

2 JACKSON PLACE
WASHINGTON, D.C.

March 17, 1910.

Dear President Judson:

I was very glad to get your letter of March 15, and I am prompted to write you further because I believe we should have the cooperation of a man of your position and judgment in the matter of closer educational as well as political relations with Latin America.

Possibly you know that Doctor Paul Reinsch of the University of Wisconsin, and David Kinley of the University of Illinois, are on the delegation to the Fourth Pan-American Conference which meets in Buenos Aires in July of this year. One of the subjects on the program is, "Consideration of a plan to promote the interchange of professors and students among the universities and academies of the American Republics." It has occurred to me that you might have some valuable suggestions to make as to the discussion and treatment of this question, and you might find it convenient to discuss it with these men whom I have named, inasmuch as they come from your section.

It now looks as if this Conference is to be the most important that has ever been held upon the Western Hemisphere, and that it will have a far-reaching effect upon Pan-American understanding, friendship and peace. We, therefore, desire the interest of a man like yourself.

I am enclosing a copy of the program of the Conference, and I am also sending you under separate cover several of the publications of this institution, so that you may be more familiar with what we are doing.

Yours very cordially,

President Harry Pratt Judson,

THE PAN AMERICAN UNION

is an international organization and office maintained by the twenty-one American republics, controlled by a Governing Board composed of the Secretary of State of the United States and the Diplomatic Representatives in Washington of the other American nations, administered by a Director General and Assistant Director chosen by this Board and assisted by a staff of statisticians, compilers, trade experts, translators, editors, librarians and clerks, and devoted to the development and conservation of commerce, friendly intercourse and good understanding among all the American republics.

Sir:

In my capacity as the executive officer of the Pan American Union, an international organization devoted to the development of Pan American comity and commerce, it often devolves upon me to propose, or take the initiative in, plans which will bring about better acquaintance, closer sympathy and larger commerce among the twenty-one republics of the Western Hemisphere.

The remarkable visit of Elihu Root to Latin America in 1906, the reorganization of this institution as a result of such visit, the special attention which Secretary Knox is giving to the relations of the United States with that part of the world, the recent Pan American Conference in Buenos Aires to which the United States sent a distinguished delegation headed by Ex-Ambassador Henry White and containing representative men from different parts of the country, the wonderful increase of the trade of the United States with Latin America during the last decade (from $300,000,000 to over $600,000,000, or 100% and a better showing in percentage than that with any other section of the world), and the approaching completion of the Panama Canal, are all considerations which ought to make pertinent and timely the following suggestion.

It seems desirable and advisable to organize in the near future THE PAN AMERICAN SOCIETY OF THE UNITED STATES with headquarters in New York City, whose purpose and scope in relation to Latin America shall be akin to that of the PILGRIMS with reference to Great Britain, and the JAPAN SOCIETY with reference to Japan and the AMERICAN ASIATIC ASSOCIATION with reference to the Far East, which have done much to promote friendship and brotherhood among the nations concerned, and good fellowship and better acquaintance among their representative men.

When last summer the Presidents-elect of the great republics of Brazil and Argentina, in response to the invitation of President Taft and Secretary Knox, were on the point of visiting the United States after being shown great honors in Europe, there was no society or organization in New York ready to provide an appropriate welcome in the form of a notable dinner or reception.

The remarkable visit of William Root to Latin America in 1906, the reorganization of this institution as a result of such visit, the special attention which Secretary Knox is giving to the relations of the United States with that part of the world, the recent Pan American Conference in Buenos Aires to which the United States sent a distinguished delegation headed by Ex-Ambassador Henry White and commanding representative men from different parts of the country, the wonderful increase of the trade of the United States with Latin America during the last decade (from $200,000,000 to over $600,000,000, or 100% and a better showing in percentage than that with any other section of the world), and the approaching completion of the Panama Canal, are all considerations which ought to make pertinent and timely the following suggestion.

It seems desirable and advisable to organize in the near future the Pan American Society to the United States with head-

About the time of writing this letter José Limantour, the eminent Minister of Finance of Mexico, is expected to arrive in New York and yet there is no PAN AMERICAN SOCIETY to do him honor, and numerous other opportunities are continually presenting themselves, which, if improved, would produce a profound impression of appreciation in the Latin American republics from which noted men are coming to us.

In January there will arrive in this city Dr. Victorino de la Plaza, Vice President of the Argentine Republic and one of the greatest living South Americans, on a special official visit to the United States Government and people. The importance of his coming is shown in the fact that he will be conveyed in the principal ship of the Argentine Navy. An appropriate occasion for the first large meeting of the PAN AMERICAN SOCIETY of the United States would be a dinner in his honor.

It is suggested that Senator Root should be asked to serve as the first President of this Society and I hope that he may be persuaded to accept. The project has the personal interest and approval of President Taft, Secretary Knox, and the Latin American Ambassadors and Ministers in Washington. They have all expressed themselves hopeful of its success and ready to give it all moral support in their power.

