My dear Dr. Burton:

I return the file respecting the Ingals, Thomson-Bevan, Billings and Brower Fellowships, with the following comments:

1. I enclose a suggested redraft of the recommendation of the President.

2. I enclose copies of the four agreements establishing these scholarships and fellowships.

With respect to the Thomson-Bevan Fellowship, please note that an agreement is under discussion which will carry out a new designation for the fund by the Committee of Doctors in charge of it, mamely Drs. Bevan, Ormsby and Billings. A copy of the new designation by the Doctors is enclosed. As soon as this designation has been ratified I will report to you. For the purpose of your recommendation the proposed change in this Fellowship is not material.

Yours very truly,

G. O. Fairweather

Memorandum

The President recommends that, in accordance with agreements made between Rush Medical College and certain donors, which agreements the University has taken over from Rush Medical College by virtue of the contract with it, dated May 5, 1924, the following fellowships and scholarships be offered by the University to students in the Medical Schools of the University, upon terms prescribed by the faculty thereof, and in accordance with the terms of the several donations:

The E. Fletcher Ingals, Jr. Scholarship in Laryngology and Otology	$250
The Thomson-Bevan Fellowship	250 *
The Dane Billings Fellowship	500
The D. R. Brower Fellowship	200

It is also recommended that, since the original gifts in consideration of which the fellowships or scholarships were established were used in building the Senn Building, which building has now become the property of the University and will be used in teaching students who will pay tuition fees, therefore the sums necessary to pay the annual stipends pertaining to these fellowships and scholarships be a charge upon the receipts for tuition.

*The Thomson-Bevan Fellowship is of the value of $500 of which $250 per annum is provided in the income from a fund of $5,000. The remaining $250 per annum will be capitalized upon the death of Dr. A. D. Bevan.

My dear Dr. Irons:

I am sending you herewith the first draft of budget estimates for Rush Medical College for the year 1924-25. I should be very glad if you would examine them and indicate any adjustment that should be made therein. This report has been prepared with reference to the various amounts involved rather than with reference to its form. When the budget is placed in its final shape it is my expectation to include in one document all persons connected with Rush Medical College, whether receiving compensation or not, indicating the rank so far as possible in each case.

You will note that I have reduced the estimate of miscellaneous receipts from $3,400. to $3,275. in order to give a balanced budget. As has been stated in various conferences, it will be entirely possible to revise the budget from time to time during the year, increasing the income if it is found to be in process of realization, affording thereby an opportunity of considering increases in the estimates of expenditure.

My dear Dr. Bridge:

It has been a great delight to your many friends to have you and Mrs. Bridge here again in Chicago during these latter days of interesting developments and celebrations. We appreciate more than we can easily express your interest in the development of our medical work; and remembering your generous indication to me a year ago that you had in mind to do still more for the Medical School, and your recent intimation to the same effect to others, I have been endeavoring to assemble the information as to what will be needed for the further development of our medical project.

Looking into the future -- not very remote, yet not immediately at hand -- the sums that we shall need to carry out our plans for medical work on the South Side and realize our dreams mount into very large figures. As soon as we shall finish the buildings which we shall soon begin to erect at the University, we shall need an endowment of not less than $5,000,000., and in the not distant future perhaps as much more.

For the development of the Post-Graduate School on the West Side, it is difficult to say definitely what our needs will be; but they will certainly run to pretty large figures.

Having in mind your deep interest in the medical work of the University and the generous contribution you have already made to the development of medicine on the West Side, I started to prepare a list of things having to do with the future developments in connection with the Rawson Building and the Norman Bridge Laboratory. But then I reflected that your interests were broader than those of Rush Medical College, or even of medicine in general, and that you had heard me at the Convocation set forth in general terms the great program of advance which we are hoping to carry into effect in the next decade or two; and I wondered whether you and Mrs. Bridge would not be interested in making the first contribution toward that large program, of which the first item is $6,000,000 for the endowment of instruction and research, and the second item $6,000,000 for much needed buildings.

I am venturing, therefore, to inquire whether you would not like to give to the University the first million dollars of the fifty million that I suggested in my Convocation address, one half of this million, let us say, for general endowment, and one half for medicine with such specific designations as you may desire to make.

Such a gift from you would give a tremendous impetus to our effort and would greatly hearten all the friends of the University. In a sense you would give doubly because of the influence of your gift on the minds and giving of others.

May I express the hope that you and Mrs. Bridge will allow me to come and talk the matter over with you sometime at your convenience. I shall be free this afternoon, on Sunday and on Monday except between eleven and twelve. I understand that you will probably be in the city until the twentieth. I am likely to have to leave myself on the seventeenth, but could probably arrange to meet you in the East, if that were more to your mind.

