrs. Judson are giving to meet His Excellency Vi Kyuin Wellington Koo, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the Chinese Republic. I thank you very much for the invitation and wish that we could come.

My mind is rather fixed on China at present as Mrs. Aldis and I sail, along with the McBirneys and Howard Shaw, towards the end of January for Hongkong, from whence we are going after a 10 days stop to Shanghai, up the Yangste River, to Pekin and ultimately across to Japan. One of the last times that I crossed the Atlantic you were on your way to China by the longer route. If you should by chance have a free luncheon down town either at the University Club or at the Cliff Dwellers and are willing to give me suggestions and advice for our trip, I shall feel deeply grateful to you. And for this reason I regret even more than usual not having the pleasure of meeting His Excellency The Ambassador.