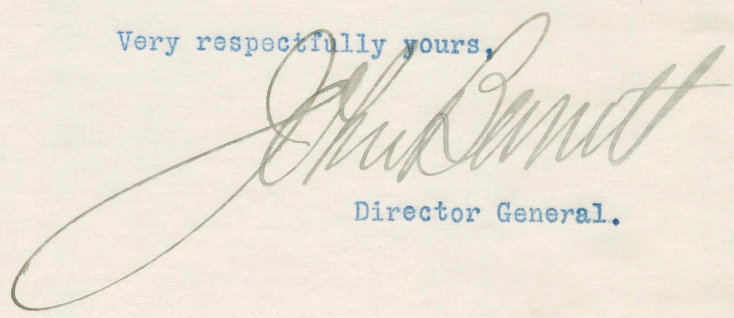

Membership will involve no obligation beyond the payment of small annual dues (probably ten dollars) to defray current expenses of stationery, printing, and clerk hire, and the participation when possible in dinners or other gatherings to be determined by an executive or entertainment committee.

Please kindly inform me at your earliest convenience whether you are willing to become a member of such a Society. If so, there will be sent you in due time a notice of the first meeting to elect officers and frame rules. If you can suggest the names of men who might be invited to membership or who are interested in Pan American matters please inform me.

Dear Mr. President:

The Fourth Pan American Conference which assembled in Buenos Aires in July, 1910, adopted a resolution providing for an interchange of students between the Universities of the American Continent. A copy of the portion of the Resolution relating to this subject is enclosed herewith.

The Pan American Committee of the United States is most anxious to do everything in its power to make this project effective and we are, therefore, sending out this inquiry with a view to ascertaining the attitude of American universities and colleges with reference to the subject.

We feel that this step would be a most important one in the establishment of closer intellectual relations with countries of Latin America, and would have a marked influence in bringing these countries closer to the United States. In order to make the plan effective, however, it is necessary that our American universities and colleges establish a series of scholarships for Latin American students. If possible, these scholarships should not only cover the cost of tuition, but an amount sufficient to pay the actual expenses of such student for a period of four years. We feel that our higher institutions would be doing a patriotic service in co-operating to make effective this resolution of the Pan American Conference. It is altogether likely that in return for such privileges the Latin American governments would be willing to establish travelling scholarships for advanced American students, who desire to conduct special investigations in these countries.

We are sending you this preliminary inquiry, with a view to ascertaining: (1) Whether your institution would be willing to offer one free scholarship for a Latin American student, covering the tuition and the necessary living expenses for a period of four years. This would involve the awarding of such a scholarship but once in four years in order not to constitute too heavy a financial burden. (2) If this is not possible, could your institution establish a scholarship for one Latin American student, covering simply the cost of tuition?

We will much appreciate a very frank expression of your views on this subject, and beg to remain,

President,

"The Fourth International American Conference being of opinion that it would be well for the strengthening of the solidarity of the nations of the Continent that there should be an interchange of students between the American Universities, resolves:

My dear President Judson:-

I have given some consideration to the letter of Mr. John Barrett, Secretary of the Pan American Committee of the United States, in which he raises with you the possibility of arranging for a scholarship in the University of Chicago to be given to Latin American students.

It seems to me quite out of the question that under our practice we should provide, as he suggests, both for tuition and living expenses over a period of four years. On the other hand, I see no reason why we might not properly use one of our scholarships in the colleges to take care of such a student, provided we could be properly assured that his preparation was adequate and that his general capacities and moral character were satisfactory. I should recommend that the experiment be tried on these terms.

Copy of Letter from the Commissioner General of the Anglo-American Exposition to The Philadelphia Commercial Museum

Dear Sir:—

It would doubtless be of interest for you to know the following particulars as to the situation of the British section in connection with the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Immediately the decision of the British Government had been made public to the effect that Great Britain would not be represented at the San Francisco Exposition, the Earl of Kintor, the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Anglo-American Exposition, to be held in London in celebration of the one hundred years of peace and progress between the United States and Great Britain, next year, proposed to his committee that the whole of the members of the General Committee of the Anglo-American Exposition should use their influence to have the decision of the British Government reversed, and failing in the succeeding of this, as they were organized and in touch with all the important British manufacturers for the British section of the Anglo-American Exposition, the same machinery should be utilized for the purpose of taking in hand the British section of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. This idea has been most enthusiastically received and approved.

One of the difficulties in the way of the British Government making a display at the Panama-Pacific Exposition is the attitude of Germany toward that Exposition. It might be explained that in practically all important foreign countries an association is in existence with the direct support and approval of the respective governments, whose business it is to organize on behalf of their country their sections in expositions abroad (not of a domestic nature). England, however, is on a slightly different footing, as in place of an association formed of the manufacturers of the country who will consider a proposition merely on the commercial benefit likely to be derived, it is a branch of the Board of Trade, a department of the Government. Consequently, in Britain's decision political interests must also be taken into consideration, in place of a decision merely depending on the commercial benefits likely to be derived.