Very cordially yours,

With your kind consent given as we separated on Saturday afternoon that I should write to you further about the matter of our conversation, I am taking the liberty of enclosing herewith a copy of my Convocation Address and several tabular statements embodying the substance of what I gave you orally in my conversation.

Having your assurance that you wish to add to your gifts already made to the University some contribution to its further development, and on the other hand knowing your special interest in medical work, I have constructed my statements so as to show in a general way our plans for the University and a little more in detail the important needs for development in connection with the West Side Medical School.

As I am leaving town on the 17th and you on the 20th, a conference before your departure would probably be impossible. I expect, however, to be in White Plains, New York from the 25th to the 28th, and if you are to be in New York at that time I should be glad to come in for a talk with you. Or if you prefer I should be glad to call on you in Chicago early in July, when I shall have returned to Chicago and as I understand you will also be here for a time.

My address in White Plains is Gedney Farm Hotel.

With sincere appreciation of your gifts to the University and your personal kindness to me, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

My dear Dr. Burton:

In the letter to you from Abraham Flexner, dated February 29, 1924, appears the information that the officers of the General Education Board were "empowered to incorporate in the new agreement or new agreements a section dealing with clinical organization in general conformance with the manner in which it is described in the letter of Dr. William E. Welch, dated October 21, 1913, to the General Education Board." Is there anything in this connection in which we can be of service?

OFFICE OF THE DEAN

Chicago, March 22, 1915.

My dear President Judson:-

At the meeting of the Board of Medical Affairs held March 15th the following recommendation was passed:

> "That the Board of Medical Affairs petition the President that students who have completed twelve majors of pre-medical work be allowed to take three and one-half majors per quarter without additional tuition fee, the extra course to be one approved by the Dean."

The reason for this is to permit pre-medical students to take a half major course that will be offered in subjects particularly advantageous for them, especially Quantitative Analysis. This concession will not in any way reduce the amount of time the pre-medical student will have to spend since as he can get only one major extra credit in this way, and will be obliged to pay the full fees for six quarters as usual. As you know, medical students in the medical school are allowed to take three and one-half majors as a regular thing.

Yours very truly,

H. Gideon Wells.

Chicago, April 21, 1915

Dear Dr. Wells:-

Yours of the 22d of March is received, containing the recommendation of the Board of Medical Affairs. It seems to me the proper thing would be for such students in pre-medical courses to be put on the medical basis, and to pay the medical fees. In that way they would take the same amount of work as other medical students take.

Very truly yours,

My dear President Burton:

I have been delaying about acknowledging your letter of some days ago. I appreciate your kindness in considering the matter.

I realize that the circumstances attending my service to Rush Medical College and the University during the affiliation period have been peculiarly out of the ordinary and that they fall outside of the regulations of the University as to retiring allowance, and I doubt not that the granting of an allowance, should I ever be in need of one would be difficult to justify.

Thanking you for giving the matter consideration, I am

Dear Dr. Irons:

With reference to the three matters concerning which we spoke:

1. The Executive Committee has recommended by the Faculty will be presented at the meeting of the Board of Trustees next week.

2. The Standing Committees of Rush Medical College Faculty are approved as presented in the list sent to the President. We will be glad to have you announce them to a meeting of the Faculty.

3. The President wished me to say that he had on his desk your report concerning the organization of the Post Graduate Medical School, and hoped to give it very early attention. He has not yet been able to examine it as he desires.

My dear Mr. Tufts:

At the last meeting of the Rush faculty, the following action was taken:

"The Dean explained that the Executive Board of certain faculties at the University corresponds in function to the Council in Rush Medical College. On motion the faculty voted to delegate to such a board, to be named by the President, the powers heretofore exercised by the Council of Rush Medical College and recommended that this board consist of the Dean, Chairmen of departments and members of the faculty of professorial rank."

I shall be glad to have the approval of the President of this action and, in the event of approval, his appointment of the following members of such a board. The object of this board, of course, is to facilitate action in such matters as require action between faculty meetings, such as recommendation of students for the degree, etc.

To the Trustees of
Rush Medical College:

The wrecking contractor has reached the corner-stone of the old Rush Medical Building. The stone will be removed at 10:30 on Thursday, morning, August 28. The Grand Lodge of Masons, who laid the corner-stone in 1875, will remove the contents of the corner-stone box. In one of the rooms of the laboratory building across the street (1747 West Harrison Street) they will formally and with a brief address present the contents to the Secretary of the Board of Trustees.

It has been suggested that members of the Board of Trustees of the College may be glad to be present at this brief ceremony.

My dear President Burton

In December 1922 the trustees of Rush Medical College and of the University of Chicago kindly granted me a year's leave of absence to undertake the direction of the Bureau of Health and Public Instruction of the American Medical Association, and of HYGEIA, a health magazine. This leave of absence was later extended to October 1, 1924.

