President Harry Pratt Judson
University of Chicago
Chicago, Ill.

Dear President Judson:

With the opening of the Institute only a week away I am sending you a brief account of how matters are going and enclosing invitations and programs which will indicate most of the formal arrangements. Chief Justice Taft, the Governor of the Commonwealth, Mayor Peters of Boston, formerly with the Treasury Department and of the International High Commission, President Lowell and, I hope, Mr. John W. Davis will be here to speak briefly at the opening exercises, I extending a welcome to the Institute at ~~the Institute at~~ the beginning.

In an earlier letter I said that I would arrange a meeting of the Board of Advisors on Friday, but Friday is so crowded that I have transferred the meeting to Saturday. I am writing in the hope that you may yet find it possible to be here at least for the opening and if possible remain over the weekend to hear Lord Bryce's first lecture on Saturday evening.

The registration of enrolled members is coming forward so rapidly that it looks as if we should have to double up or add new groups. The invitations for the lectures have gone out broadly and are evidently to yield large audiences, at any rate for the opening lectures of each course.

Please write or wire me at once if you can be here so that I may make suitable arrangement for your accommodation.

Sincerely yours,

H. A. Field

Dear Dr. Judson,

I am enclosing in duplicate a list of the names thus far suggested for lecturers before the Institute next year. Will you kindly return one of the lists with your comments. I shall also be obliged if you will give me the benefit of your criticism of the following.

Next year the Far East, the northern neutral powers and South America should if possible be included. Dr. Redlich of Vienna, who was finally unable to arrange to attend this year expressed the hope that we would have a place for him in 1922 or 1923. If he can come next year the way will doubtless be open the year after for a lecturer from Germany. Even at present there is considerable comment favorable to a German lecturer for next year.

Dr. Charles Seymour, professor of history at Yale, has been suggested by several as a successor in the Board of Advisors in the place of Chief Justice Taft, resigned. It has also been thought that with the resignation of Chief Justice Taft the position of honorary chairman be allowed to lapse.

The question of changing the Board of advisors, say one-third each year, was considered during the recent session of the Institute. The prevailing opinion was favorable to taking no action at the present time.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot has offered several valuable suggestions concerning the Institute, having written me after a visit from Lord and Lady Bryce. Among other things he writes as follows:- "I should hope the Institute of Politics would be carried on next summer at Williamstown with all the speakers who were successful this summer but with none of those who were unsuccessful." How does the suggestion impress you?

Sincerely yours,

H. A. Garfield

October 5, 1921.

My dear President Garfield:-

Your favor of the 3rd instant is with enclosure is received. Herewith I am returning your list on which I have checked names which seemed to me especially desirable. I doubt the advisability of having a lecturer from Germany next year.

Dr. Seymour doubtless would be a suitable successor of Chief Justice Taft.

I see no occasion, under the circumstances, for an honorary chairmanship.

It would seem to me, on the whole, desirable that the Board of Advisors should be divided in three classes, so that there might be a 3 years term and a confluence of fresh thought. As to Dr. Eliot's suggestion, I certainly approve the last part of it. So far as repeating the lectures by speakers who are successful, that would be a matter I think quite in your discretion. The object of the Institute is to promote the study of international problems and relations with a view to creating a more sympathetic understanding of the ideals and policies of other nations. This purpose it seeks to accomplish by means of courses of public lectures delivered by distinguished scholars and statesmen from foreign countries, and by round-table conferences under the direction of the foremost American authorities on the various topics for discussion.

The subject chosen for the Second Session—International Relations—will be treated in its historical, political, legal, economic, and institutional phases, and special emphasis will be placed upon the problems of Central and Eastern Europe, the Far East and Latin America.

A number of eminent statesmen and scholars have been invited to deliver courses of lectures, but it is impossible to announce their names at this date since negotiations with them are still in progress.

The lecturers will be housed on the Campus in some of the most commodious of the fraternity houses so that the members of the Institute may have the advantage of frequent contact with them.