Upon the invitation of the German association of exhibitors, a meeting was held in Berlin last year when a sort of an arrangement was made between the respective associations (the Board of Trade in the case of Great Britain) so that where one government did not exhibit others would likewise decline; in fact, a combination for the purpose of generally strengthening the position of these associations. The United States not having any similar body, of course, were entirely unrepresented at the conference, so that the result is that so long as Germany steps out of the Panama-Pacific Exposition England must follow suit.

There has been an opinion expressed in England, however, that Germany at the last minute will reverse the decision and exhibit after all, and as the associations in Germany are composed of the actual manufacturers, the exhibitors, directly this decision is reversed a German section of full strength will be forthcoming in a comparatively short time, but if this date is left too late, even if the British Government then likewise change their decision, they not being in this position, will be obliged to start the work of collecting together the British exhibitors and making up the section, the work already existing in Germany, and that this is a method on the part of certain German industrial concerns to take a step ahead of Great Britain.

In view of the active attitude taken by the Executive Committee of the Anglo-American Exposition, it would appear more likely that the opposite will be the result, for, in connection with the Anglo-American Exposition, working committees are in existence composed of the most eminent men in practically all the important trades in Great Britain, and these men are working their hardest on the formation of the respective sections for the Exposition in London next year, so that, should the British Government not reverse the decision, the whole of the exhibits will be transshipped complete to San Francisco, and as that section at the Anglo-American Exposition will cover about two million square feet of floor space, it will result in a very important display of British manufacturers. It will prove of double benefit to the British exhibitors who will thus be able to utilize the one expenditure for two expositions and reap the benefit of freight rates on account of the shipment of the whole section at one time, and the easier facilities for reerection. These particulars have been received with gratification by the members of the American Executive Committee, and others on this side, and greatly increased the enthusiasm and activity on the formation of the American section, for London.

It is felt that until the United States takes up the attitude of supporting more liberally the expositions held abroad it is not surprising that expositions in this country are placed in the unfortunate position that the Panama-Pacific Exposition has been placed by reason of the decisions of Great Britain and Germany.

In conclusion, enclosed is a list of the working committees of the British section of the Anglo-American Exposition. It will show the strong organization available for the purpose, and in addition point out that at a meeting of the Alimentation and Foodstuffs Committee, held recently, it was resolved:

"That this committee still hopes His Majesty's Government may see a way to give the Panama Exhibition official support; failing which this committee is prepared to do its best to make the British section of the San Francisco Exposition a complete success."

Likewise, the Chemical Industries Committee also pledges itself to do its best in the formation of the British section in San Francisco.

Amongst the members of these committees are included Sir Thomas Lipton, Sir Thomas Dewar, Sir W. H. Lever, Sir Wm. Ramsay, James Buchanan, Esq., and many heads of large English business concerns.

Copy of Letter from the Commissioner General of the Anglo-American Exposition to The Philadelphia Commercial Museum

Dear Sir:—

It would doubtless be of interest for you to know the following particulars as to the situation of the British section in connection with the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Immediately the decision of the British Government had been made public to the effect that Great Britain would not be represented at the San Francisco Exposition, the Earl of Kimberley, the Chairman of the Committee of the Anglo-American Exposition, to be held in London in celebration of the one hundred years of peace and progress between the United States and Great Britain, next year proposed to his committee that the whole of the members of the General Committee of the Anglo-American Exposition should use their influence to have the decision of the British Government reversed, and failing in the securing of that, as they were organized and in touch with all the important British manufacturers for the British section of the Anglo-American Exposition, the same machinery should be utilized for the purpose of taking in hand the British section of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. This idea has been most enthusiastically received and approved.

One of the difficulties in the way of the British Government making a display in the Panama-Pacific Exposition is the attitude of Germany towards that Exposition. It might be explained that in practically all important foreign countries an association is in existence with the direct support and approval of the respective governments, whose business it is to organize on behalf of their country their sections in expositions abroad (not of a purely domestic kind). England, however, is not a member of any such association, and in place of an association, formed of the manufacturers of the country who will consider a proposition strictly on the commercial benefit likely to be derived, it is a branch of the Board of Trade, a department of the Government. Consequently in British decision-making interests must always be taken into consideration, in place of a decision merely depending on the commercial benefits likely to be derived.

Upon the invitation of the German association of expositions, a meeting was held in Berlin last year when a sort of an arrangement was made between the respective associations (the Board of Trade in the case of Great Britain) so that where one government did not exhibit others would likewise decline, in fact, a combination for the purpose of generally strengthening the position of these associations. The United States not having any similar body, of course, were entirely unconnected at the conference, so that the result is that so long as Germany keeps out of the Panama-Pacific Exposition England must follow suit.

