THE MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY,

organized in 1849, the same year with the beginning of Minnesota as a territory, has accumulated a Library of 85,106 titles, which stands in the front rank, as to its extent and value, among the historical libraries of the United States. It is in the new capitol building, and is a free reference library, open daily to the public from 8:30 A. M. to 5 P. M.

The Society has taken special care to obtain all published township histories and family genealogies of the United States and Canada. Of township and strictly local histories (but not including county and state histories, nor biographies), the number of bound volumes in the Library for Maine is 123; New Hampshire, 169; Vermont, 45; Massachusetts, 829; Rhode Island, 72; and Connecticut, 161; with considerable numbers for New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and all the states, so far as these special histories have been published.

Of American genealogies, this Library has 1,729 bound volumes and 898 pamphlets, besides many books in this class published by societies, others giving genealogies of many families collectively, and the genealogical portion of township histories. These collections, free for the use of readers and students, are much consulted for tracing lines of ancestry.

The Minnesota department of the Library, relating particularly to this State, includes 1,825 bound books, and about 1,550 pamphlets.

Another department which is much consulted is the complete series of reports of the United States Patent Office. All the publications of our national government are received gratuitously, this being a designated depository library.

Files of nearly all the newspapers published in Minnesota as a territory and state, since 1849, have been gathered and preserved by this Society. Its number of bound newspaper volumes at this date is 7,467; and its number of Minnesota newspapers, daily, weekly, and monthly, regularly received, is 411, these being donated by the editors and publishers, who appreciate the importance of having them placed on file where they will be preserved for all coming time. This department of the Library is a priceless treasury of materials for future historians, showing the development of Minnesota, of its counties, and of its separate townships, from their beginning to the present date. The newspaper collection is accessible to all who wish to consult it, and is so arranged that any paper of any date can be readily found.

DONATIONS SOLICITED FOR THE LIBRARY.

The Society desires and is grateful for gifts of books, pamphlets, newspaper files, maps, manuscript narratives, diaries, letters of historical interest, and original documents of every sort which may throw light on the history of any portion of the United States, and particularly of Minnesota and the Northwest.

Especially it is desired to obtain all new publications of township or other local histories and of family genealogies. Many volumes in these departments have been received through donation. If they should not be so available, the secretary wishes to be informed when books and pamphlets of these classes are published, with note of their number of pages and scope and the price for purchase.

organized in 1891, the same year with the founding of Minnesota as a library, has accumulated a library of 25,000 titles, which stands in the front rank as to the extent and value among the historical libraries of the United States. It is the new capital building and is a free reference library, open daily to the public from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

The Society has taken special care to obtain all published township histories and family genealogies of the United States and Canada. Of township and strictly local histories (but not including county and state histories, nor biographies), the number of bound volumes in the library for Maine is 137, New Hampshire, 109, Vermont, 57, Massachusetts, 239, Rhode Island, 72, and Connecticut, 111; with numerous single numbers for New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and all the states so far as these special histories have been published.

Of American genealogies, this library has 1,739 bound volumes and 200 pamphlets, besides many books in this class published by societies, others giving genealogies of many families collectively, and the genealogical portions of township histories. These collections, first for the use of teachers and students, are much consulted for tracing lines of ancestry.

The Minnesota department of the library, relating particularly to this State, includes 1,525 bound books, and about 1,500 pamphlets.

A special department which is much consulted is the complete series of reports of the United States Patent Office. All the publications of our national government are received systematically, this being a designated depository library.

Files of nearly all the newspapers published in Minnesota as a territory and state since 1858, have been gathered and preserved by this Society. The number of bound newspaper volumes at this date is 1,767, and the number of Minnesota newspapers, daily, weekly, and monthly, regularly received, is 41. These being divided by the editors and publishers, who appreciate the importance of having them placed on the shelves they will be preserved for all coming time. This department of the library is a precious treasury of materials for future historians, showing the development of Minnesota, of its counties, and of its various townships, from their beginning to the present date. The newspaper collection is accessible to all who wish to consult it, and is so arranged that any paper of any date can be readily found.

DONATIONS SOLICITED FOR THE LIBRARY.

The Society desires and is grateful for gifts of books, pamphlets, newspapers, blue maps, manuscript narratives, diaries, letters of historical interest, and original documents of every sort which may throw light on the history of any portion of the United States and particularly of Minnesota and the Northwest.

Especially it is desired to obtain all new publications of township or other local histories and of family genealogies. Many volumes in these departments have been received through donations. It may should not be so available, the secretary wishes to be informed when books and pamphlets of these classes are published, with note of their number of pages and scope and the price for purchase.