A provisional and partial list of subjects of the Round-table Conferences and the names of the leaders follows :

- 1 Frontier Problems in Western Europe and the Ottoman Empire
Dean Charles H. Haskins, Harvard University
Dr. Isaiah Bowman, Director American Geographical Society
- 2 Problems of Eastern and South Eastern Europe
Professor Robert H. Lord, Harvard University

- 7 Historical Survey of the Diplomatic Relations of the United States and Latin America
Dean John H. Latané, Johns Hopkins University

- 8 The Pacific Ocean and its Problems
Professor George H. Blakeslee, Clark University

- 9 The Rehabilitation of Europe

In addition to the above list it is confidently expected that ~~Professor Charles Seymour of Yale University, Professor William McDougall of Harvard University~~, Mr. Norman H. Davis, former Under Secretary of State, Mr. Paul M. Warburg, former member of the Federal Reserve Board and others will act as leaders of Conferences.

It is expected that about fifteen Conferences will be organized to accommodate the three hundred members which the Institute is able to provide for in the College dormitories.

The lectures will be delivered in Chapin Hall and will be open to the public without admission charge.

The Round-table Conferences will be limited to duly enrolled members of the Institute. Each member will be assigned to one Conference but will be given an opportunity to indicate the subject preferred. The Conferences will be conducted after the manner of graduate seminars, and a syllabus and list of readings will be issued if possible, in advance of the session to the members of each Conference. It is the intention to limit the number of active members in each Conference to those who by reason of specialized knowledge are able to contribute to the discussion.

The charge for accommodation and subsistence is payable bi-weekly in advance to the Treasurer.

Furnished rooms outside of the College Dormitories may be obtained for $5.00 a week or more, and room and board for $20.00 a week or more in "The Haller", "The Maples", "The Pilgrim Inn", and other boarding and rooming houses. The Institute will be glad to supply information as to rates on request. Accommodation may also be obtained in the Williams Inn and the Greylock Hotel. Dear Dr. Judson:

As between Clemenceau and Briand, which, in your opinion, would be more acceptable as a lecturer for the Institute? Clemenceau certainly would not deliver more than three lectures and Briand might limit himself in the same way. The former speaks English well, the latter virtually not at all. But M. Briand is an easy and admirable speaker. I heard him deliver his last speech at the Chamber of Deputies and found no difficulty in following him. If thought necessary, we could arrange for an interpreter. M. Clemenceau said last summer that if his health permitted he would be glad to come for two or three lectures. Unfortunately, he was away during my recent visit to Paris.

I have not yet heard from all of the invitations sent out just prior to my departure, and shall pursue the policy followed last year of making no public announcement until the list is substantially complete.

I shall be greatly obliged for an early reply.

Sincerely yours,

Yours of the 6th instant is received.

I do not feel well qualified to judge between the two men because I have not heard either. My impression would be, judging now simply from what I read and hear, that M. Briand would be preferable. I should not regard his speaking in French as a drawback. Most of the audience ought to understand his French, and in any event an interpreter could be provided.

My dear President Judson:

I am enclosing a copy of our most recent announcement knowing well that you will be interested in the choice of lecturers. The list is not complete as we hope to include a representative from China.

I am writing at this juncture to ask for information with regard to Professor Harold G. Moulton. The Round-table Conference on The Rehabilitation of Europe which has been set down under the leadership of Paul M. Warburg is likely to cause difficulty by reason of Mr. Warburg's inability to be here throughout the Session and at this time I am seeking to reconstruct the leadership. Would you think well of Professor Moulton for that position? Unfortunately I have no personal acquaintance with Moulton, but I have a high regard for his written work and that book in which he collaborated with Bass, I regard as an excellent one, much the best that I have seen by an American. Another question with regard to Moulton is, of course, his availability and perhaps you would know something on that score. I have had in mind that even if he were not able to come for the whole Session he might be willing to come for part of the Session and I might be able to combine with him some person like B. M. Anderson, Jr. of the Chase National Bank, or even Mr. Warburg himself. If the leadership were thus split up the subject itself could be split up into German Reparations, Rates of Exchange, Paper Issues, Budget Balances, and so on to most any extent. Personally I do not see any disadvantage in having a number of leaders for such a Table, or to have one leader who would furnish the continuity and a number of experts coming in for a short period. That seems to be

Your favor of the 18th instant is received. President Garfield has written me enclosing details of plans for the Summer. I should think very well of Professor Moulton's fitness for the Round-table to which you refer. Whether he will be able to go to Williamstown I do not know. I see no objection to the splitting of the subject as you suggest.