There has been an opinion expressed in England, however, that Germany at the last minute will reverse the decision and exhibit after all, and as the association in Germany are composed of the actual manufacturers, the exhibitors, directly this decision is reversed a German section of full strength will be forthcoming in a comparatively short time, but it is not likely that the British Government will be able to make any such change of decision, they not being in this position, will be obliged to wait the work of collecting together the British exhibitors and making up the section, the work already existing in Germany, and that this is a matter on the part of certain German industrial concerns to take a step ahead of Great Britain.

In view of the active attitude taken by the Executive Committee of the Anglo-American Exposition, it would appear more likely that the opposite will be the result, for in connection with the Anglo-American Exposition, working committees are in existence composed of the most eminent men in practically all the important trades in Great Britain, and these men are working their hardest on the formation of the respective sections for the Exposition in London next year, so that should the British Government not reverse the decision, the whole of the exhibitors will be transhipped complete to San Francisco, and as the section at the Anglo-American Exposition will cover about two million square feet of floor space, it will result in a very important saving of British manufacturers. It will prove of double benefit to the British exhibitors who will thus be able to utilize the one expenditure for two expositions and reap the benefit of freight rates on account of the shipment of the whole section at one time, and the easier facilities for reception. These particulars have been received with gratification by the members of the American Executive Committee, and officers on the side and greatly increased the enthusiasm and activity on the formation of the American section, for London.

It is felt that once the United States takes up the attitude of supporting more liberally the expositions held abroad it is not surprising that expositions in this country are placed in the subordinate position that the Panama-Pacific Exposition has been placed by reason of the decision of Great Britain and Germany.

In conclusion, enclosed is a list of the working committees of the British section of the Anglo-American Exposition. It will show the strong organization available for the purpose, and in addition point out that at a meeting of the Alimentation and Foodstuffs Committee, held recently, it was resolved:

"That this committee still hopes His Majesty's Government may see a way to give the Panama Exposition official support; failing which the committee is prepared to do its best to make the British section of the San Francisco Exposition a complete success."

Likewise, the Chemical Industries Committee also pledges itself to do its best in the formation of the British section in San Francisco.

Among the members of these committees are included Sir Thomas Agnew, Sir Thomas Dewar, Sir W. H. Lever, Sir Wm. Ramsay, James Buchanan, Esq., and many heads of large English business concerns.

DECEMBER 27, 1915 - JANUARY 8, 1916.

G. L. SWIGGETT,
ASSISTANT SECRETARY

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY GENERAL
PAN AMERICAN UNION
WASHINGTON, D. C., U. S. A.

April 10, 1915. 7

Dear President Judson:

I beg to write to you in re an educational conference on commercial preparation for foreign service which, through the cooperation of a small number of interested institutions, I was endeavoring to hold as early as possible.

At the time of my last communication to you, I was considering an offer to come to Washington and assist Mr. John Barrett in the organization of the Second Pan American Scientific Congress. The opportunity presented to me, as the Assistant Secretary in the furtherance of my interest in the entire question of educational preparation for foreign service, is such that I feel it would be unwise for me not to avail myself at this time of this opportunity. The offer came unexpectedly and demanded an immediate decision. I was compelled to leave Knoxville hurriedly and have been unable, owing to the heavy burdens of my new position, to acquaint you, since my arrival, with my leave of absence to undertake this new work.

I take pleasure in stating that I am now able to take up at once the question of the educational conference. This conference will likely be called in the early future to meet in Washington under far more favorable auspices than one might hope for had I succeeded, as an individual, in bringing about the conference.

In conclusion, I beg to state that this conference will comprise a small gathering of the presidents and interested faculty members of some twenty-five of our leading institutions, who will be asked to engage, for not more than two sessions, in an expert and constructed ^{live} discussion of a few specific questions bearing on the question of the needs and possibilities in the educational institutions of our country for proper instruction in international relations, as these concern diplomacy and trade. You have been asked to submit previous correspondence to the interested member of your faculty. I find it impossible at this moment to write to these gentlemen, with some of whom I have had the pleasure of corresponding. May I ask you to refer this letter to that person to whom you have referred my previous correspondence?

At your earliest opportunity, may I ask you to write me, confirming an earlier letter, that you will attend, or send a representative from your University to attend, a preliminary conference on educational preparation for foreign service with specific discussion of the above mentioned questions. I am asking this of you in order that those of us here interested in the success of such a conference may have some information in advance as to the probable number of participating institutions.

