The University of Chicago

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Office of the President

March 21, 1921

To the Alumni:

The University is deeply interested in the experiences and accomplishments of its Alumni. It desires to be informed of their activities and urges every Alumnus to report from time to time matters of importance about himself to the University of Chicago Magazine published by the Alumni Council, representing the combined Alumni groups.

The University also wishes to keep the Alumni in touch with its development and to inform them directly of its plans and progress. With this purpose in view it has prepared especially for the information of the Alumni a booklet of thirty-two pages, sketching recent developments in the University's work, and plans for the near future, with illustrations showing the University as it is today and the new buildings immediately in prospect. This is sent with the compliments of the University.

Very truly yours,

Harry Pratt Judson

Dr. Harry Pratt Judson,

My dear Dr. Judson:

I appreciate deeply the message from you and the University through the letter and the booklet entitled "The University of Chicago, 1921." I appreciate especially your statement to the effect that "the University is deeply interested in the experiences and accomplishments of the Alumni." During my stay at the University and since my departure, I have treasured all such indications, for, as we realize, such relationships are most conducive to the welfare of the University and to the inspiration of the University students.

I am very much ashamed of not having kept up my relationship with the Alumni Association. The remissness has been due to a long struggle to solve problems, financial, professional, and literary. Now that I am about to be conqueror, I can keep in closer touch than heretofore with University activities, in which, of course, I am most interested.

Permit me to congratulate you upon the wonderful progress of the University during your administration. In a measure I can appreciate what you have done, for I have known the University personally since 1903. Every year upon seeing the University in passing, I am the more proud of being one of its graduates.

Since my financial career is still problematic, I may have to lean upon the hope of contributing to the development of my Alma Mater only by using to the utmost what she has given me. That you may see the evidences of such effort on my part, I am inclosing a statement of my achievements to date.

Pardon the length of this letter, and know, please, that I deem it a great privilege and a sacred trust to hold a degree from the University of Chicago.

Very sincerely,

My dear Mr. Johnson:

I appreciate deeply the message from you and the University through the letter and the booklet entitled "The University of Chicago, 1931." I appreciate especially your statement to the effect that "the University is deeply interested in the experience and accomplishments of its alumni." During my stay at the University and since my departure, I have observed all such indications, for,
as we realize, such relationships are most conducive to the welfare of the University and to the instruction of the University students.

I am very much ashamed of not having kept up my relationship with the Alumni Association. The responsibility has been given to a large staff of administrative, financial, professional, and literary. Now that I am about to be completed, I can keep in closer touch with the University with University activities, in which, of course, I am most interested.

Permit me to congratulate you upon the wonderful progress of the University during your administration.
In a measure I can appreciate what you have done, for I have known the University personally since 1917. Everything you are doing the University is doing. I am the more proud of being one of its graduates.

Since my financial career is still problematic, I may have to lean upon the hope of contributing to the development of my Alma Mater only by going to the extent of what she has given me. That you see the value of your effort on my part, I am including a statement of my achievements to date.

Permit me to repeat of this letter, and many, others, that I look at a great privilege and a great trust to

Your note of the 21st of April was duly received. I was very glad to hear from you and to know that the booklet was valued.

The contribution of alumni to the University is measured only in a slight degree by gifts of money. We feel that when our alumni are doing the honorable work of the world in an honorable way they are thereby repaying alma mater.

In the frontispiece of the booklet sent out to the former students of the University of Chicago, entitled "The University of Chicago in 1921," there is a bird's eye picture of the University of Chicago.

Is it possible to get this picture in a larger size, that is, large enough to frame, say 10 x 15, or something like that?. If there are any larger prints available will you kindly advise me the sizes and how much they will cost?

It is possible that others may want one of these pictures for framing. Personally I do not want too large a picture.

Dear Sir:

I wish to acknowledge the receipt of your letter and the booklet entitled "The University of Chicago in 1921". I wish further to express my appreciations for the interest that the University is taking in her alumni and their progress.

The booklet is full of interest to an alumnus who has been away even a year from the Campus, and I am proud of the institution which is doing so much for and the progress / welfare of mankind.

Since last summer I have been in California studying the Japanese conditions and problems in the State as the Research Secretary of this Association. I hope to return to the University by the coming summer to resume my work on the Campus.