TO MEMBERS AND FRIENDS

OF THE MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

It is desired by this Society to increase the value of its Library by a more thorough and systematic collection of all books, pamphlets, and newspaper articles, whether relating to history or other subjects, which are written by members of the Society, including its Honorary and Corresponding Members in other states and countries, as well as its active membership in Minnesota.

Friends of this Society, not included in its membership, are also invited to donate to its Library any publications, historical, descriptive, biographical, or statistical, and also similar manuscripts, diaries, letters, and other original documents, relating to this state or to any of its counties or towns, its industries, schools, colleges and universities, churches, fraternal, charitable, political and social organizations, and whatever concerns its development and progress. These publications and manuscripts, recording what Minnesota is and what her people are doing, will be of great interest and use to our readers and to future students of our general and local history.

All publications, of whatever class, written by authors living in Minnesota, whether issued here or outside the state, are desired for this Library. Will members bear in mind this department of Minnesota authorship, and kindly supply whatever they and their friends may publish? Without such thoughtful aid, often pamphlets of much importance will fail to be received here for preservation and reference in future years.

Please do not neglect or postpone this duty owed by the present founders and builders of Minnesota to this Public Reference Library in the State Capitol. Its present number of bound books is 50,288, and of pamphlets, 34,818; in total, 85,106 titles. Its Minnesota department, relating particularly to this State, includes 1,825 books and about 1,550 pamphlets. All its treasures of Minnesota, Northwestern, American, and other history, are free to all readers for consultation in the Library from 8:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. (excepting that the Library is closed Saturday afternoons from May 1 to October 31).

Information of changes of address of members, and notice of deaths, with date and place, are earnestly requested to be promptly sent for correction of the membership list.

TO MEMBERS AND FRIENDS OF THE MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

It is desired by the Society to increase the value of its library as a basis for research and systematic collection of all books, pamphlets, and newspapers, whether relating to history or other subjects which are within the province of the Society, including its Honorary and Corresponding Members in other states and countries, as well as its active membership in Minnesota.

Friends of this Society, not included in its membership, are also invited to donate to its library any publications, historical, descriptive, biographical, or statistical, and also similar manuscripts, diaries, letters, and other original documents, relating to this state or to any of its counties or towns, its industries, schools, colleges and universities, churches, historical, charitable, political and social organizations, and whatever concerns its development and progress. These publications and manuscripts, whether written in Minnesota or elsewhere, will be of great interest and use to our readers and what our people are doing, will be of great interest and use to our readers and to future students of our general and local history.

All publications of whatever class, written by authors living in Minnesota, whether issued here or outside the state, are desired for this library. Will members bear in mind this department of Minnesota scholarship, and kindly supply whatever they and their friends may publish. Without such thoughtful aid, often pamphlets of much importance will fail to be received here for preservation and reference in future years.

Please do not neglect to purchase the daily press for the purpose of obtaining and holding it in the Library. The present number of bound books is 50,234, and of pamphlets, 34,812; in total, 85,046 titles. In Minnesota department, relating particularly to this state, inclusive of 1,825 books and about 1,500 pamphlets. All the libraries of Minnesota, Northern, American, and other history, are now in the Library from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. (excepting readers by consultation in the Library from May 1 to October 31).

Information of changes of address of members and notes of deaths, with date and place, are earnestly requested to be promptly sent for correction of the membership list.

dinner in honor of our colleagues, Professor Capps and Professor Hendrickson. I greatly regret that on that date, May 28th, I am obliged to be in New York to attend a meeting of the General Education Board. We all share the regret at the loss of these valued members of our faculty. At the same time I am sure that we must feel interested in the fact that we are sending to the east evangelists of civilization, especially in the lines of classical culture, which the east obviously so much needs. It is certainly an honor to our faculty that the older institutions of Connecticut and New Jersey look to us for strengthening their faculties. We can only hope that the results will be equally beneficial to both institutions to which our colleagues are going.

My dear Mr. Hoyt:

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 27th inst. just received on my return from New York. I appreciate highly the honor of the action taken by the President and Trustees of Williams College. I am wondering, however, whether there is not some misapprehension in the matter as in 1893 I was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by Williams College. In making the suggestion, do not feel that I do not appreciate the honor intended, but I suppose that it is hardly likely that a college would give the same degree on a second occasion to the same person.

The Human Foundation

Dr. Harry Pratt Judson,
Chicago, Illinois.

The question of the hour in this age of achievement is not steam, electricity or banking but what shall I do directly or indirectly for the individual that will actually benefit the whole human race. Shall I give universities, libraries, churches, hospitals, sanatoriums, lands, parks, lakes or distribute wealth among the individual and his family, or shall I use means at the hands of science and remove the very cause of poverty in these days of prosperity with a job awaiting for every person physically able to do work at fair pay.