Thanking you for your kind consideration, I am,

Very faithfully yours,

President Harry Pratt Judson,

In re Educational Conference on Foreign Service Training:

Dear President Judson:

After many delays incident to the pressing duties of my new position as the assistant organizing officer of the Second Pan American Scientific Congress, I am now in a position to communicate to you definite action on the part of the gentlemen interested in and co-operating with me in calling this Preliminary Conference. May I first say that I had hoped to call this Conference for one or two sessions during the week of the Pan American Financial Conference, in the belief that some of the discussions of the latter might be of interest and profit to the gentlemen attending the small Educational Conference. After several interviews, on May 7th I received a letter from the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Honorable A. J. Peters, in which he expressed his cordial "appreciation of the interesting possibilities of the Educational Conference," but stated that only those could be invited to the Financial Conference who came as delegates to confer with the delegates of Latin American countries.

Subsequent to this decision the possibility of calling this Conference now, as earlier suggested, through my own initiative, or later, with the beginning of the next college year, was discussed by me with Dr. P. P. Claxton, Commissioner of Education, Dr. E. E. Pratt, Chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Mr. Wilbur Carr, Director of the Consular Service, and Mr. John Barrett, Director General of the Pan American Union. I am now permitted and authorized by them to state that a conference for the specific purpose which I have so long cherished will be called by them, through the invitation of the Commissioner of Education, early in October of this year, meeting in the Pan American Union building on the invitation of the Director General.

I am now permitted and authorized by them to state that a conference for the scientific group which I have so long cherished will be called by them, through the invitation of the Commissioner of Education, early in October of this year, meeting in the Pan American Union building on the invitation of the Director General.

In conclusion, I beg to state that this conference will be enlarged to include some of the larger educational institutions with which I have not been in correspondence. The conference, therefore, will be more comprehensive in character and should ultimately prove more helpful in furthering the specific training concerning which I have been permitted to correspond with you. You will doubtless receive within the next ten days a formal invitation to participate in this conference through the Commissioner of Education.

In cordial appreciation of the generous interest that you have shown in your earlier correspondence, I am,

CABLE ADDRESS: "PAU, WASHINGTON"

Dear Sir:

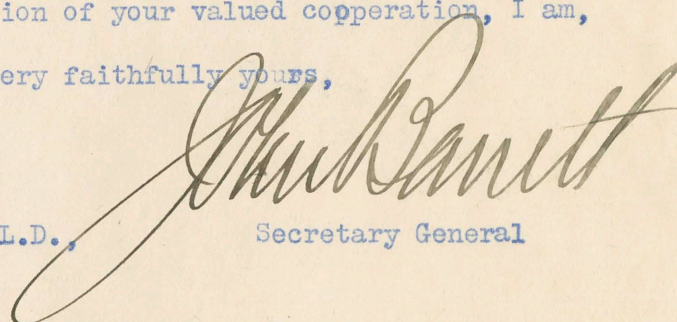

You have received, or will shortly receive, a formal invitation through the Secretary of State, the Honorable William Jennings Bryan, for your institution to participate as a member in the Second Pan American Scientific Congress, which is to be held under the auspices of the United States Government in Washington, D. C. December 27, 1915, to January 8, 1916.

This Congress is the Second of this name. The First Congress, held in Santiago in 1908, with the Chilean Government as host, had its origin in earlier Latin American scientific congresses, and was generously broadened to include the United States in the belief that the United States should share in their laudable undertaking. This conviction was further shown in the unsolicited and voluntary action of the First Congress in the selection of Washington as the place of meeting for the Second.

In consideration of the opportunity that such a Congress affords in the advancement of science, culture and commerce, and in the establishment of more intimate relations of friendship and mutual helpfulness among the Republics of the Western Hemisphere, may I beg to express the hope that you will appoint, before the close of the present scholastic year, one delegate, with alterante, to represent your institution at this great Congress, and that you will present at the earliest opportunity to your Faculty, for the consideration of its members, the copy of the Preliminary Program which is being mailed you under separate cover.

In grateful appreciation of your valued cooperation, I am,

Very faithfully yours,

Secretary General

PAN AMERICAN FINANCIAL CONFERENCE.

(Special Memorandum of Information)

In view of the great number of requests for specific information regarding the coming Pan American Financial Conference which have been received in the office of the Pan American Union from newspapers, magazines, trade publications, bankers, financiers, and others interested Director General John Barrett has issued the following statement:

The Pan American Financial Conference which has been called by the Secretary of the Treasury, William G. McAdoo, to meet in Washington, May 24, bids fair to be the most representative gathering of American financiers which has ever assembled on the Western Hemisphere. In some respects it has possibilities of being the most important international conference which has met in the United States since the first great International Conference of American Republics which was held in Washington in the winter of 1889-1890 and presided over by James G. Blaine, then Secretary of State.

