

600 West 113th Street
New York City.

February 21, 1919.

My dear President Judson:

As I think you know, I was for twelve years Secretary and Factory Manager of the Acme Steel Goods Company of Chicago.

At the outbreak of the war I volunteered my services to the United States Government and later became Executive Secretary of the Mid-European Union, of which body Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, President of the new Republic of Czecho-Slovakia, was then President.

Having resigned from that office to re-enter commercial life and having for the reasons given been somewhat out of touch with business affairs, I am writing to you as one who has known me, to ask if you will be so good as to write me a letter stating in brief your knowledge of my record as a manufacturer in Chicago.

I desire something that can properly be used with others in re-establishing my business status in the minds of those who may have forgotten, or do not know it.

Yours very truly,

Elliot S. Norton

My dear Mr. Norton:

My dear President Judson:

Your favor of the 21st inst. is received. I am very much interested in knowing your plans for next year, and wish you all possible success.

Of course I am quite familiar with your record as a manufacturer and business man, and I have the highest regard for your ability and integrity. I am sure that any enterprise which you undertake will be successful.

With cordial regards, I am,