The Human Foundation has solved this universal problem not only making the cause of poverty clear but it has established the relation between poverty and ignorance. No sane man can deny that ignorance is the cause of sickness, that if vested with the present human foundation life education making him free to his own natural strength for health at will he can be free to earn his own wealth with his human life education he will treat the cause instead of the effect of sickness with the result of no sickness or disease which is a disgrace to human intelligence against all uncaged wild brutes immunity from disease through mere instinct.

The Human Foundation has passed the experimental stage. It is man's birthright by nature to be free from disease. The Human Foundation places him in a position where he can lay just claim to his inheritance. Prejudice through the drug interests and religious superstitions is all that has stood in the way from having already become a world wide benevolence since the inauguration of this human endowment.

Yours very truly,

May 31st 1907. Charles A. Martin Sec'y.

What Educators and the Press Have to Say Regarding Mirza Raffie's Lectures

Charles Richmond Henderson, A.M., Ph.D., D.D.

Professor and Head of the Department of Ecclesiastical Sociology, University of Chicago.

Mirza S. M. Raffie, a native of Persia, is an intelligent student and speaks the English language very well. He interprets the customs of a country which deserves to be better known in the United States, and he is able to select those aspects of life which are to us of great interest.

Professor of the Semitic Languages and Literatures, University of Chicago.

I have heard Mirza Raffie lecture on Persia, and found his presentation true to the facts and very interesting. He speaks with enthusiasm and energy, and illustrates his discourse with valuable reproductions of Persian scenes.

Fredric Mason Blanchard, A.M.,

Professor of Public Speaking,
University of Chicago.

It gives me pleasure to say that Mirza S. M. Raffie's work is of a high order. He has developed a good style of speaking, and finds himself entirely free on the platform and in the use of the English language. In his lectures on the manners and customs of his native country he is exceedingly interesting and helpful.

Wayland J. Chase, A.M.,

Dean of the Morgan Park Academy,
Of the University of Chicago.

Mirza Raffie expresses himself in English fluently and clearly, and knows American customs well enough so that he is able to select judiciously for comment in his lectures those characteristics of his native country that are most alien to our own, and so of most interest to an American audience.

Clarence Stone Yoakum, Ph.D.,

Department of Psychology,
University of Chicago.

Mirza Sinore M. Raffie has been a student in the University of Chicago for six years. I have, in that time, learned to know his qualifications for presenting Persian life and customs in the English tongue, and can endorse them as being of the highest order. Having heard him lecture, I know his English to be irreproachable, clear and comprehensible, while his rank in his own country guarantees the accuracy of every detail he gives. It affords me great pleasure to recommend his work on the platform.

Theodore Gerald Soares, A.M., Ph.D., D.D.,

Professor of Homiletics, University of Chicago.

I take pleasure in stating that I know Mirza Raffie, who is delivering lectures upon Persia. He is a man of insight and enthusiasm. He has an excellent command of the English language, so that his lectures are interesting and informing. I hope that he may have a wide hearing in America.

Mr. Thornton Chase,

Supt. of the Union Mutual Life Insurance Co.
Chicago, Ill.

I am glad to have the opportunity of mentioning a lecture recently given by Mirza Raffie, at the University of Chicago. He spoke with authority, as Persia is his home, and many of the scenes shown in the stereopticon views were very familiar to him. He speaks English fluently, and with a fine, penetrating voice, so that he is very comfortably understood.

It is remarkable how different are the Oriental customs from ours. Everything seems to be done in an opposite fashion, and it is interesting to note how similar results are obtained by directly opposite methods. Mirza Raffie's lectures are well worth attending.

Frederick Newton Williams,

Engineering Department, University of Chicago.

Having heard Mirza Raffie lecture upon Persia, I am very happy to speak concerning him.

The subject was most carefully handled and interestingly delivered. As Mirza Raffie is a native of Persia, one is confident that he is giving incidents that are wholly denied the ordinary tourist, and we thus obtain an intimate knowledge of the inner life of Persia.

I have traveled myself in the Orient and this gives me an added pleasure in endorsing the lectures of Mirza Raffie.

The Daily Maroon, University of Chicago.

"Mirza Raffie has made a careful study of the conditions in his native land, and his lectures are of additional interest because of the many valuable lantern slides with which they are illustrated."

* * * * *

"Mirza Raffie has given many lectures during the past years at the University of Chicago, as well as at other places. In these lectures he presents a fascinating, illustrated description of Persia, imparting valuable information of the topography, climate, plants, animals, commercial conditions and the varied agricultural and mineral resources of the country. He also describes accurately and picturesquely the life, character, religion and customs of the Persian people."