At this writing (April 15) seventeen of the twenty Latin American governments have formally accepted the invitation to participate which was extended to them by President Wilson through the State Department. Twelve of the republics, namely, Argentina, Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Salvador and Uruguay. Five others, Ecuador, Guatemala, Honduras, Venezuela and Cuba have announced that they will presently appoint their delegates. Two other countries, Brazil and Haiti, have not yet accepted the invitation, but will probably take action in the near future. Mexico can not be expected to be represented under present conditions, although it has been suggested that some prominent Mexican financiers, not connected with the revolutionary factions, be invited to participate.

The official call for the Conference is based upon a provision contained in the Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation Bill passed at the last Congress, as follows:

"The President is hereby authorized to extend to the Governments of Central and South America an invitation to be represented by their ministers of finance and leading bankers, not exceeding three in number in each case, to attend a conference with the Secretary of the Treasury in the city of Washington at such date as shall be determined by the President, with a view of establishing closer and more satisfactory financial relations between their countries and the United States of America, and authority is hereby given to the Secretary of the Treasury to invite, in his discretion, representative bankers of the United States to participate in the said conference, and for the purpose of meeting such actual and necessary expenses as may be incidental to the meeting of said conference and for the entertainment of the conferees the sum of $50,000 is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury."

By the wording of this provision it will be noted that each country is entitled to four delegates, although several of the countries will probably send only two or three. It can be safely assumed, therefore, that fully sixty delegates will attend the Conference from the twenty Latin American republics. This will make indeed a notable gathering worthy of practical and reciprocal interest on the part of the bankers and financiers of the United States, and it is to be hoped not only that the newspapers of the United States will show particular interest in this gathering but that the financial and business organizations and men of the country will manifest a spirit of hospitality and appreciation of the coming of these Latin American men of distinction which will react favorably upon the Latin American governments and peoples.

The delegates from the southern countries will be guests of the United States government from the time of their arrival in this country until the Conference or the program connected with it is concluded. The sessions will be fittingly held in the Hall of the Americas of the Pan American Union, the official international organization of the American republics devoted to development of commerce, friendship and peace among them. It is probable that this inaugural ceremony May 24 will be characterized with speeches of welcome by President Wilson, Secretary Bryan, Secretary McAdoo and some of the Latin American representatives. While the plan of entertainment has not yet been fully worked out, it is intended to give a reception on the opening night in the Pan American Building, which will allow the delegates to become acquainted with each other and the representative United States financiers and officers in attendance.

The Conference is expected to last through the entire last week of May and possibly may reach through the first week of June. After its adjournment it is now intended to take the delegates for visits to some of the principal financial and commercial centers of the United States, and there is some possibility of their being taken in a special train to California to see the great expositions. Already several cities and their banking and commercial organizations have expressed a strong desire to entertain the delegates, and there are indications that the competition to show them courtesies will be greater than the itinerary will permit.

Following the general plan of organization of such conferences, it is possible that there will be official delegates appointed by the United States Government and that their number will be supplemented by representative bankers, financiers and commercial leaders whose cooperation and participation will be helpful in making the Conference a practical success. What will actually be done in this respect will, of course, be determined by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The principal purpose of the Conference, as already announced by Secretary McAdoo, is not only to discuss and consider carefully the financial relations of the United States with the Latin American republics but to devise practical ways and means of permanently improving these relations along these lines which will be for the good of all the countries concerned. Closely allied to this purpose will be that of reaching conclusions as to the improvement also of general conditions and facilities of commerce, trade and transportation. As it is, moreover, a fact recognized by all the American governments that entirely new conditions of financial and commercial relationship between the United States and the Latin American republics have been brought about by the war, it is highly important that there shall be a new adjustment upon lines which will safeguard all the countries concerned against the embarrassments and depression which they have necessarily suffered from the upset of the commercial machinery caused by the war.

Below is given a list of the delegates which have been appointed by the various governments at this writing. In addition to these, the Secretary of the Treasury has invited as ex officio delegates to the Conference the Latin American Ambassadors and Ministers in Washington, Secretary of State Bryan and Director General Barrett of the Pan American Union.

ARGENTINA: Samuel Hale Pearson, Director of the National Bank of Argentina; Richard C. Aldao, former Minister of Finance for the Province of Buenos Aires; V. Villamil and John Zimmerman of the Buenos Aires Chamber of Commerce.

BOLIVIA: Ignacio Calderon, Minister to the United States; Adolfo Ballivian, Consul General in New York.

CHILE: Luis Izquierdo, former Minister of Foreign Affairs; Augusto Villanueva, Director General of the Bank of Chile; and Luis Aldunate.

COSTA RICA: Mariano Guardia, Minister of Finance; John M. Keith, banker.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC: Francisco J. Peynado, former Minister to the United States; Enrique Jimenez, Minister to the United States.

NICARAGUA: Frederick Albert Straus, banker; Pedro Rafael Cuadra, former Minister of Finance.

PANAMA: Aristides Arhona, Minister of Finance; Ramon Acevedo, Manager National Bank of Panama; Ramon Arias, Jr., Vice President of Bank of Canal Zone.

