My dear Mr. Ryerson:-

I enclose herewith draft of a letter to ex-President Taft. Will you look it over and see if it follows the general lines you had in mind, and if so put it in the post?

I consulted with both Mr. Hall and Mr. Freund and found them quite willing to join in the invitation.

Yours very truly,

Acting Vice-President.

Chicago, August 7, 1914

My dear Mr. Ryerson:-

The enclosed letter from President Taft has just come to hand. I am a little disturbed that he makes no reference to his contemplated trip to Chicago, apart from the possibility of coming to the University. My letter, as you will perhaps recall, referred quite explicitly to this contingency as part of the reason for suggesting his addressing our students. I shall be glad to know, before replying to the letter, whether you have any further information concerning the status of the negotiations for his coming to speak before the business men.

I should think that a fee of $500 for the three lectures ought to be reasonably satisfactory, and it would be all that it seems to me we ought to offer unless some special resources are put at our disposal.

My dear President Angell:

I have your letter of August 13th, and thank you for writing. I shall be very glad to deliver a series of three lectures at your University during the week November 29th to December 5th. The lectures will probably be on "The Executive Power". I note that you say the honorarium will be $500.

This is entirely satisfactory.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Sir:-

We learn that there is some possibility of your coming to Chicago during the Autumn, and I write to inquire whether, under these circumstances, you might feel disposed to deliver a few lectures at the University of Chicago.

The University would consider itself highly honored by your presence, and the Departments of Law and of Political Science in particular desire to join in the extending of a cordial invitation to you. The honorarium available for services of this kind is of somewhat modest proportions, but should you feel inclined to come to the University it might be possible to adjust this part of the arrangements to your reasonable satisfaction.

Yours very respectfully,

Acting Vice-President.

My dear Sir:

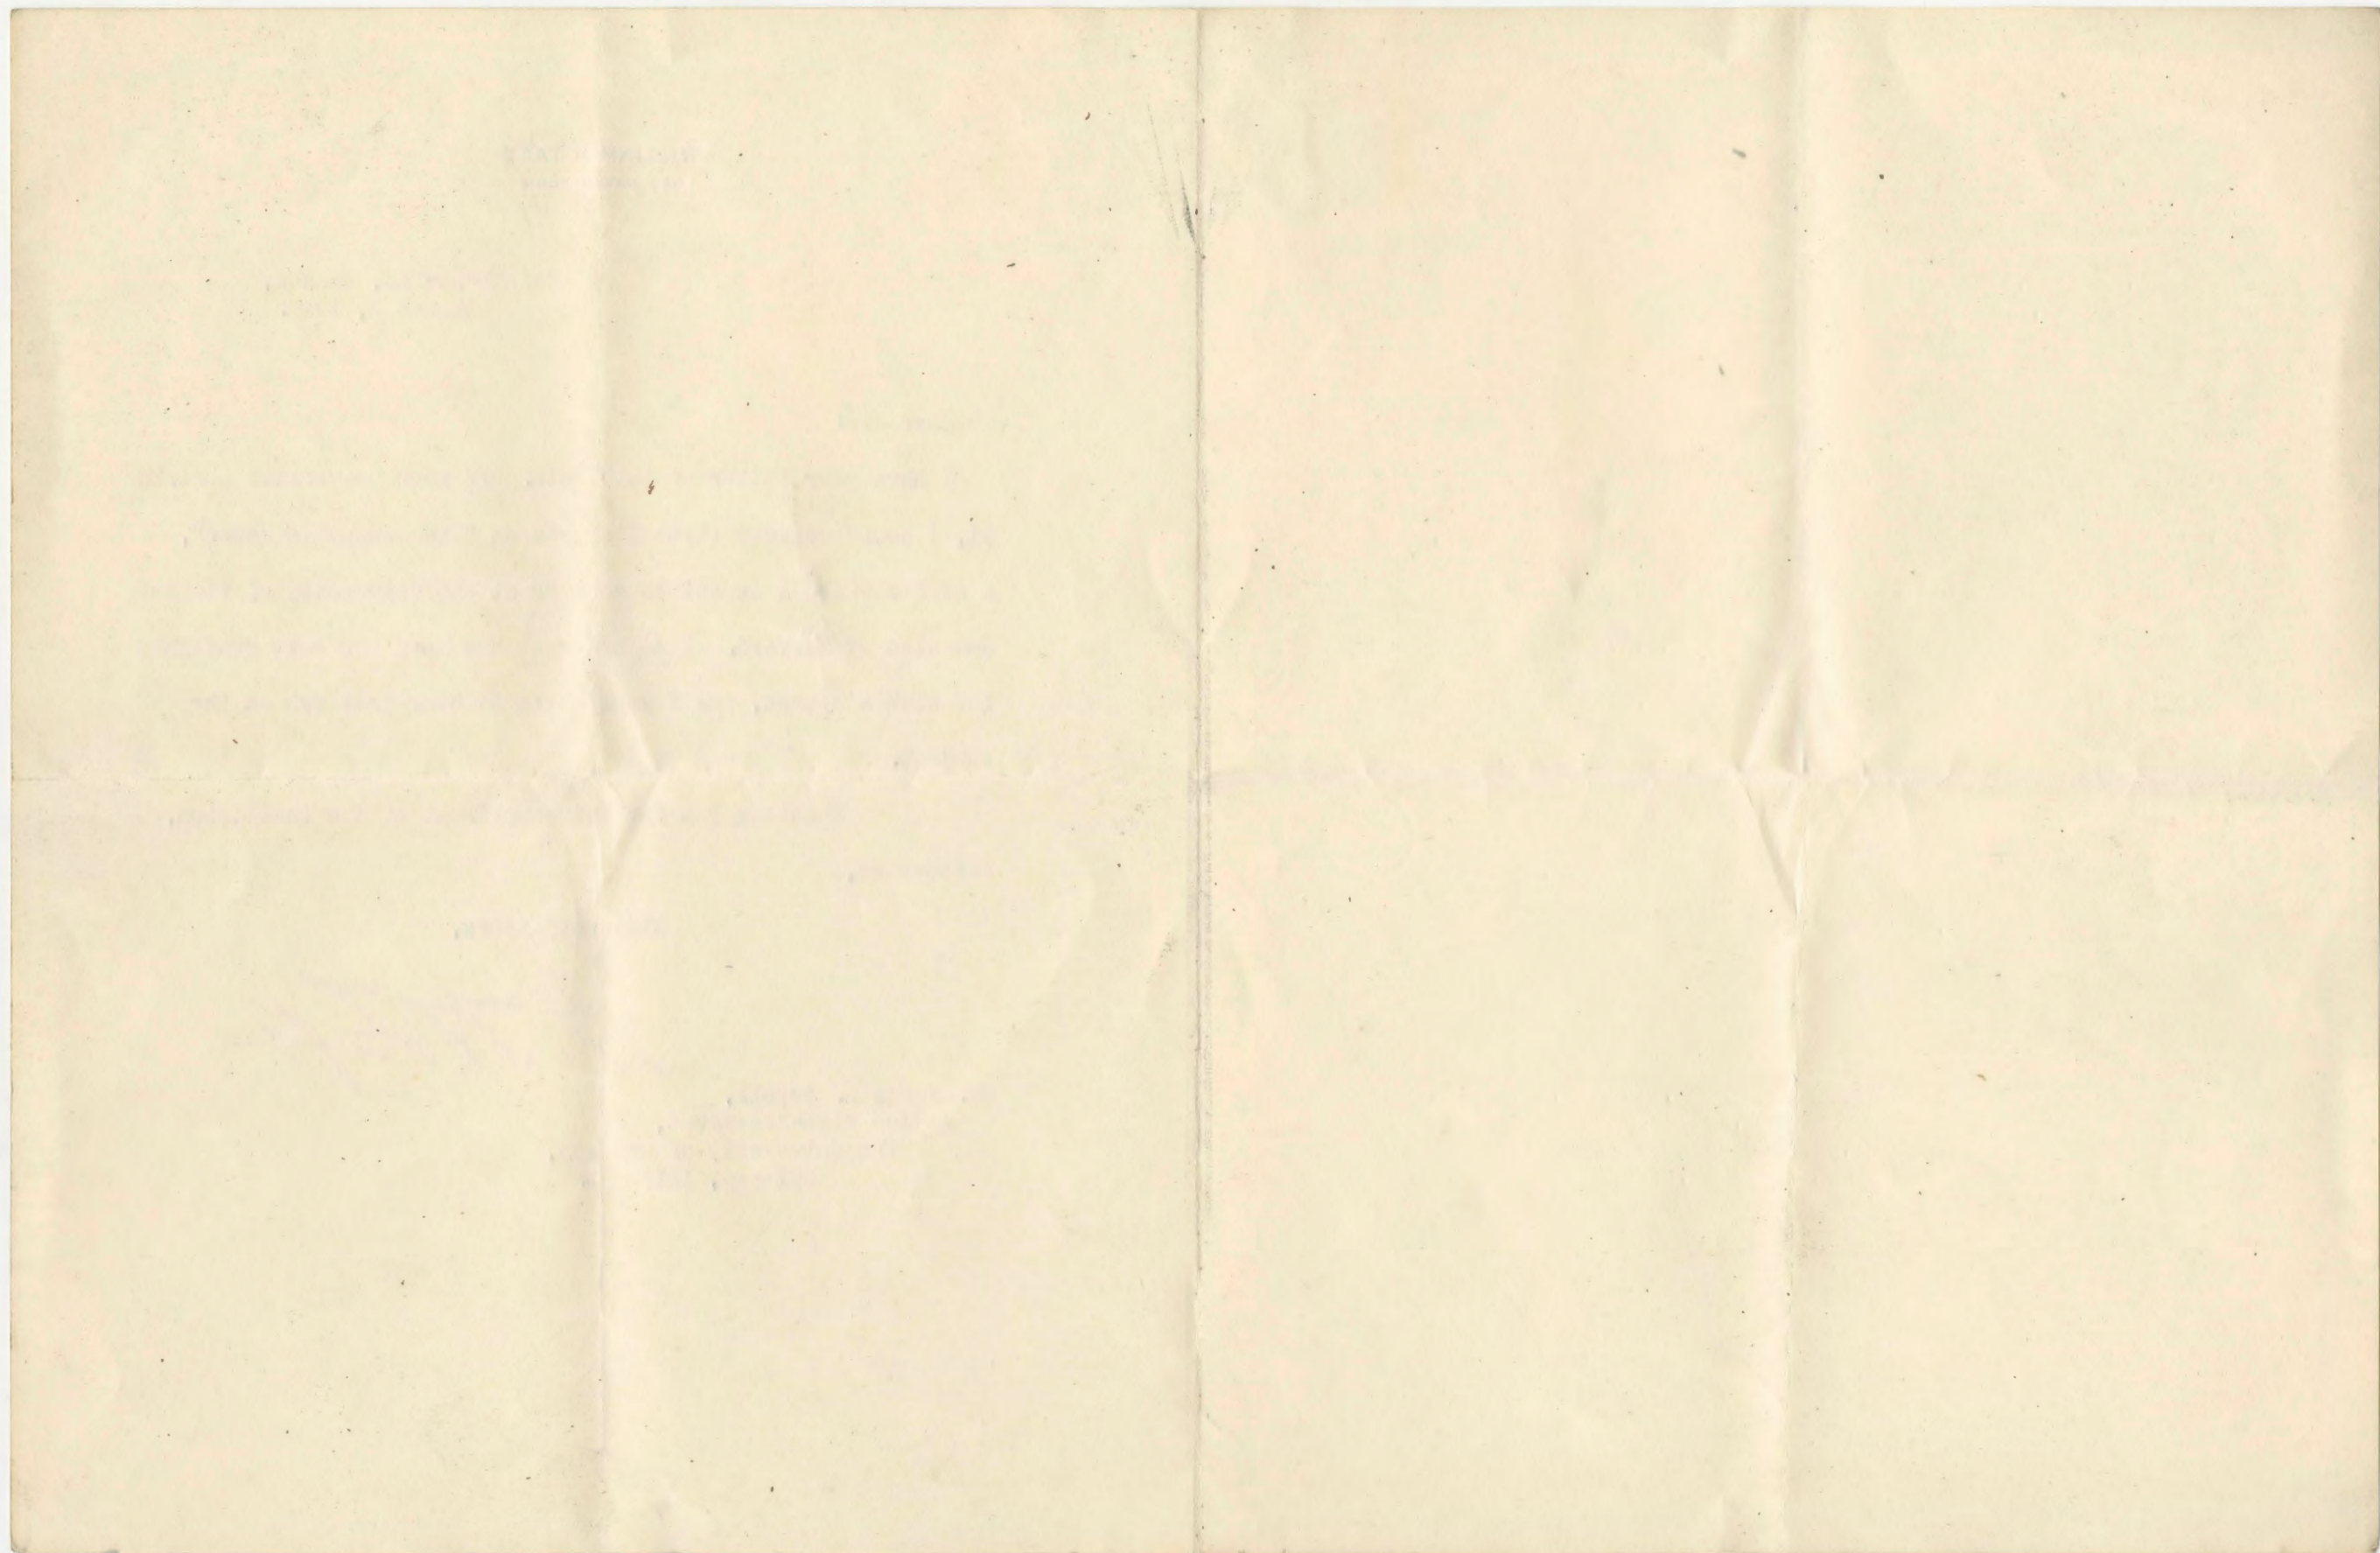

I have your letter of July 28th. If your University desires it, I could deliver three lectures on "The Executive Power", a series which I expect to deliver at the University of Virginia and also at Harvard. I do not know how much you have available for such a course, and I would like to hear from you on the subject.

Thanking you for the compliment of the invitation,
believe me,

Sincerely yours,

My dear President Judson:

Upon my return to Washington after a week's absence I find your telegram of May 13th. I regret it will not be possible for me to accept your kind invitation for June 10th, for the reasons which my secretary has already given you. My engagement to speak at Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, on June 10th is one of long standing, and I am pledged to be there on that date.

Sincerely yours,

President Harry Pratt Judson,
University of Chicago,

My dear Dr. Judson:

I agree with you in the importance of Austrian politics in the conditions that are likely to prevail after the war. They will have an important bearing on the middle Europe scheme of Germany. If we can beat Germany, however, I think we can reach a just result as to Austria.

With best wishes, I am,

Sincerely yours,

My dear Mr. Taft:

I beg to acknowledge your favor of the 6th inst. from Camp Travis, Texas. I hope that you are right, but it seems to me that I should turn it around somewhat. If we can reach a just result as to Austria it will go a long way toward winning the war against Germany.