With my appreciations for the courtesy shown by the University, I beg to remain,

Very respectfully yours,

Dear Mr. Judson:

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Alumni Council, held last evening, the Chairman of the Council was instructed to write you expressing officially the appreciation of the Council for the Booklet recently mailed out from your office to Alumni of the University.

This booklet has come at a very timely season, when the interest of the Alumni is manifesting itself through the Alumni Endowment Fund, through the formation of Alumni Clubs and through the unprecedented vigor of all Alumni affiliations. In a very clear way the booklet describes the condition of the University at this time and suggests ways in which the Alumni can be of assistance, which I am sure will have the serious consideration of all.

I am, therefore, glad to convey to you the hearty appreciation of the Alumni Council for the booklet itself, for the spirit that prompted the publishing of it and for the general attitude of co-operation which exists between the University and the Alumni body as a whole.

Yours very truly,

Dear Mr. President:-

The members of the Denver Alumni Association of the University of Chicago direct me to compliment you upon the booklet, "The University of Chicago in 1921", copies of which arrived here this past week. It is a booklet which can not do otherwise than act as a real cohesive force in binding together more closely Alma Mater and her diversely scattered alumni. We appreciate its compilation and distribution.

Our organization wants you to know that each one of us is deeply interested in everything concerning the University and stands ready to do anything for its welfare. We are of varied age and profession, but are all united in our loyalty to Chicago and to you. We are indeed proud of the status of the University to-day and of its accomplishments thus far, and are anxious to co-operate fully with you to bring about as realities the splendid plans which you have outlined as necessary for its successful future expansion. We shall be glad to follow developments and do what we can here.

Mr. President, if your travels ever bring you to Denver we shall be delighted to entertain you. With my own best wishes for your good health and continued success, I am,

Very respectfully yours,

My dear President Judson:

Permit me personally to thank you for the booklet about the University which you have sent me and for your circular letter of March 21st. I appreciate the way in which Alma Mater keeps in touch with us all.

The booklet is most interesting and encouraging. It is especially a joy to feel that before long the University will have an adequate Chapel. Goodhue's design is wonderfully impressive.

I am not so much impressed personally by the proposed finishing of the Midway front. It looks a great deal better as it is. The distinction of the Library as it stands now, it seems to me, is lost in the proposed construction.

Faithfully yours,

Dear Sirs:

I very greatly appreciate the receipt of the little volume containing Mr. Judson's message to the Alumni. The message supplements the very interesting statement which I had the pleasure of hearing directly from Mr. Judson, at the Alumni Dinner in New York last fall.

I am glad to have the opportunity to express my appreciation of these efforts toward closer co-operation between the University and its Alumni. We learned last fall from Mr. Hughes and others, that the deep loyalty and bond of real affection of the alumni to the old Eastern colleges has been a matter of growth of generations. In Chicago, under the splendid leadership of our two Presidents, we have accomplished in the space of a half generation what has taken elsewhere a hundred or more years. It would be a splendid record of the first generation if Chicago Alumni could leave as their legacy a genuine sentiment of alumni fellowship and a sentiment developed into practical co-operation.

Upon my return from the East, I found the very interesting booklet describing the University and its plans for the future.

I wish to express my appreciation of the complete and beautiful manner in which it is presented, and I feel sure that many Alumni will find new reasons to be proud of their Alma Mater in this record of achievement. All recognize, I am sure, the great part you have played in realizing the hopes of those interested in the plans of the University.

While in New York I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Maurice Wertheim, who spoke very enthusiastically of his work under you on the Persian Mission, and asked, if the occasion presented itself, that I convey to you his kindest regards.

I have read over very carefully the booklet entitled "The University of Chicago in 1921", and enjoyed it very much.

I have a Masters Degree from the University of Chicago, and later did Agricultural Work at the University of Illinois. I have been Agricultural Adviser in this County for ten years. At the present time, I am the oldest County Adviser in the United States in point of experience. I am wondering if it would not be interesting for some of the faculty or body of students at the University of Chicago to know something of what the County Adviser's work is. I would be glad sometime to meet with such a body and explain more in detail the nature of our work. I am enclosing a little clipping which you may care to read more intimately about the work of the County.