Following the general plan of organization of such conferences, it is possible that there will be official delegates appointed by the United States Government and that their number will be supplemented by representative bankers, financiers and commercial leaders whose cooperation and participation will be helpful in making the Conference a practical success. What will actually be done in this respect will, of course, be determined by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The principal purpose of the Conference, as already announced by Secretary McAdoo, is not only to discuss and consider carefully the financial relations of the United States with the Latin American republics but to devise practical ways and means of permanently improving these relations along lines which will be for the good of all the countries concerned. Closely allied to this purpose will be that of reaching conclusions as to the improvement also of general conditions and facilities of commerce, trade and transportation. As it is, moreover, a fact recognized by all the American governments that entirely new conditions of financial and commercial relationship between the United States and the Latin American republics have been brought about by the war, it is highly important that there shall be a new adjustment upon lines which will safeguard all the countries concerned against the embarrassments and depression which they have necessarily suffered from the upset of the commercial machinery caused by the war.

Below is given a list of the delegates which have been appointed by the various governments at this writing. In addition to these, the Secretary of the Treasury has invited as ex officio delegates to the Conference the Latin American Ambassadors and Ministers in Washington, Secretary of State Bryan and Director General Barrett of the Pan American Union.

ARGENTINA: General Juan Manuel de Rosas, Director of the National Bank of Argentina; Richard G. Aldrich, former Minister of Finance for the Province of Buenos Aires; V. Villanueva and John Zimmerman of the Buenos Aires Chamber of Commerce.

BOLIVIA: Ignacio Calderon, Minister to the United States; Adolfo Bolivar, Consul General in New York.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC: Francisco J. Poyade, former Minister to the United States; Enrique Jimenez, Minister to the United States.

ALL NIGHT LETTER MESSAGES TAKEN BY THIS COMPANY ARE SUBJECT TO THE FOLLOWING TERMS WHICH ARE HEREBY AGREED TO

The Western Union Telegraph Company will receive not later than midnight NIGHT LETTERS, to be transmitted only for delivery on the morning of the next ensuing business day, at rates still lower than its standard night message rates, as follows: the standard day rate for ten words shall be charged for the transmission of fifty words or less, and one-fifth of such standard day rate for ten words shall be charged for each additional ten words or less.

To guard against mistakes or delays, the sender of a message should order it REPEATED, that is, telegraphed back to the originating office for comparison. For this, one-half the unrepeated message rate is charged in addition. Unless otherwise indicated on its face, THIS IS AN UNREPEATED MESSAGE AND PAID FOR AS SUCH, in consideration whereof it is agreed between the sender of the message and this Company as follows:

2. In any event the Company shall not be liable for damages for any mistakes or delay in the transmission or delivery, or for the non-delivery of this message, whether caused by the negligence of its servants or otherwise, beyond the sum of FIFTY DOLLARS, at which amount this message is hereby valued, unless a greater value is stated in writing hereon at the time the message is offered to the Company for transmission, and an additional sum paid or agreed to be paid based on such value equal to one-tenth of one per cent. thereof.

3. The Company is hereby made the agent of the sender, without liability, to forward this message over the lines of any other Company when necessary to reach its destination.

4. Messages will be delivered free within one-half mile of the Company's office in towns of 5,000 population or less, and within one mile of such office in other cities or towns. Beyond these limits the Company does not undertake to make delivery, but will, without liability, at the sender's request, as his agent and at his expense, endeavor to contract for him for such delivery at a reasonable price.

5. No responsibility attaches to this Company concerning messages until the same are accepted at one of its transmitting offices, and if a message is sent to such office by one of the Company's messengers, he acts for that purpose as the agent of the sender.

6. The Company will not be liable for damages or statutory penalties in any case where the claim is not presented in writing within sixty days after the message is filed with the Company for transmission.

In further consideration of the reduced rate for this special "NIGHT LETTER" service, the following special terms are hereby agreed to:

Dear Mr. President :

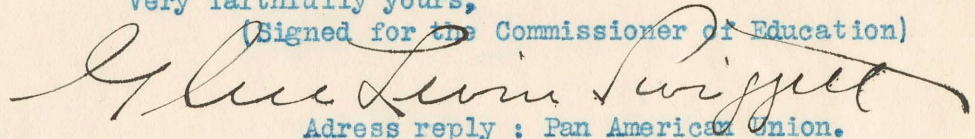

The Committee in charge of the Educational Conference on Foreign Service Training which was called by invitation of May 20th, 1915, over my signature as Chairman, for October the 4th and 5th, in Washington, decided to-day to recall this invitation and postpone this important Conference until a more favorable date in the near future.

