

Harlan

JOHN MAYNARD HARLAN.
ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR.
ASHLAND BLOCK.
CHICAGO.

February 1st, 1896.

William R. Harper, Esq., President,

My Dear Sir:-

Shortly after receiving your note of December 14th I understood that you had left the city to be gone for some weeks, and therefore have not replied until now.

My belief is that if a committee of three or five gentlemen interested in the foundation of a law department of the University of Chicago were designated by you, they could secure subscriptions of fifteen thousand dollars a year for five years.

I hope very much that the new department may be established by next Fall. If I can be of any service, I shall be pleased to be called upon.

Yours very truly,

John Maynard Harlan

JOHN MAYNARD HARLAN
ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR
ABERLAND BLOCK
CHICAGO

February 1st, 1896.

William R. Harper, Esq., President,

My Dear Sir:

Shortly after receiving your note of December 14th

I understood that you had left the city to be gone for some weeks, and therefore have not replied until now.

My belief is that if a committee of three or five gentlemen interested in the foundation of a law department at the University of Chicago were designated by you, they could secure subscriptions of fifteen thousand dollars a year for five years.

I hope very much that the new department may be established by next Fall. If I can be of any service, I shall be pleased to be called upon.

Yours very truly,

John Maynard Harlan

Harlan