Lectures on Persia

BY

Mirza Sinore Muzaffar Raffie
of the University of Chicago

Biographical Sketch

MIRZA SINORE MUZAFFAR RAFFIE, scholar and lecturer, belongs to an aristocratic family of physicians in Persia, some of whom have been the recipients of very high honors at the hands of the rulers of that country. His father was the chief surgeon of the army (Hakim Bashie-fouj) in the province of Azarbayjan, Persia.

At an early age Mirza Raffie was put under the care of private tutors, and later on became an apprentice in medicine to one of the well-known physicians of his native city, Hakim Habib Ullah. After his father's death, he gave up his apprenticeship and attended the University of the Shah, the Royal Polytechnique College, in Teheran, where he received his first lessons in the English language and literature.

In 1897, against the will of his relatives, he left Teheran, in company with a fellow student, a Persian nobleman, Mirza Habib Khan, with the express purpose of going to Europe to finish his studies. He traveled first to Cairo, Egypt, where he spent three years studying English and Arabic. In the year 1900, after a few months of travel in Palestine, he visited the Paris Exposition, and sailed for New York in April of that year. After a year's stay in New York City, he entered the University of Chicago, where he is still pursuing his studies for his doctor's degree.

When he has finished his course of studies in this country he intends to return to Persia to introduce more modern methods in the practice of medicine and surgery, and to aid a strong movement for an advance in the social relationships of his people. As he has made extensive studies in philosophy and sociology, he is well qualified to present to the American public the manners of thought and the social customs of the Persians.

To those who have not had the privilege of visiting the Orient, Mirza Raffie's lectures present a rare and valuable opportunity of learning something of its rich and varied life and conditions. In fact, the ordinary traveler would not be able to see many things, such as home life, wedding customs, and the like, that these illustrated lectures so well portray.

Mirza Sinore Muzaffar Raffie

ILLUSTRATED LECTURES

1. Social Life and Customs in Persia.

Superbly illustrated by over one hundred stereopticon slides, most of them from original photographs in the Lecturer's possession. The lecture throughout has an educational value aside from its value as an entertainment. It is a revelation of life of a strange people in what is one of the most interesting countries in the world.

2. Religion and Education in Persia.

(a) Religions of Persia, Mohammedanism, Parseeism and Christianity.

(b) The methods of education in Persian schools.

3. The American Missionaries in Persia.

Their success (a) as evangelists, (b) as educators.

(N. B.—Lectures No. 2 and 3 can be combined in one.)

LECTURES WITHOUT VIEWS

4. Education of Women in Persia.

Especially interesting to Women's Clubs and Educational Organizations.

5. Persian Wit and Humor.

Short, humorous and witty Persian stories which will amuse and interest everybody in general and the lovers of anecdotes in particular.

6. The Political Situation in Persia.

This lecture deals especially with the past and present relations of Persia to the European powers.

7. Commerce and Industry in Persia.

The interesting way in which Persians manufacture rugs, shawls, silks, draperies, curtains, etc. This part of industrial life is utterly unknown to Western people.

8. Omar Khayyam, the Astronomer-Poet of Persia, and his place among the poets of his country.

9. The Revelation of Baha Ullah of Persia.

An interesting account of the New Persian Revelation, which has many followers in America.

The world would be greatly indebted to you for an expression of opinion by wire on the declaration of the rev G Stanley Hall of Clark university at Baltimore that there is a growing tendency to celibate life among college girl graduates. Points to statistics of graduates of four colleges for women that ten years after graduation half remain unmarried. In diplomatic language conveys the idea that race suicide is aided by college girls as this is our request reply should be at our expense.

What I meant to say was that in my opinion these summer people, staying here so short a time, ought to meet the principal instructors, if they register in such classes, at the outset. I know of course that you had no plan for cutting the work. In my opinion at least it is much

My dear Mr. Jackson,

May I bother

you with a little matter that I had supposed was settled? A considerable time ago Professor W. R.
Carpenter, of Columbia, who knows Holland thoroughly,

Here I let me have some letters of friends of his there. Unfortunately, his Commencement is much earlier than ours, and he expected it to be unknown before I wrote.

Now I wonder if you would be willing to write a word or two vouching for my general respectability and stamping the University seal — red if possible! — on University note paper, which you normally use?

You know that a child's movement is average. I did not have official law for anything bearing a seal.
That I could show when my character was questioned.

Three years ago I had a letter from the U. S. Com.
missions of Education, but I don't know the man now. Would you be willing to ^{let me} refer to you if I write him for a letter, or have you a Spence visiting card which you would let me present as a guaranty? I know it is heartless to ask of your labors in July, but I'll promise not to visit again.

We are still in about a fortnight.

With best greetings to you - and yours, if you write -