The Second Pan American Scientific Congress which convenes in Washington the last week in December, continuing into January, under the auspices of the United States Government, will bring together a large group of our representative men in education, business and public affairs. Various Sub-Sections of the Congress, particularly that on Commercial Education, of which Dr. G. L. Swiggett is Chairman, will afford an opportunity for the discussion of this phase of Education. I look forward with pleasure, therefore, to the reissuing of an invitation for this Educational Conference, in all likelihood for some time during the meeting of the Scientific Congress.

Trusting that you will notify at once your delegates appointed to attend the October Conference, and bespeaking your interest in the later meeting, I am,

Very faithfully yours,

NEW MEMBERS

It is a pleasure to bring to the knowledge of members of the Pan American Society of the United States the names of those persons who have become members during the period from June 24th to November 1st, 1915, not included in the Year Book. It will be noted that of these thirty-six new members three have chosen Sustaining membership, twenty-five Regular membership and eight Associate membership.

All of those elected as Sustaining members, ten of those elected as Regular members, and all but one of those elected as Associate members reside out of New York, an unusually large proportion. This is encouraging in that it suggests a widening influence which the Society desires to achieve.

During the period of February 8th the date of the Society's last Annual meeting to November 1st, eighty-two new members were received into the Society one of whom became a Life member, three Sustaining members, sixty-five Regular members and thirteen Associate members. It should be noted that the new provisions for Sustaining members were first announced in June.

You should have in your institution young men and women of this character, particularly from the Latin-American countries. May I not beg you on behalf of the Executive Committee to present immediately in brief address to your students a word of greeting from the Scientific Congress and assure them that their presence at the Congress will be most highly welcome.

WRITERS OF PAPERS.

The Congress will have its formal opening Monday, December 27th, 10 a. m., in Memorial Continental Hall, Seventeenth and D Streets NW.

The Honorable, the Secretary of State, and the United States Delegation will tender a reception to the members of the Congress and invited guests Monday night, December 27th, at 9 o'clock.

There will be semi-formal openings of the nine sections of the Congress, meeting separately, Tuesday morning, December 28th, at 9.30 o'clock. Place of meetings for sections will be announced on the convening of the Congress. Each of the nine sections of the Congress will have a formal closing on Friday, January 7th. The official closing of the Congress will take place Saturday, January 8th, in Memorial Continental Hall, at 10 o'clock a. m. Immediately subsequent to the opening of each section on Tuesday, December 28th, and continuing to the close of the Congress, the various sections and subsections will be meeting in separate and joint sessions. The program for each section is now being printed and will be distributed as quickly as possible.

The official hotel headquarters of the Congress will be at the New Willard Hotel. All members are requested to report immediately on arrival for the purpose of registration, assignment to sections, and the receiving of such printed information as will be of interest. The Red Room of the New Willard, F Street entrance, is to be the registration headquarters. It is therefore suggested that on arrival members take the F Street cars which stop at the F Street entrance of the New Willard. Ushers with badges marked "Scientific Congress" will be at this entrance to receive all members of the Congress. A temporary postal branch will be established in the New Willard. Mail of members should be addressed to that office.

Arrangements have also been made for express and telegraph service, for banking, domestic and foreign, and for the purchase and exchange of railroad and steamship tickets.

The various sections of the Scientific Congress have been assigned to section headquarters as follows:

- Section I.—SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION.
- Section II.—HOTEL SHOREHAM.
- Section III.—RALEIGH HOTEL.
- Section IV.—NEW WILLARD HOTEL.
- Section V.—RALEIGH HOTEL.
- Section VI.—HOTEL SHOREHAM.
- Section VII.—RALEIGH HOTEL.
- Section VIII.—NEW EBBITT HOTEL.
- Section IX.—NEW WILLARD HOTEL.

Arrangements have been made with the leading hotels and apartment hotels for rooms for the members of the Congress. Reservations should be made at once direct with the managers of these hotels.

PROVISIONAL ARRANGEMENT FOR RECEPTIONS.

Assuming that many members will be unable to remain in Washington during the entire period of the Congress, your attention is called to the following provisional arrangement for receptions, official and otherwise, to be tendered to the members of the Congress:

Reception by the President of the Congress, His Excellency The Ambassador of Chile, Señor Don Eduardo Suarez Mujica, at the Chilean Embassy, 1013 Sixteenth Street, Thursday, December 30th 4.30 to 7 p. m.

The Trustees of the Carnegie Institution of Washington will tender a reception to the members of the Congress Tuesday night, January 4th, 9 p. m., at Sixteenth and P Streets.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY CONFERENCE.

In view of the circumstance that many of the delegates will be accompanied by their wives and daughters, it has been decided to take advantage of the opportunity thus afforded and hold a special conference of women in connection with the Congress.

Topics of interest to women on educational and social subjects will be discussed by several of the most prominent women of Pan America.

The Women's Auxiliary Conference will open Tuesday morning, December 28, in Memorial Continental Hall. Details concerning this conference will be announced shortly.