I believe that I can render larger service to the cause of preventive medicine, a field in which I am much interested , in my present work.

I would ask, therefore, to be permanently relieved of my duties as Dean of Medical Students at the University and Rush Medical College.

I should be glad to offer a short course in the department of medicine once each year, as I have been doing for some years.

Very sincerely yours

I have received from Dr. McLean a letter inclosing one from Dr. Seem giving information respecting fees received at Johns Hopkins for the treatment of private patients. The figures are regarded as confidential and therefore I am not transmitting them, but the total result is to indicate that the entire receipts of the Hospital from such patients are probably negligible as compared with the other factors in the problem. In other words if it is our judgment that the relationships with the medical profession in the city or other like considerations make it desirable not to charge outside patients they would in all probability quite outweigh any definite advantages that would follow from charging such patients. On the other hand if it is judged wise on other grounds to charge fees these must be the grounds of decision rather than any financial advantage to the University.

Dear Dr. Burton:

I have asked Dr. Seem to make inquiries concerning the income derived by Johns Hopkins Hospital for professional services rendered under the full time plan. I inclose a copy of his letter and of the accompanying memorandum.

I believe that Dr. Seem's statement explains itself. I wanted to have this information in order that we might know whether any considerable amount of income might be expected from the professional services of our full time staff. It would seem to me that the experience at Baltimore would indicate that any such income would be so insignificant as to make it unnecessary to take it into consideration in determining our policy.

Der McLean:

Enclosed is a copy of the memorandum showing the fees collected from patients for professional services. Dr. Smith says that he thinks it would be well to treat it as confidentially as possible. You will note that these fees fall in two classes--Welch endowment fees and hospital fees collected from private patients. The Welch endowment fees are collected from patients who apply for treatment directly to members of the full time staff or who ask for the services of these men when they apply for treatment. The hospital fees are collected from patients who apply to the Johns Hopkins Hospital, not asking for the services of any particular member of the staff but are attracted by the reputation of the institution. It should not be forgotten that this reputation has been established after thirty years' service of the institution and I believe is based more largely on the services rendered under the old system rather than by the service given since the full time system has been in operation. You will note that in the pediatric department, which has always been on a full time basis, there have been no collections from patients who have been attracted by the reputation of the hospital. I might say that fees for professional services have also been collected from ward patients--that is, when arrangements are made for the patient to be admitted to the hospital, if it is brought out that in addition to the regularly established charges the patient is able to pay an additional amount, a fee is charged for professional services to surgical cases. I don't believe that any separate record has been kept of the collections from this source, but the total amount is not considerable. As in most instances the per diem rate asked for the care of patients in wards does not cover the cost of this service, I think it is a very good idea to have this leeway so that an additional amount might be collected from those patients who are able to pay more than the regular rate.

Sincerely yours,

Dr. Ralph B. Seem

Memorandum to the President:

Concerning Rush Medical Budget.

Following our conference on the Rush Medical budget, I took up with Dr. Post:

1. The general condition of the budget

2. Your announced purpose to bring before the Committee on Instruction and Equipment a proposal for granting aid from medical funds for the improvement of instruction

3. The discrepancy of about $8000 that would still remain between income and estimated expense

4. The possibility of an increase in tuition with special reference to Dr. Post's reported statement that there might be some doubt as to whether the Trustees would approve.

Dr. Post wished to say that as regards (1) and (2), he heartily favors the policy of improving instruction and of using $25,000. of medical funds with the suggestion, however, that we proceed simultaneously to reorganize and develop the post-graduate work which would be a legitimate charge upon a certain measure of income from these funds.

With regard to (3) and (4), he made clear the reference to his reported statement. The circumstances were that someone, not a member of the Rush Faculty, had made the suggestion of an increase in tuition. Dr. Post remarked that the Board, before considering any such proposal would wish to have it made the subject of careful consideration by those most directly concerned and charged with responsibility; that if a recommendation should be agreed upon by the responsible faculty or body, he thought the Board would give it favorable consideration. I asked whether it would in his judgment be opportune for the Rush Medical Council to consider the matter with reference to some recommendation to go to the Committee on Instruction and Equipment, and then to the meeting of the Board next week. He thought that it would.

I then communicated with Dr. Irons, gave him the information above and he said he would call a meeting of his council for Monday next, including Dr. Billings in the group.

Dr. Irons stated further that he had been in consultation with the representatives of the Central Free Dispensary, and had, as he believed, found several important items duplicated in the expense accounts of the two bodies. He believed that an elimination of these items would reduce the discrepancy to an amount which might possibly approach $5000. This would, of course, reduce the $8000 to a much more manageable sum.

It will apparently be necessary to plan for a meeting of the Committee on Instruction and Equipment to consider a report from the Rush faculty, and also the appointment of Dean Bogert to the law faculty.

Sincerely yours,

James H. Tufts
