Air—"Add Long Sync."

OUR college days have come and gone,
Like some bright, pleasant dream;
Past scenes and thoughts glide quickly on,—
Sweet men's joy—'twould seem.
Loved friends found here, with fostering care,
Will sadness oft dispel;
But now we meet, midst beauties rare,
To say our last farewell.

Four happy years fast flitting by,
Have changed us one and all;
With sorrow now, we break the tie,
To go at duty's call.

Long 'neath our Alma Mater's care,
We've toiled for pearls of thought;
We've aimed at Fame, that mark so fair,
Which off in vain is sought.

Farewell kind prex, and learned profs,
Adieu, loved friends, we part:
Good-bye, dear classmates each and all,
Tears now unbidden start.

But these, we boldly dash away,
Before us lies life's goal;
To those who win—be wreaths of bay,
The rest may heaven console.
