The University of Chicago Unit of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps

1. The Reserve Officers' Training Corps, as the name implies, ~~is~~ a practical and theoretical course in Military Science designed to train men without undue interference with civil life to be fit to serve as army officers in time of national need. It is arranged by the War Department of the United States and is given by United States army officers, under the auspices of the University of Chicago. Major Ola W. Bell, U. S. A. (West Point '94), detailed by the War Department, has been appointed by the Board of Trustees of the University of Chicago as Professor of Military Science and Tactics.

2. Uniforms, arms, and equipment are furnished by the Government.
3. Gymnasium credit is given for drill. Later announcements will be made of the amount of credit in terms of majors for the work described below (4).
4. A four-year course is offered, comprising:
 - a.) A Basic Course: First and second years.
 - b.) Advanced Course: Third and fourth years.

In the Basic Course about 60 per cent of the time is devoted to practical work; the remaining time is given to classroom and lecture work on the theoretical side of military art.

In the Advanced Course more time is given to the theoretical work. Those who take this course will get most of their practical work in training the more elementary students.

The practical work covers infantry drill, and includes work from the school of the soldier to that of the battalion and combat. Instruction is given in the care and use of the rifle; fire direction and control, and combat practice; first aid, camp sanitation, field work, intrenchments, and bridges.

The theoretical courses cover the theoretical side of troop management. In addition, courses will be given in field service, small arms firing, military history, army regulations, and minor tactics, the latter including map problems and maneuvers.

5. Students, alumni, and faculty members are eligible to enter the course.
6. Registration does not obligate a person to enlist in the army.
7. Those who satisfactorily complete the four-year course will be eligible to appointment as reserve officers.

HARRY PRATT JUDSON
President

The University of Chicago

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Office of the President

The attention of all undergraduate men is invited to the plans for instruction in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, now in process of organization under command of Major C. W. Bell, U. S. A., Professor of Military Science and Tactics. For the present quarter the main part of the work will be devoted to the beginning of infantry drill. Those who register for this in the spring quarter will have besides that, instruction in military science in the way of lectures. The purpose of the organization as planned by the Act of Congress of June, 1916, is to provide a course whereby young men in our colleges may be trained so as to be eligible for appointment as officers in the United States Army Reserve. A brief statement of the matter has been published, and will be at the service of any students who wish. It may be obtained at the Information Office or the office of the Professor of Military Science and Tactics. Arms, equipment, and uniforms will be provided for all members of the Corps. Names may be left on cards at the door when passing out.

Chicago, September 8, 1916

We are anxious to do what we can towards providing military training in the interest of national defense.

Dear Sir:-

I respectfully request the detail of

Lieutenant C. N. Sawyer, Thirtieth United States

Infantry, as instructor in Military Science and Tactics in the University of Chicago. The University will make a proper appropriation supplementary to the officer's salary and allowances in the United States Army. It would be desirable to have the detail dated from

October 1 next, the opening of our Autumn Quarter.

If that seems impracticable to the War Department,

it would answer our purposes to have the detail

dated from January 1, 1917.

The University has not had provision for military science since 1898 at which time Lieutenant

(now Major) J. M. Palmer was detailed here. While it is not expected that military drill will be required of all students, it is expected that a formal course somewhat on the Harvard plan will be adopted and it will be an adequate company that will take drill. During the past year one of our faculty has drilled a squad and a rifle club has been formed with a membership of about one hundred and fifty. We are anxious to do what we can towards providing military training in the interest of national defense.

My dear President Judson:

With reference to the detail of Lieut. C. N. Sawyer, 30th Infantry, I sent forward his application to the War Department urging approval but have just been informed he is not eligible for detached service until June, 1917. I am sorry.

There is a Major James B. Gowen who is, I think, eligible for detached service, a recent graduate of the Staff College and just appointed Major. He is a man of 41 or 42, has been up at Plattsburg and I believe would render good service.

Sincerely yours,

Leonard Wood

Dear General Wood:

Thanks for your favor of the 13th inst. I had received word from the War Department that Lieutenant Sawyer is unavailable. Thank you very much for your suggestion as to Major Gowen. I am taking up the matter this week with General Barry, in accordance with instructions received from the War Department recently, and shall hope in a short time to have our work organized.

With sincere regards, I am,

Very truly yours,
